FIREMEN BUSY

Responded to 2 Alarms
Last Night

An alarm from box 28 at 8:15 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in the cellar of the building at 74 Tucker street owned by J. Martin. The fire was caused by some person carelessly throwing a lighted match into a pile of excelsior which was under the cellar stairs. The firemen were prompt in responding and succeeded in extinguishing the blaze before any damage was done. Acting Chief Norton notified the caretaker of the building to remove the excelsior, in order that there might not be a recurrence of the fire.

Japanese Lanterns Ablaze

Fortunately there were firemen stationed at the lawn party held on the grounds surrounding St. Louis church at the corner of West Sixth and Bolsovert streets last night for two of the Japanese lanterns which were used to illuminate the grounds caught fire and but for the prompt work of the firemen considerable damage might have resulted.

One lantern caught fire at 8:45 and the other at 9:30 o'clock but in both instances the firemen had the flames extinguished before they had time to spread.

CRITICAL CONDITION

THREE-YEAR-OLD CHILD WAS SEVERELY BURNED

Antoinette Desrochers, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ovide Desrochers of Beaulieu street was severely, and possibly fatally, burned yesterday morning by falling into a tub of boiling water. It seems that the mother of the little one was washing, and being called into another room by the cries of her infant baby, she for a moment left the tub on the floor of the kitchen. The young one was playing round the floor, and fell into the tub of boiling water. A physician was summoned and treatment administered.

Mrs. Edward McGann of Cosgrove street and Miss Margaret Lyons of Boston will spend the next three weeks as the guest of Rose McLarney, McLarney's square, Chelmsford, after which Miss Lyons will spend the remainder of the month of September at the White Mountains.

By A. O. H. Convention and the Ladies' Auxiliary
At Last Night's Session

LADIES' AUXILIARY, A. O. H.

New Officials

President—Mary A. Cavanaugh, Boston.

Vice-President—Mary A. O'Reilly, Ware.

Secretary—Susan McNamee, Somerville.

Treasurer—Ellen Murphy, Boston.

The delegates assembled at Mathew hall about 9:30 o'clock this morning and the greater part of the forenoon was taken up by addresses by the lady officers of the auxiliary and officers of the A. O. H. The mistress-at-arms and sentinel were elected and a reception was tendered Mrs. Katherine Burke, the retiring president.

The first business of the convention was the reading and acceptance of the minutes of the previous meeting by the secretary.

John H. Dillon, the newly elected president of the A. O. H., was introduced and addressed the ladies. He encouraged the ladies to spread the work of the auxiliary as much as possible and spoke of the loyalty of the Irish to the cause in this country. He also spoke of the part that the Irishmen had taken in the wars in which the United States had participated. He said that the Irishmen in this country who were loyal to their motherland were also loyal to this country.

Edward McCarthy, of Westfield, the retiring state treasurer of the A. O. H., congratulated the members of the auxiliary on the work which they had done and after offering good advice and words of encouragement said that he was retiring from office with the best wishes and success for the men and women of the A. O. H. and the auxiliary.

Brother John Crotty spoke on the insurance for the men and women. He asked the delegates to touch the subject of organizing committees to their respective auxiliaries when they returned to their homes and later communicate with him.

Last Night's Session

Mrs. Mary A. Cavanaugh, of East Boston, state secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H., was elected state president for the ensuing two years at a meeting of the delegates held early last night in Mathew hall in Dutton street. The other state officers were also elected. Several of the elections were well contested but harmony reigned throughout the battle of the ballots.

Mrs. Katherine O'Keefe O'Mahoney, of Lawrence, was Mrs. Cavanaugh's opponent and each candidate had his loyal supporters, but Mrs. Cavanaugh had a sympathetic vote on her side which assured her victory. At the last moment Mrs. O'Mahoney withdrew her name in favor of Mrs. Cavanaugh and the latter received a unanimous vote.

For the office of vice-president, Miss Mary A. O'Reilly of Ware was elected, winning out against Mrs. Martin Silk of Worcester county.

Mrs. Susan McNamee of Somerville was unanimously elected secretary, there being no other nominations. For treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Hennessy of Weymouth and Mrs. Ellen Murphy of South Boston were nominated. Mrs. Murphy received a majority of votes and was elected.

MEN'S CONVENTION

President—John H. Dillon, Boston.

Vice President—William I. McLaughlin, Worcester.

Secretary—Jeffrey E. Sullivan, Fall River. (Re-elected).

Treasurer—John J. O'Connor, Holyoke.

The closing session of the A. O. H. convention was held this morning with a large attendance of delegates though many left the city immediately after the election of officers last evening.

The election of the officers was formally announced this morning.

President-elect Dillon and State Treasurer John H. O'Connor then addressed the convention after which remarks were made by the other state officers, Prof. Hugh Malloy of the State Normal school, Rev. John J. McLaughlin, acting pastor of St. Patrick's church and Rev. James J. Chittick of Hyde Park, Norfolk county chaplain.

The following resolutions were read and adopted:

The Resolutions
The committee on resolutions made its report, which was accepted by the convention. It was in part as follows:

Resolved, That the convention urge the national officers to use every effort to effect a peace conference between the representatives of the various Irish societies, the aims and objects of which are distinctly racial and national. It is understood that we are opposed to the interference with the policies and principles of any organization. We favor leaving such societies to follow their own adopted policies and to follow in the field of Irish progress.

Resolved, That we endorse the recommendation of the state president relative to the affiliation of this order with the American Federation of Catholic societies and urge the state and division officers to take immediate action toward that end. We endorse the recommendation for the making of St. Patrick's day, March 17, a legal holiday in this state and urge the divisions and membership of the order to participate in the public celebration of the new legal holiday, Columbus day, Oct. 12.

Resolved, That a monument be erected in the cemetery at Cohasset to mark the last resting place of 39 Irish emigrants whose bodies were washed ashore from the wreck of the British brig St. John, which sailed from Galway, Ire., in 1849, and was wrecked off Cohasset Oct. 9 of that year.

State officers were instructed to investigate and report as in the monument plan and also to consider the advisability of recommending a 10 per cent. capita assessment for the purpose.

To Stop Emigration

The committee also presented resolutions as to finding employment for people in Ireland to stop emigration and to promote interest in the revival of the Gaelic language and literature. The thanks of the convention were voted to Dr. Douglas Hyde for his efforts in that direction. Other resolutions related to the teaching of Irish history in the schools and of loyalty to Ireland and home rule.

The convention voted its thanks to

POLICE COURT

Not Many Offenders in Today

In police court today, Bartholomew O'Neill was sent to the Lowell jail for a period of two months.

Bernard O'Neill pleaded not guilty of drunkenness, but when asked to give some account of himself all he could say was that he did not remember anything about the subject in question, and he was fined $2.

Eva Jolly, a young woman well dressed, was before the court upon a charge of drunkenness. She testified that she had not been drinking, and that she had just got off the Middlesex street car when the officer placed her under arrest. The court said he wanted all disturbances in the neighborhood of Middlesex Village stopped, and therefore he imposed a suspended sentence of one year in the women's prison at Sherborn, and placed her in care of the probation officer.

William T. Flannagan and Joseph G. Cavanaugh, the first named belonging in Roxbury and the latter in Dorchester, were before the court charged with evading car fare on the Boston & Northern St. Ry., and the cases were continued until tomorrow morning, when it is understood they or their folks will be able to adjust matters with the railroad company and the government.

Annie Duloe, for being a stubborn child, was sent to the Lyman school.

Two defendants in for non-support of their wives and children were placed on probation.

MARTIN CLOUDS OF SMOKE

Coming From Forest Fires Obscure the Sky

Dense clouds of smoke from the burning forests of Montana, Oregon and Washington are gradually working their way eastward. Since yesterday the sky has been obscured by smoke, dirt particles and moisture, and last evening the combination was so dark that it had the appearance of storm clouds. Today the murky conditions continued, the sun, unable to penetrate the haze, having the appearance of a copper ball.

Forecaster J. W. Smith of the United States weather bureau at Boston attributes the peculiar appearance of the copper atmosphere to the drought and moisture in the air. The drought is responsible for the spread of forest fires in the west and in consequence the easterly currents have carried smoke and dirt particles toward the Atlantic. The moisture in the atmosphere today reached 83 per cent.

THE HARVESTER

Driven by Geers Made a Mile in 2:03 Yesterday

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The grand circuit racing yesterday afternoon was interesting from a New England point of view, because it furnished some idea of what may be expected when the crack harness horses of the country get to Readville next week.

Geers, to sharpen his prize pupil, The Harvester, up for his effort against the watch over Boston's famous two-minute track sent the stallion king a mile in 2:03. This was in the second heat of the free-for-all trot and over a track which is fully a second slower than the best of the big line courses, with an additional handicap of a stiff breeze which swept the hillside oval with much force.

The Harvester was not out record hunting. It was just a nice workout with a place of it at a two-minute clip. To show the sort of trotter the son of Walnut Hall is right now, Geers moved him the third quarter, the slowest in the track and the one where the wind caught him fair in the face in 30 seconds.

Three candidates for first money, the $10,000 Massachusetts purse, at Readville appeared in the 2:13 trot and with the Indiana peacock, Ganar, they provided a contest that brought the crowd to its feet.

Halfway got away with the decision in two rounds, but he had to show that he was not far from a 2:05 trotter and one who likes the racing game.

Billy Burke and Maj. Strong let Ganar snatch second money, but the pony had a bit of luck, or Burke would have landed it and very likely have headed the summary. Benyon had the great 4-year-old in a pocket both heats and in the first had to pull him off his stride to keep from trotting over halfheartedly, when in the second he could not get out soon enough to use his terrific brush to advantage.

The first mile was in 2:08, which was counted a capital performance, but the second in 2:04, was a screamer with the four contending horses lapped.

Billy Burke had to be satisfied with a division of third and fourth money, but last night the Orange county admirers were around trying to place a lot of money that he wins at Readville next week.

Willy, the European stallion, had no difficulty in winning the second division of the qualifying contest in the wagon race for amateur drivers away from Direct Tote in slow time.

The Harvester and Jack Leyburn headed the first heat of the free-for-all in 2:08 1/2, with the chestnut gelding from Philadelphia some little distance back the next trip in 2:03, which is the fastest second heat ever trotted by a stallion. The summary:

TO KILL WOMAN

It is Alleged That a Compact Was Made

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 25.—A sensational claim, involving an alleged murder compact, was made in the superior court yesterday in explanation of why a promissory note was given. August Freidricks swore that the price he set for killing William Schmitt's wife was $500.

Schmitt sued Freidricks on a promissory note. As a result of the suit the defendant was arrested and was before the court on a motion to be released from arrest and to be discharged from bail.

Freidricks was charged with fraud in connection with the note. The advertisement in the suit was "Killed" after hearing considerable testimony, Judge Lee denied the motion.

Freidricks on the witness stand denied that he owed Schmitt anything. Judge Lee asked him why he gave the promissory note for $500 if such was the case. Freidricks replied he wanted Schmitt to have something to show. When pressed further for a reason he said that he had undertaken a contract to kill Schmitt's wife.

"Did you kill her?" asked Judge Lee.

"No, I didn't kill her," answered Freidricks.

SLANDER CHARGED

Mayor of Lewiston Named as One of Defendants

LEWISTON, Me., Aug. 25.—George S. McCarty, the republican candidate for county attorney of Androscoggin county, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a suit brought by County Treasurer Frank A. Millett, the democratic candidate for re-election, alleging slander and claiming damages in the sum of $5000.

A suit for the same amount was also brought by Mr. Millett against Mayor Irving L. Merrill of Auburn, republican candidate for sheriff, also charging slander. Mr. Merrill's property was attached, but no arrest was made.

The first suit is based on charges made by Mr. McCarty in a speech at Lewiston Falls Tuesday evening, in which it is claimed he charged that Treasurer Millett had altered his records by adding a number "606" to the entry of the payment of $50 by Sheriff Hastings on July 8, 1908, or account of a fine in a liquor case.

The republicans have charged that although the fine in this case was $105.30, the treasurer's records only showed that $55.30 had been paid on account of it, and that on Oct. 7, 1908, Mr. Millett wrote a letter to the press, stating that the whole amount had been paid to him and invited anyone interested to call at his office and see for himself.

Mr. McCarty accepted the invitation

"Then why did you take the money?" inquired Judge Lee.

"Well, I was thinking over the proposition of killing her," nonchalantly replied the witness.

Judge Lee does not remember when he has heard such a tale before. This one, he says, was the climax.

In addition to the $500 on the promissory note, the defendant testified that he had received $112 from the plaintiff, which he claimed was used in stocking his store with hardware supplies. He later stated on the stand that the latter sum was also a part of that specified for the killing of the plaintiff's wife.

No testimony was introduced to show why the plaintiff wanted to have his wife killed. But the defendant, Freidricks, insisted that that was the reason he had received the money and that he did not owe the plaintiff anything.

It is said that Freidricks' statement was considered preposterous. The difficulty lies in the fact that it was an oral agreement and proceedings for paying would be difficult of sustenance. The matter is being held for consideration and proceedings may be established in a few days.

THREE STATES

Are Having Very Interesting Campaigns

In California, Tennessee and Georgia the voters have most interesting campaign fights scheduled for this fall, and the eyes of many people will be turned on the battles. In Georgia the democrats have named a former governor and one time secretary of the interior, Hoke Smith. While he was governor he dismissed Joseph M. Brown from the railroad commission on the ground that Brown was dominated by railroad interests, and when

Mr. Smith sought another term he was defeated by Brown. This time both were again candidates and Smith "came back" by defeating Brown. In California the democrats have nominated Theodore A. Bell, former representative in congress, to oppose Hiram Johnson, an avowed insurgent candidate of the republicans and in Tennessee the fight is made interesting by the candidacy of Captain Ben W. Hooper, who is opposed by almost everything that Governor Patterson has advocated during his incumbency. Independent state wide prohibition democrats who have fought Governor Patterson are expected to support the ticket headed by Captain Hooper instead of the regular democratic nominees.

BUCKLAND-HARKINS

BIG MARATHON

AT CANOBIE LAKE PARK FRIDAY EVENING

The first marathon to be run on a track in this section, that is of the full distance of 26 miles and 385 yards, will be the one that will be run off at Canobie Lake park next Friday evening, when some of the high class professionals will positively compete. The race is scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock and there will be music during the race; arc lights will flash out plenty of light, so that all can catch glimpses of the runners as they flash by. Extra cars will be run from all points before and after the race.

Most of the runners are well known in Lowell as their past performances entitle them to a great deal of credit and consideration at the hands of the public. The sketches of the men follow:

Al Raines, considered the most stylish runner of them all. Has many marathons to his credit; among them the invitation race held at Brooklyn, N. Y., last year.

Bill Prouty has been known best as Pat Dineen's running mate in all his big team races. A most consistent plunger and good money getter.

J. Lorden, remembered by his great victory over John Caffery at Boston 1908, when the latter was in his prime. Harry Prime, a sterling runner of note, and one who is likely to surprise the field.

Ernest Berrio, the diminutive French Canadian of whom not much is known as a marathon runner. Has shown good quality as a middle distance runner.

Matt Maloney, whose greatest claim to championship honor was when he ran from Rye into New York city, supposed to be full distance, in 2 hours 36 minutes. He has victories over Crowley and other good men as an amateur and has done fair work as a professional.

Bill Davis, a full-blooded Indian descended from one of the noblest tribes of red men. Mr. Davis is one of the most intelligent of his race, but has characteristics peculiar to Indians. He is the man who first brought out Tom Longboat, and is first remembered by New Englanders when he forced John Caffery to make a new record over the 1000 yard course to beat him. His victories number hundreds and his last appearance here was when he won the marathon at Revere beach in July of last year.

Ted Crooks gained first prominence as a marathoner when he finished third in the great $10,000 derby at New York. Mr. Crooks showed wonderful gameness in this race; not being considered as a prize winner he stuck doggedly to his task, and though the 30,000 people expected to see him drop out every instant, the stocky former short distance champion stuck to finish and received a large slice of the big money. His last appearance was at Rocky Point, N. Y., July 22, when he won the big marathon there on Sunday afternoon.

John Swanberg was amateur marathon champion of Europe for three years. He finished second in the Olympic marathon at Athens in 1906, and third at London in 1908. His first professional marathon was the $10,000 derby at New York in 1909, when he finished second. Since then he has won every marathon he has competed in.

Fat Dineen, considered the world's most consistent performer. He has run more races than any other man now appearing before the public. He was a champion six day runner. Last year with Prouty as his team mate in Madison square garden he made a new world's record for the first 12 hours of a 6 day race. As a marathon runner he has victories over Dorando, Hayes, Lee Morrissey, Crowley and others. He is best remembered in this district by finishing second to the renowned Havis Holmer at Lowell last labor day.

Umberto Biasi, an Italian runner of note competing with great success throughout the country, on the strength of his beating the great Dorando in the presence of the king and queen of Italy at Rome last year.

F. Panzeri, another Italian, who is little less known than his running mate, Biasi. He has never failed to finish inside the money.

COLUMBUS DAY

Great Celebration to be Held in Boston

For the first time in the history of the state of Massachusetts, Oct. 12, 1910, will be observed as a legal holiday because after several years of agitation by the leading members of the Knights of Columbus and other prominent citizens the legislature passed a resolve setting forth that the 12th day of October shall be observed as a legal holiday, and shall be known as Columbus day. This being the case, Archbishop O'Connell urged the Catholic societies of Boston and the immediate vicinity to make this Columbus day a memorable one, by having a great parade, with the result that the members of the Knights of Columbus, the A. O.

H. the Catholic Order of Foresters, the Holy Name society, and other Catholic organizations took the matter up, and the indications are that Boston on the 12th of October will witness one of the greatest parades and Catholic demonstrations ever witnessed in that city.

The program includes a pontifical mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross in the morning and the monster parade which it is expected will start about noon. Participating in this big public demonstration will be the Knights of Columbus, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters, the various Italian organizations, the French, German, Polish and Portuguese Catholic societies, together with the temperance societies and a very large turnout from the Holy Name society.

The parade is to be in no sense a civic one, as many of the organizations taking part are uniformed and the various councils of the Knights of Columbus are developing special features to be introduced, including a large number of floats depicting various incidents in the life of Columbus and epochs in the history of America. United States Senators Lodge and Crane have also assumed the committee that there will be several warships here for the celebration and that the men from these vessels, together with those from forts in the harbor, will march. It is also quite probable that several of the militia regiments will participate.

One of the most unique features of the celebration is a beautiful souvenir medal that has been designed to commemorate the event. This medal is of oxidized metal, one inch in diameter and is suspended from a red, white and blue ribbon. It is to be ready for distribution Sept. 1.

On the obverse of the medal a relief of Columbus planting the cross at San Salvador, surrounded by the members of his crew, while his caravels are to be seen in the distance. On the reverse side is the seal of Massachusetts, with the inscription "Columbus Day, Boston, Massachusetts, Oct. 12, 1910." The medal was designed by District Deputy J. Philip O'Connell of West Roxbury and authorized by the executive committee as the official medal of the day and to be worn by all participants in the parade.

J. Philip O'Connell is the chairman of the committee which has charge of the distribution of these medals. It is the aim of the committee to have them reach all sections of the state and that they be distributed particularly among the school children.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Roidey, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The law that forbids suicide should be applied to prevent the double parachute jump.

The opposition to the Lee statue and to the playing of Dixie should be regarded as a sort of hysteria indulged by very nervous people with little or no justification. It does no harm to let the people of the south show a proper respect for their heroes and for their provincial airs.

Some young man can do a whole lot of good and incidentally get himself elected to the legislature by taking up the movement for the proper regulation of the sale of firearms. A law for that purpose would lessen the number of murders and suicides.

THE HIBERNIAN PARADE

The state parade of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held in this city yesterday was in every respect a creditable demonstration of the strength and character of the order.

The parade was undoubtedly one of the largest and best ever seen on the streets of Lowell. It demonstrated in a striking manner what a vast amount of good the Ancient Order of Hibernians is capable of doing for any cause to which its efforts are directed. The arrangements for the parade like the business of the convention were carried out with a spirit of harmony that was highly gratifying to all concerned.

The delegates came here to do business, and they transacted their business in a manner that would do credit to any organization in existence. The order throughout the state is to be congratulated upon the success of yesterday's demonstration.

TO BRING THE PEOPLE TO THE PARKS

In the supervision of our public playgrounds of which we have had a good illustration on the North and South commons this year, the people of Lowell have had an object lesson in the possibility of making our parks far more beneficial to the whole people.

We want parks so interesting that the multitudes will go there. We have started this summer to make this condition a permanent reality.

We have not yet succeeded in attracting the attention of all the people, but if we continue on the same lines as we have started, we shall eventually succeed. It takes considerable time to get the whole people educated to a new idea or a new habit. By repetition alone can this be done and therefore it is the best policy to keep on increasing the utilities of our public parks until all the people get the habit of going there daily for amusement and recreation.

How is this to be done? Simply by providing something in our public parks to benefit, interest and amuse every class of people in our city. We must have attractions for the children. It is not from any mere fad or to satisfy curiosity that metropolitan cities establish zoos. That is done to draw the people to the parks. Such attractions appeal to people of all ages, but especially to children.

The public playground is maintained for a like purpose, although it has the additional advantage of affording a means of healthy exercise and physical development.

For the benefit of mothers and children there should be a shelter to which they can repair for shade or protection from rain. Such shelters are a necessity and in well equipped park systems the shelter has public sanitaries so arranged as to be convenient without any of the objectionable features too often found in connection with such utilities in the past. In addition we find in many of the shelters so provided in public parks a system of shower baths available to the people during the summer season. All these developments of the park system may come gradually, but it is well to look forward to them as realities of the future.

The public swimming pool is another of the requisites to a complete system of public parks. That, too, will soon be available here in Lowell. We shall have one in the new Shedd park and playground and we must have more of them. In fine everyone of our public parks is capable of development for the public benefit far beyond anything here attempted thus far.

The city of Lowell may well begin to assume a leading position in regard to her park system since receiving from Mr. Shedd the magnificent gift of natural park land worth $50,000. We shall have to undertake the responsibility of making that park more beneficial to the public than it would be in its present state. It is capable of vast development with slight expense. It is rich in Nature's wealth of sylvan splendors, the beauty of gently sweeping hill and dale, with brook and meadow, field and glade. Parts of it can be easily flooded and turned into an ice field in the winter and thus afford a place on which the young people can skate without the risk of being drowned. Mr. Shedd is so deeply interested in the development of this park, that if it is taken up in the right spirit by the city, he may do even more than he has yet intimated.

That park should not be left solely for the enjoyment of future generations. Let some of its great possibilities be made available to the people of the present day. That, we are sure, is Mr. Shedd's desire and it is but reasonable and right.

In appealing for a system that will make our parks more attractive and cause them to be visited by ten times as many people as at present, we do not suggest any great expenditure, or any radical departure from the present policy. We simply call attention to a fact that is not generally realized, to wit, that a few additional attractions in the line of public utilities, not necessarily very expensive, would draw the people out in the mass to enjoy the fresh air, the recreation and healthful exercise so much needed by vast numbers of our people. To accomplish this at moderate expense and at the earliest possible moment should be the aim of our park commission.

LOSS IS $100,000

Box Shop at Basin Mills, Me., Burned

ORONO, Me., Aug. 25.—After having been in operation 60 years or more, the saw and box factory of James Walker & Co. at Basin Mills, a part of this town, were totally destroyed by fire late yesterday. The loss is estimated at $100,000 and it is fairly well covered by insurance.

The mill, which probably was the largest of its kind in the state, was deserted except by the watchman. When the fire broke out about 3.30 o'clock, most of the 250 employees and their families were in Bangor at the annual eastern Maine fair. It had been closed for the day that they might go.

Just how the blaze started never will be known as the entire plant was burned to the ground. The watchman cannot explain. It says he passed through the mill less than three minutes before the flames were discovered and everything appeared as usual.

There were practically no means of fighting the fire, although the Bangor fire department sent an engine and company as a protection to surrounding property and the flames simply consumed the buildings, which were of wooden construction.

AT CANOBIE LAKE

Manager J. W. Gorman has again outdone himself in the vaudeville show that he has provided for the theatre at Canobie lake the present week. The show is a very well balanced one and runs from start to finish with a snap and clinger that caused rounds of applause from the audiences that comfortably filled the theatre at both performances yesterday.

McNish and McNish appear to lead in the fun-making with an original original Frank J. McNish appears to advantage. Life is to be remembered for his recently acquired fame with "Silence and Fun." Hearn and Utter show a decidedly new and novel variety of dances of the wooden shoe variety and also grotesque soft shoe dancing. Leo and Chapman, comedy novelty entertainers, were very amusing in their fun on the horizontal bar.

Mr. Lee's donkey antics being especially funny. The act presented by Berry and Berry was received very favorably and was full of bright comedy situations and some clever songs. Darnody, a wonderful juggler, caused many expressions of amazement at the ease with which he manipulated fireballs.

The show all through is a decidedly good one and should attract large crowds to this sylvan retreat. The attendance at Canobie Lake Park has been exceptionally large all this summer.

WASHING THE HAIR

There Is a Right as Well as a Wrong Way to Do It.

The important thing to observe in washing the hair is to avoid using a soap or shampoo containing an excess of alkali. You must have some knowledge of chemistry before you can tell the difference between good soap and harmful soap. The safest plan is to clean your hair and scalp with Birt's Head Wash, which is broadly guaranteed to be neutral and to have no free alkali in it. Moreover, it is mildly medicated with glycerine, salicylic acid, white of eggs and coconut oil. Every one of these things are helpful to the scalp and hair, and by using Birt's Head Wash frequently, the loss of hair is stopped, dandruff disappears and itching ceases. All dirt, dust and disease germs are cleared away, the pores leading to the hair roots are opened up and renewed life and vigor given to the hair. Try Birt's Head Wash and experience the supreme delight of a perfectly clean scalp.

You have heard of this brand of flour before, but the question is, have you tried it? If you have not, you should, for those of our customers who have given it a trial claim that it is superior to other brands which they had been buying at a price much higher than the price we are asking for this particular brand. This flour is blended and milled by a process which lends to it a flavor that cannot be found in other flours. # REPORTED DROWNED

Police Await Body of Schultz Who Was Out On Bail

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—All day yesterday the police and Dist. Atty. Pelletier's assistants looked for arrival of the body of Oscar Schultz, of 98 Hemmaway street, Back Bay, who, it was reported, was drowned in Rangely lake, Maine.

Schultz with others was arrested in June charged with stealing from the Walworth manufacturing company. Schultz was released on $3500 bonds furnished by his mother, who lives at 64 Lexington street, West Everett, and by a Boston attorney. His case has not yet been called for trial.

One other prisoner in the case, Edward L. Strong, was released on bail in a small amount, and when his case was called in the lower court he was defaulted. There are now indictments against Strong in twenty counts of larceny and of receiving stolen property. Schultz was reported to be in the habit of carrying several hundred dollars in his pockets.

When the case of Schultz was continued he left Boston for the Rangelys on a vacation. A report reached this city Aug. 13 that Schultz had been drowned by the overturning of a boat on the lake. The police and the district attorney's office did not seek to verify Schultz's death. Nothing official was heard from his bondsmen and the matter was permitted to rest.

Some days later another report that Schultz was drowned while out in a launch with a New Jersey life saver and his wife reached this city.

A private detective named Sherman, who happened to be near Rangely lake on a vacation trip, made an investigation. He found that Schultz had been visiting in the vicinity, but he was unable to ascertain anything tangible concerning his being drowned.

Subsequently a man called on the authorities and offered for $500 to lead detectives to the place where he said Schultz is alive and well and living comfortably. A bulletin was posted in the vicinity of Rangely lake announcing a reward of $50 for the recovery of the body of Schultz. The bulletin was unsigned.

The fact that the Maine authorities did not investigate the reported drowning of Schultz appeared significant to the Boston police.

Mrs. Schultz was in Boston at the time it was reported her husband had been drowned.

It is not the business of the police here to interest themselves in the report of the death of Schultz, as he was permitted while on bail to go where he pleased until required to be present in court for arraignment and trial.

Yesterday a report reached this city that the body of Schultz had been recovered and was being brought to the home of his mother at 64 Lexington street, Everett.

Atty. J. M. Levenson, counsel for Schultz, said last evening that the body of Schultz had been recovered at the Mingo Spring lake house at Rangely and that it will be brought to Everett for burial. He said Mrs. Schultz left Boston last night for Rangely to take charge of the body.

When the body arrives it is expected Dist. Atty. Pelletier will ask Inspectors Rooney and McCauley, the arresting officers in the case, to view the remains and certify that the body is that of Schultz.

change in political control in Maine would surprise democrats who know conditions as much as it would republicans. The situation, however, is one that will call forth the most active campaign that the Pine Tree state has seen for many years, and a fine line of spellbinders is on the card. Among the names are those of Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Borah of Idaho, and Representative McCall, Ex-President Roosevelt is being urged to come, but he has not yet consented. The democrats also have many good speakers engaged.

SO WIFE CUT OFF HER HUSBAND'S EAR
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Because her husband talked too much, as she put it, Mrs. Martin Coon sliced off his right ear yesterday with a razor.
"Yes, I cut off his ear and I'm glad of it," said the woman, when arrested.
"He talked too much and that annoyed me."
Coon, who is a marine engineer, was taken to a hospital, weak from loss of blood. His wife was held in $4500 bail. She is 37 years old.

Enough Dead For Nineteen Gettysburgs

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

WE are the bloodiest, the most careless nation on earth. No other country is so prodigal of human life, so seemingly indifferent to fatal and disabling accidents in its mines, factories and railroads. The authenticated figures showing the number of maimed and killed every year in America in times of profound peace are appalling. Yet we go on in our indifferent, careless manner, not realizing or caring or indeed knowing that our country is drenched with blood from more than 500,000 accidents, most of which are preventable by ordinary care.

Thus speaks one of the most eminent sociologists in America, Dr. Josiah Strong, head of the American Institute of Social Service. He is right in so far as his figures are concerned.

To the shame of America be it recorded, no other nation approaches our evil pre-eminence in the matter of bloodshed in time of peace. Everywhere else in civilized countries human life and safety are held higher in value than the products of man's hands and ingenuity. The use of safety devices is made compulsory in Europe, while here the individual employer may elect whether or not he will conserve the lives of his workmen and women. Germany is far in the lead in such matters, as in many others of industrial concern. By a system of compulsory insurance of workmen and the raising of the premium to be paid by the negligent employer Germany's laws provide for the adoption of safety appliances as soon as their utility and practicability are demonstrated. No where in Germany and possibly nowhere in Europe may be heard so heartless and economically unjustifiable a statement as that recently attributed to an American manufacturer who was asked to install a safety device on a punch. He said, "IT IS CHEAPER TO GET A NEW GIRL, IF ONE GETS HURT THAN IT IS TO PUT SAFETY DEVICES ON THE PUNCHES." Only when it was demonstrated to him that the new device would increase the output of his machines did he consent to its installation.

Yet signs are not wanting to indicate that the American manufacturer is abandoning this attitude and is listening to the preachments of the sociologists and philanthropists. One of the biggest of American steel companies is taking the lead in this matter and is using safety devices in its plants wherever practicable. "I could not sleep nights," said the president of this concern very recently, "if I thought that something to insure the safety of our men was left undone."

Coming International Conference.

As an illustration of the awakening of American manufacturers to a realization of the possibility of preventing a large percentage of our industrial accidents this statement is illuminating. This country will be represented at the coming international conference on social insurance to be held at The Hague Sept. 8 to 13, at which the subject of preventable deaths and injuries will be discussed. The American delegates to the conference will be Dr. William H. Tolman, director of the Museum of Safety and Sanitation of New York, one of the most eminent of our "social engineers," George Glinour, the representative of the Association for Industrial Insurance and Betterment, and others. A commission representing the National Association of Manufacturers is now in Europe studying the question of accident prevention and industrial indemnity insurance. Its members will spend several months abroad in an exhaustive study of these subjects.

The appalling magnitude of the sacrifice of human life and limb laid on the altar of American industrialism was illustrated at the recent convention of the manufacturers' association in New York, when it was asserted that in the past year preventable accidents killed or injured 600,000 workmen in the United States, entailing an incalculable amount of misery on their dependent families and causing a loss of at least $250,000,000 to the employers. In writing on this subject Dr. Strong, quoted above, said:

"We are paying a price for our high pressure civilization which is simply appalling, and the cost in life and limb is rapidly increasing from year to year. The number of accidental and violent deaths in the United States in 1900 was 57,813. In 1907 the latest statistics of the number of such deaths in the governmental registration area, containing 48.8 per cent of the population, were 52,548. At this rate there were in the whole United States 107,680 accidental and violent deaths in 1907, an increase of 50,000 in seven years. While the population increased 12 per cent, the number of accidental and violent deaths increased 87 per cent.

Nineteen Gettysburgs a Year.

"So far as the number of violent deaths is concerned, the 'horrors of war' are insignificant when compared with the HORRORS OF PEACE. In these times of undisturbed peace we kill men, women and children enough in a single year to furnish nineteen fields of Gettysburg with corpses. Gettysburg was fought but once. Wars come to an end; their horrors cease. But the horrors of peace are as endless as the procession of years, each of which demands an increased toll of victims."

It is a relief to turn from this gloomy picture to that of the employers of workmen awakening to the necessity of reducing the awful waste of life and limb. To letters to employers sent out recently by the Manufacturers' association more than 10,000 replies were received, and only three protested against taking up such subjects as accident prevention and employers' liability. More than 99 per cent of the members of the association favored the adoption of a progressive policy in dealing with such subjects.

An Insult to Our Intelligence.

One of the country's leading jewelry merchants, a man actively engaged in manufacture, said:

"The movement is bound to develop into the most important ever started in the industrial world. The fact that half a million workmen are injured annually in this country is an insult to our intelligence. Accidents will never be entirely eliminated, of course, but the use of safety devices will reduce the number at least 50 per cent. The action of the association will attract attention to the facts, and inventors will be stimulated to originate and apply devices for the protection of life and limb."

In the Museum of Safety and Sanitation, housed in the United Engineering Societies' building, in West Thirty-ninth street, New York, this country has its only clearing house of ideas and devices intended to safeguard the lives of workers. Dr. Tolman, the director of the museum, has been working on these lines for ten years. The museum is supported by contributions of manufacturers and others who are interested in the prevention of accidents. It is planning the erection of an $800,000 building wherein the poor inventor may have the use of laboratories for the successful development of his ideas.

OHIO'S CAMPAIGN OF NATIONAL INTEREST

OF COURSE other states will elect governors this fall. Again, of course, every loyal son of every commonwealth will find out first on the evening of Nov. 8 who is elected in his own state. Then in all likelihood, if he is interested at all in politics, he will want to find out how things went in Ohio.

Why in Ohio? Natural question; easy answer. Because Ohio is President Taft's state and because, for numerous and various reasons, it is considered a pivotal state. Two years ago Ohio gave President Taft a plurality of 69-691, at the same time electing Judson Harmon, Democrat, governor by 19,372. This year Harmon is running again for governor. His opponent, Warren G. Harding, has Mr. Taft's approval.

The crux of the Ohio situation is this: If Harmon is re-elected governor he will be in the strongest possible position to demand a hearing before the Democratic national convention in 1912.

At the present writing there seems to be only one thing to militate against a favorable hearing of his claims, which are based on prominence and long service for his party—that is, his age. Governor Harmon will be sixty-six years old in 1912. His robust health and splendid mental activity are relied upon to offset this objection to his possible candidacy for the presidency. Of all the presidents William Henry Harrison was the only one who was older at the time of his inauguration than Mr. Harmon will be in 1913 and then by only one year. Mr. Harrison was sixty-eight when he was inaugurated. He occupied the White House only one month.

Mr. Harmon's name has been known to the people of the United States since 1895, when he was selected by President Cleveland for the post of attorney general. Before that time Ohio recognized him as one of the leading attorneys of Cincinnati and as an occupant of the state bench. The curious interrelations of the public careers of Judson Harmon and William H. Taft, who may be rival candidates for the presidency in 1912, have been the subject of frequent comment. As one writer put it recently: "Always Harmon has followed Taft or Taft has followed Harmon." Harmon resigned as judge in Ohio, and Taft took his place. Taft resigned as judge, and Harmon took his place.

It may be noted here that the two men have a very high personal regard for each other and have spoken in each other's praise before public assemblies, though not, of course, in praise of each other's politics. Mr. Harmon was a Republican in early life, but left the party in 1872. Since that time he has been known as a conservative Democrat, a great lawyer and a good fighter. He is the son of a Baptist minister, a graduate of Denison university and of the Cincinnati law school. The recent Democratic convention at Dayton presented his name for the presidency in 1912 and endorsed his candidacy.

In Ohio, as elsewhere, experience in politics counts for much in the hunt for office. In that respect Warren G. Harding, the Republican candidate for the governor's chair, is almost as well equipped as his Democratic antagonist despite the disparity in years. While Governor Harmon may be said without disparagement to be on the down grade of the years, Mr. Harding is still on the sunny side of the ascent. For the greater part of his forty-five years he has been a politician, always seeking the bubble reputation—not in the campaign's mouth, but in the public eye. His road to politics led through the editorial ramp. Soon after leaving college Mr. Harding decided that journalism was the profession for him. He accordingly took over the Marion Star, a rundown proposition, and made it one of the best paying properties of its size in the state. Largely by his editorial writings he became known to the Ohio public outside of Marion.

Mr. Harding is known throughout the state for the facility with which he uses a language, both orally and in print. As a campaigner Ohio has not had many men superior to him, and that is saying a great deal when one considers how large a crop of politicians is raised between Lake Erie and the Ohio river each year. He has been a state senator and lieutenant governor.

UNCLE SAM WILL HELP US ALL TO SAVE

THRIFT, thrift, thrift," the latest word of advice from Uncle Sam-Hamlet to his nieces and nephews. The old gentleman has become cautious and conservative in his age, and he is urging us all to save money. To make it easy to be saving he is going to establish the postal savings banks authorized by the recent session of congress.

The government is greatly in earnest in its latest project—so much so, in fact, that it will spend $100,000 to put the plan into operation.

Both the advocates and the opponents of postal savings banks are awaiting with interest the working out of the plan. Theoretically, of course, there can be no doubt that the advocates of the banks have had the better of the argument since after a quarter of a century of talk they have been able to persuade congress and the president of the virtues of their idea.

The withdrawal of the people's savings from the usual depositories and their deposit with the government will upset the investment situation very badly, especially in the west, say the opponents of the banks. They speak with the authority of position, since it is on record that the American Bankers' association, one of the biggest and most influential bodies in America, is opposed to the plan. To those who think they smell the trappings of self interest in this argument it may be well to say that the bankers profess to speak with all disinterestedness. They declare that the postal savings banks will not upset the financial apple cart in the east, but that the west will suffer badly.

Another objection to the postal savings banks is that of the Englishman who said that the banks would prove impracticable in this country if conducted on the plan of the British banks on account of our vast distances and the impossibility of sending the millions of bank books to national headquarters for verification, as is done in England.

The purpose of the act is threefold. In the first place, it seeks to inculcate habits of thrift among the populace. In the second place, it seeks to provide a place for the safe keeping of the people's savings under government guarantee and supervision. In the third place, the practice of the sending abroad of the savings of unassimilated foreigners among us is to be discouraged. Too many of these folk have been victimized by irresponsible, carelessly supervised "bankers" in our larger cities. It is believed that the institution of governmental savings banks will bring forth their holdings and retain them in this country instead of sending them abroad to augment foreign prosperity through the exploitation of our natural resources. It will aid also in the Americanization of the immigrant.

According to the provisions of the new law, any person more than ten years of age may have one account. A married woman may deposit money in her own name without fear of control or interference by her husband. By means of stamps sums as small as 10 cents may be deposited at one time. Accounts are limited to $500, and not more than $100 may be deposited in one month. The government will pay 2 per cent interest and will deposit the money received in neighborhood state and national banks at 2½ per cent interest. The government guarantees the return of all deposits, so there is no fear of loss by the depositors. Five per cent of the total monies received is to be retained by the secretary of the treasury as a cash reserve. If depositors desire they may exchange postal savings bank books showing deposits of $20 or multiples of $20 for United States bonds bearing interest at 2½ per cent.

The man on whom much of the labor of the establishment and conduct of the new banks will fall is Harry H. Thompson, chairman of the special committee composed of officials of the post-

He is considered by Postmaster Hitchcock an exceptionally able man for the duties of his office.

106 MEN MISSING

The Bodies of 22 Settlers Have Been Found

SPOKANE, Aug. 25.—The mystery of the bodies that are being found in the St. Joe cemetery of Idaho probably will be cleared up today when the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound road runs its first passenger train to Avery. One hundred and six men, living in the St. Joe valley, are missing. Twenty-two bodies, supposed to be of settlers, were found yesterday. Several days ago 20 bodies were found scattered over an area of over a mile and it was assumed they were forest employees. Supervisor Weigl including them in his list of dead employees. Last night, however, he declared they were not rangers. Add the number of dead rangers, 74, the 44 bodies found near Avery, the Japanese who perished near Avery, and the various known dead in Washington, Idaho and Montana, and the total is 142. This is without taking into account the 185 rangers imprisoned on the headwaters of the St. Joe. The appalling loss of life among the forest employees has taken the heart out of the surviving foresters, and an order has been issued not to risk life to save timber. The little fires are being extinguished, but the great fires, to night which might result in more loss of life, will be allowed to burn themselves out or until the rains extinguish them.

In the Coeur d'Alene mining country the fires have exhausted their fuel, also they have done in the Pend Oreille valley. In the Clearwater country and the thickest timber of the Coeur d'Alene national forest, however, the flames are active as ever. No lumberman or forester will give an estimate of the timber losses. It is believed, however, that the present fires are the most expensive the United States has ever known. An expert railroad builder estimates the loss of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railroad at $2,500,000. The Spokane chamber of commerce has begun the raising of a large relief fund. There are 150 men surrounded in the mountains between Lolo pass and St. Mary's and Major Fenn has sent three guides to pilot them out.

Conditions in the Clearwater reserve are hopeless, and Major Fenn has received instructions from the forestry headquarters at Missoula to recall all the fire fighters from the interior of the stricken region and set to work on the outskirts of the fire zone. The message said: "Save the lives of the men and let the timber burn."

TWO LIVES LOST

Excursion Boat Ran Down a Launch

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Two lives were lost early today when the excursion boat Majestic, returning to New York, N. J., from Coney Island, ran down and sank a launch containing a party of merry-makers in Newark bay. The work of rescue was made difficult by the fast running tide and darkness. Mary Kops and David Sones were drowned.

SQUATTERS TO GO

HAVE BEEN ORDERED TO LEAVE STATE LANDS

ALBANY, Aug. 25.—Adirondack squatters, rich and poor alike, are to be bodily evicted from state land this fall and their camps and dwellings torn down. State Forest, Fish and Game Commissioner James S. Whipple said yesterday during the inquiry into Adirondack land affairs by commissioners appointed by Gov. Hughes. Chief Counsel John K. Ward of Mr. Whipple's department was on the stand all day. He stated that the main object of the department was to protect forests and that the poor squatters had not been put off for the reason that the rich camp squatters could fight the state and state off action for years, as the attorneys fees would not amount to any more than camp rental. He declared that some of the squatters had been there legally before the constitutional amendment of 1895 and had no other place to go. A number of them had threatened that if they were put off they would set fire to the forests.

It was pointed out that Joseph Ladd and David C. Ball of New York city and Forest Innkeeper of Amsterdam were among the squatters on Raquette lake and that Col. W. D. Mann of Town Topics was one of the squatters on a Lake George Island.

"You should know," said Commissioner Whipple, "that the representatives of the associations formed to protect the forests have agreed that the constitution should be amended to permit the state to lease camp sites on state lands. Such an amendment would permit leases to existing squatters under proper restrictions."

HIBERNIAN NOTES

Hose 7, Central street, was the only fire house to decorate and the front of the building was neatly adorned. The doors were thrown wide open as the parade passed and the entire company dressed in uniform and armed with huge clappers greeted the paraders as they marched by.

There was some class to that Eighth Regiment Drum and Fife corps, for Lawrence. They could play in a manner that would make any old marcher keep step. They were a husky lot of men and they all had their sleeves rolled up as though they liked their work. Among the drummers was Supt. of Buildings Patsy Hennessey of Lawrence, who in his younger days was a dandy scraper and went two 12 round draws with Martin Flaherty of this city.

The Arlington Hibernians looked very natty in their white and green uniforms.

Henry Carr entertained the customers at his pool room last evening with a concert of Irish music played on a genuine Irish bagpipe by Samuel Mack of this city.

The crowd was immense and they spent some money while in town.

The glad hand was out for Humphrey O'Sullivan wherever he appeared.

One of the most solidly appearing bodies in line in the parade yesterday were the Wolf Tone Guards.

after 8 o'clock before the meeting adjourned.

The first business of the meeting was the reading of the reports of the state secretary and treasurer for the past term.

The report of Secretary Jeffrey E. Sullivan of Fall River was read first, and that of Treasurer Edward J. McCarthy of Westfield immediately followed. Both showed the state divisions to be in flourishing condition both as to finances and membership. The reports were unanimously accepted by the convention, and rising votes of thanks were given to the secretary and treasurer. The report of the latter showed the total expenditure for the past term to be $18,191.54 and the balance on hand as $983.95.

Present as special guests of the convention were Matthew Cummings of Boston, ex-national president, Right Rev. Mr. Arthur J. Teeling of Lynn, and National Vice President Joseph McLaughlin of Philadelphia.

Then came the election of officers. Vice president and secretary were elected by unanimous acclamation. William I. McLaughlin of Worcester was chosen for the first office, having been nominated without competition the evening previous.

For the office of secretary, Jeffrey E. Sullivan of Fall River was reelected. There was a deal of balloting for state president and the last analysis showed that John H. Dillon of Boston had been elected by the majority of 30 votes.

The defeated candidate was John P. Donnelly of Cambridge, president of the Middlesex county divisions. Mr. Dillon has been state vice president during the past term.

In the race for the office of state treasurer were J. J. O'Connor of Holyoke and Edward Long of Randolph. This office was also fairly contested for by the two opposing factions. J. J. O'Connor was elected by a small number of votes. Mr. O'Connor is the superintendent of poor relief in Holyoke and is president of the divisions of Hampden county.

The voting was by the Australian ballot system, a committee of nine to count the returns being appointed by President Rogers and the candidates. P. J. Harrigan was the chairman of this committee.

Capt. John H. Dillon of Roxbury was elected state president at yesterday afternoon's session of the biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, in Associate hall, and John H. O'Connor of Holyoke, president of Hampden county, chosen state treasurer. Capt. Dillon defeated John P. Donnelly of Cambridge, president of commanded by Capt. Patrick Fitzgerald. The men preserved a grand alignment throughout the entire parade and won the plaudits of those gathered to witness the demonstration. The company presented full ranks and appeared in dress uniform. General Sullivan of the New Hampshire national guard who was one of the judges of the parade, said that the Wolf Tones are one of the finest military appearing bodies of men he has ever reviewed. Had it not been for the fact that the competition for trophies was limited to Hibernian organizations, undoubtedly the Wolf Tones would have carried off the prize.

Capt. Fitzgerald was presented a beautiful bouquet by the Colonial club.

The reviewing stand that accommodated more than 1000 sightseers during the parade yesterday was taken down; this forenoon and Worthen street, in front of city hall, is again open to travel.

B. J. Dunn of Dunstable was the proudest man in Lowell when he was informed that the judges had ordered a ribbon for his beautiful stallion "Success" as the handsomest horse in line. The animal's mane was covered with ribbons and medals secured at the different county fairs of the past few years.

The Central council was fortunate in having for its secretary a hustler like Daniel E. Hogan, the well known insurance and real estate dealer. For weeks past Mr. Hogan has given his entire time to the plans of the Hibernian week, and he worked indefatigably and with complete success. Mr. Hogan is a native of Lowell and a graduate of the Mann and High schools. For several years he was employed at the library and as an evening school teacher and for a time was bookkeeper for Farrell & Conant. At present he is a member of the well known firm of Collins & Hogan. Mr. Hogan is a member of Division 1 of this city. He is married and resides at 32 Fort Hill avenue.

Nearly a week ago Patrick Connolly, president of Div. 11, and treasurer of the Central council, predicted that Division 11 would get the prize for turning out the largest number of men. He knew whereof he spoke, for that division won the prize for numbers. It was a great card for the division and its president.

All the stores in Little Canada were closed yesterday afternoon in order that the employees and the owners enjoy the parade, and general celebration. The closing of yesterday will not at all interfere with the regular Thursday half holiday.

A big feature of yesterday's parade was the grand showing made by the O. M. I. Cadets. The boys turned out 325 strong, and all along the route were cheered by the thousands of spectators. Headed by Col. Haggerty and his staff, all mounted, they presented the largest number of any organization in line. Included in their numbers were a cavalry, field band, infantrymen, artillery force and ambulance corps. All over the city and especially in Belvidere the cadets were given a hearty reception, and despite the fact that the route was rather a lengthy one the young soldiers held out well and were among the freshest in line when the parade swung into Central street for the final stretch of the march. Passing Humphrey O'Sullivan, chief marshal of the parade, when he reviewed the marchers, the cadets gave the regular military salute, and after the review Mr. O'Sullivan expressed himself as extremely pleased at their appearance and said he wished there were thousands, instead of hundreds, of cadets in Lowell. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston also spoke in complimentary terms of the appearance of the boys and said they reflected great credit on their instruct-the unprecedented record for any play in equal time. Five companies appeared in it simultaneously all last season, more than ever before had acted one play, and the same companies are doing it again this season. The profits to the producers up to the close of last season were more than a quarter of a million dollars. So far this season it has verified the opinion that its popularity would increase yearly. At the end of the season it will have piled up a total of performances and patronage and profits that will be the theatrical wonder of the age. And it deserves to do so. It is one of the greatest, most popular and most entertaining plays of the time. You know this if you've seen it; if not go to Lakeview theatre, any matinee or evening this week, and be convinced. Matinees are given every day at 2.30. Evenings at 8.15, and seats in advance can be secured at Carter & Sherburne's drug store.

Every care has been used that no old picture, no pictures that offend good taste and no tiresome pictures be shown and throughout the state this theatre has a reputation second to none. Its programs have always been equal to those shown in the largest houses in Boston and the expense has never been questioned, only the best being good enough. Every picture shown is first approved by the national censorship board in New York City, then it must pass the critical inspection of the expert sent to Boston every day by the Theatre Voyons and even then if there is any doubt as to its suitability it is not shown. Today the feature subject is "Nora Thorn," an adaptation from the famous novel and will be lectured by Herbert LeRoy.

the band concert by the Lowell Military band at city hall, last evening formed another distinct feature of the day and was enjoyed by thousands of people. Conductor William Regan had prepared an excellent program, one fully in accord with the spirit of the day and all of the better known Irish melodies were splendidly played. All of the numbers proved very pleasing to the crowd.

OMAHA WILL INITIATE ROOSEVELT INTO MYSTERIES OF "KNIGHTS OF AK-SAR-BEN"

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 25.—When Col. Roosevelt visits Omaha on Sept. 2 he will be entertained in a manner not mentioned in his itinerary. Several hundred of the loyal citizens of Nebraska have turned the name of their state backward for the purpose of "finding a title for a sort of secret society which is known as the 'Ak-Sar-Ben'." To this society most of the representative men of the Antelope State belong, and each Monday evening they gather in a special auditorium to discuss the civic needs and conditions of the populace. When President Taft was in Omaha the last time he was made a life member of the "Ak-Sar-Ben," and now it is proposed to make the only living ex-president a full fledged member of the society by initiating him according to the ritual of the order. The "Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben" have prepared special oaths for Colonel Roosevelt and arranged scenic and mechanical contrivances for his benefit that are said would frighten the most intrepid hunter, even though not in the wilds of Africa.

Colonel Roosevelt is expected to arrive in Omaha on Sept. 2. He will be met by a large crowd of people, and will be taken to a special auditorium where the initiation ceremony will take place. The ceremony is said to be a very interesting one, and will be attended by a large number of people.

CASE IS HEARD A CHILD KILLED

Court Thinks Assault While He Was Chasing Not Intentional a Cigaret Card

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—After a lengthy private hearing before Judge Perkins of the Brookline court yesterday, the case of Mrs. Marie Burt, wife of Capt. W. H. Burt, a paymaster in the U. S. army, who is charged by her former employer, Miss Dooly, of Jamaica Plain, with assault and battery, was put over until tomorrow.

Miss Dooly, who charges that Mrs. Burt struck her on the shoulder with a chopping knife, causing the blood to flow freely, refused to leave her shoulder when an attorney asked her to. She declared that she had shown her shoulder once previously and she thought that sufficient.

Judge Perkins, at this point, said he had seen the bruise at a previous hearing, and at that time it had nearly healed.

According to the testimony, trouble between Mrs. Burt and Miss Dooly began Saturday evening, Aug. 13, when Capt. and Mrs. Burt left their home to make a call, and asked the servant to sleep upstairs in order to be near their little daughter. When Capt. and Mrs. Burt returned Miss Dooly was sitting up and words between the women followed.

The next morning the servant was discharged. Later she went to the station, Miss Dooly testified. She said Mrs. Burt, after further words, struck her on the shoulder with a chopping knife.

Mrs. Burt testified that Miss Dooly stood in the doorway with the door partly closed when she walked across the room and started to close the door, carrying the knife in her right hand. She placed her left hand on the wall and her right hand, containing the knife, on the key. Mrs. Burt declared, and the servant went out, shaking her hand in a threatening manner.

Mrs. Burt said she did not know whether the door struck the girl or not. Chief Corcoran of the Brookline police testified that at a previous hearing Miss Dooly complained that her left arm was painful as a result of a blow, but readily opened the door of the clerk's office with her left hand when she wished to leave the room, in spite of the fact that a strong wind was blowing against the door.

In summing up Judge Perkins said some sort of a technical assault was committed, but that he did not think Mrs. Burt intentionally struck the girl. He said he believed Mrs. Burt must have been upset by trouble with the girl and that she forgot she had the knife in her hand when she started to close the door.

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Chasing a cigarette picture that fell under a heavy wagon, 4-year-old Simon Tucher, son of Israel Tucher of 332 E. street, South Boston, was instantly killed shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The fall between the forward and hind wheels and the latter passed over his head and neck.

The boy was playing not far from his house with several companions. He had four or five cigarette pictures, containing portraits of baseball players.

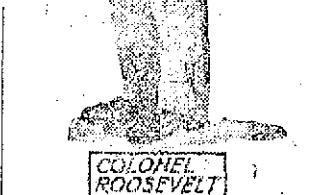

Donnieck Polissacvitz of 189 West Broadway, driving a wagon for Joseph A. Kelly of 323 Athens street, was asked by the Tucher boy if he had any cigarette pictures. The man threw a picture into the street for the boy to pick up. The wind carried it under the wagon.

While he was reaching for the picture the little fellow slipped and fell between the wheels.

Polissacvitz jumped from the wagon and went to the child's assistance. Dr. Jones of West Broadway was called, but the child was dead before he arrived. The medical examiner found there was a dislocation of the spinal column and a possible fracture of the skull.

The boy's five brothers and their parents were in the house when the body was brought in. Witnesses said Polissacvitz was entirely blameless, as he thought he had thrown the picture far enough for the boy to get it.

MILLS BLOWN UP

One Man Killed and Several Other Persons Injured

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—With a detonation so heavy that windows were broken and houses shaken as far as 20 miles away and resident alarmed, three of the powder mills of the American Powder Mill company in Maynard, near the Acton line, blew last night, killing one man and injuring several others, though not fatally.

The explosion occurred at 10:30 last night, starting, as did most of the many in the past 15 years, in the wheel mill. The first crash was followed at slight intervals by two more heavy explosions as the contents of two other mills standing near blew up. The dead man is Charles Rogers, a light watchman, who lived in Maynard.

James Ray, single, aged 50, was near mill No. 7, and upon hearing the explosion he jumped into the stream which runs through the plant. He was cut in the face by flying debris as he swam about the pool.

The three mills contain valuable machinery, which handles the powder in the second stage in its manufacture, and the loss is estimated at $20,000.

The three explosions were heard distinctly in Waltham, Watertown and Wellesley. In Acton and Maynard and the towns nearby the residents were for a time greatly alarmed. Windows were broken and dishes thrown from shelves and walls, while the houses shook as if passing through a severe earthquake.

In the houses nearest the powder mill reservation, although it is almost a mile from the nearest dwellings, residents were jarred in their beds, while the houses threatened for a second or two to fall to pieces.

The cause of the accident will probably never be known. So highly explosive are some of the powders manufactured, that the presence of any foreign substance or the slightest jar is enough to set them off.

The company was founded in 1837, and during its history has experienced many explosions. The most serious was in 1895, when five workmen were killed. The next explosion was in 1908, when early in the morning of June 7, one of the mills, the wheel mill, where the explosion of last night started, caught fire, which communicated with another mill.

No one was injured, although the task of fighting the flames was exceedingly perilous on account of the dangerous explosives in large quantity on every hand.

To set the whole mass off. The only man, who could possibly have given an explanation of the accident, is dead.

The mills occupy about 20 buildings, built and constructed and separated from each other. The company owns all the land on both sides of the road for a distance of about a mile.

Around the mills within 100 yards of the road are barbed wire to a height of 33 feet, strongly built with a view to stopping the flying of timber and missiles in the event of an explosion.

When the residents of the town, awakened by the explosion, realized its cause, they came hurrying to the road near the property to render what assistance was necessary, but the injured man, whose wounds were slight, had already been treated by their fellows.

Within the enclosure the scene was one of destruction, with the splintered and broken boards hurled and scattered about for hundreds of yards, trees a considerable distance away being scorched by the burst of flame and their foliage destroyed.

The damage to the property will not be extensive outside of the value of the materials in them, as they are constructed in sections which are lashed together. This is done so that when an explosion happens the sides of the buildings will be blown out without assistance and thus prevent a greater disaster.

No one was injured, although the task of fighting the flames was exceedingly perilous on account of the dangerous explosives in large quantity on every hand.

In 1908 there were three explosions in the month of December, the last, on Dec. 24, resulting in the loss of one life and the destruction of 10,000 pounds of powder, valued at $20,000.

INQUEST SOUGHT

ON DEATH THAT OCCURRED IN 1902

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—A petition was filed yesterday with Dist. Atty. Barker of the southwestern district of Massachusetts asking for an inquest on the death of Daniel Murphy, who was found dead in a woodshed on the estate of Eben W. Reed in Brookline, Sunday morning Feb. 23, 1902.

The petition bears the signatures of several residents of Needham who knew Murphy and of a number of Boston lawyers. They are: Thomas Sutton of Needham, Mrs. Elias Johnson, J. Joseph Warren, Thomas Foster of Boston, George W. Southard of Needham, Charles L. Sutton, Frederick D. Sutton, George L. Kingsbury, Patrick Caughan, Francis S. Gay, Thomas J. Crossman, Edgar H. Bowers, Hans Johnson, George K. Clark, Howard A. Crossman, Chester E. Dowling, Albert M. Miller, H. M. Burton, B. J. Hussey, Albert Garreau and Albert E. Miller.

The petition is said to be a forerunner of suit by the heirs-at-law of Murphy to recover property that it is believed he possessed at the time of death.

Daniel Murphy had lived in Needham and was a professional nurse who had been employed by Eben W. Reed of 11 Reservoir lane, Brookline, up to the time of his death. He was last seen alive several hours before his body was found with the skull fractured.

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN TO SPEAK AMONG INDIANS

OMAHA, Aug. 25.—Vice President James Sherman is to take the stump for the republican party in the middle west, commencing at Clinton, Ill., Aug. 27. The recent connection of his name with the alleged bribery of Senator Gore has evidently not deterred the vice president from going into the heart of the Indian country as will be seen from his itinerary as announced by the republican congressional committee. He will speak at least four times in Oklahoma, and it is thought likely that he will have something to say about graft charges. He will also speak in the same general territory as Colonel Roosevelt, who is responsible for the most of the talk.

MAN WAS STABBED

Lively Fight in Lewis Street This Afternoon

Peter Kanokios is confined to his home in Lewis street with two severe and painful wounds in his left hand and another in his right shoulder caused by a knife used, it is said, by one Peter Demoulak, and said Peter is now occupying a cell in the police station.

Shortly after 1.20 o'clock this afternoon the residents of upper Market street, in the vicinity of Lewis street, were thrown into a state of wild excitement by the cries of a man who ran up Lewis street shouting at the top of his voice that he had been murdered. Special Officer Regis and Patrolman George Abbott were quickly on the scene, and upon a thorough investigation the officers found that there had been quite a fight in the house occupied by the injured man. The defendant and he got into a quarrel about some matter pertaining to the government of the Greek colony, and came to blows, it is alleged, whereupon the defendant took out a knife and made four or five vicious thrusts at Kanokios, inflicting three wounds, two in the hand, and one in the shoulder. The officer after searching located the defendant, and the injured man identified him as his assailant. The defendant was placed under arrest and sent to the station. He will appear before the police court tomorrow morning, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

WRIT OF MANDAMUS

Lawrence City Council to Meet to Elect a Mayor

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Attorney General Dana Malone today affixed his signature to a petition to the Massachusetts supreme court, asking for a writ of mandamus to compel acting Mayor Thomas M. Jordan of Lawrence to call a meeting of the common council of that city in order that it may take action on going into joint convention with the board of aldermen for the purpose of electing a mayor to succeed former Mayor White, who is serving a three-year sentence in jail for bribery. It was expected that the petition would be filed in the supreme court this afternoon by City Solicitor Murphy of Lawrence.

The attorney general did not sign the petition for a writ of mandamus until acting Mayor Jordan had repeatedly declined to call a meeting of the common council at his own volition. The acting mayor explained that he is and always has been ready to call the common council into session whenever they ask him to do so, but as the members of the council are now taking their summer vacation he did not think he ought to disturb them except upon their own request.

After hearing the evidence in the matter Attorney General Malone said that in his opinion acting Mayor Jordan ought to call a meeting of the common council, and he suggested Sept. 6 as the date, this being the day on which the next meeting of the board of aldermen will be held. Acting Mayor Jordan, however, said that he wished to be consistent in his own position, and declined to issue the call. The attorney general then affixed his signature to the petition.

WM. A. LARNED

Again Won the Tennis Championship

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25.—For the fourth consecutive time and for the sixth time in his career as a tennis player, William A. Larned of Summit, N. J., today won the challenge match of the singles championship of the United States, defeating Thomas C. Bundy of Los Angeles, Cal., on the Casino courts today, 6-1, 5-7, 6-0, 6-5, 6-1. The brilliant tennis displayed by the California youth threatened for a time the laurels of Larned, the 40 year old veteran, but the champion's reserve power enabled him to win the fifth and deciding set, 6-1. When Bundy was apparently so greatly exhausted by his earlier efforts as to be no match whatever for the cinder player. Those who jammed the grandstand and the lawns at the Casino to the overflow point today saw the best brand of tennis displayed. Larned's superiority at every department of the game was well shown in the opening set, but Bundy's work was of the first class, even though he was plainly outclassed.

In the second set the challenger steadily down somewhat and by taking long chances on drives at the side and base lines just out of Larned's reach won a hard fought 12 game set. These tactics were tried by Bundy in the third set, but his shots were not accurate and most of the champions points were made on errors of the challenger.

Splendid generosity at critical times, aided by lobbying of the brilliant order, gave Bundy the fourth set, 5-6, but the exertion had weakened him and he was so exhausted when the fifth set was begun that Larned won both the set and the match, Bundy taking only one game in the set. Summary: National championship—Challenge round—William A. Larned, Summit, N. J., defeated Thomas C. Bundy, Los Angeles, Cal., 6-1, 5-7, 6-0, 6-5, 6-1.

"BILLY" MAHONEY

HAVING A MOST ENJOYABLE TIME IN WILDS OF MAINE?

Mr. William Mahoney of Pleasant street is enjoying a hunting and fishing trip in Maine. Mr. Mahoney has located his camp close to the boundary line and is enjoying himself immensely. The fishing, he reports, is grand, and he is making large catches. In the hunting line he writes that he found some trouble at first because of the lack of a hound, but he had shipped to him "Duke," the well known hunting dog that was trained by "Billy" Burns, and for the last few days has been exceptionally lucky.

"DAN" McCAFFREY

PRESENTED GOLD HEADED CANE BY LAWRENCE FRIENDS

During the second act of "The Pride of the Ranch," Joseph J. Flynn's sparkling musical comedy at Glen Forest theatre Monday night, Dan McCaffrey, the well known and popular comedian, was presented with a solid gold-headed, ebony cane by a number of his Lawrence friends and admirers. The presentation was made by Lewis S. Powers, a member of the company.

Mr. McCaffrey responded in a choked voice, and thanked the donors. The cane bears the following inscription: "Presented to Mr. Daniel McCaffrey, by his Lawrence, Mass., friends August 22, 1910."

"The Pride of the Ranch" is a musical comedy of the western style, and one can imagine himself in the Gold West during the two acts of the play which are interspersed with bright comedy, and tuneful, catchy music and songs. The company is an exceptionally clever one, and well merits the approval shown by the audience.

The singing of Miss Powers, Mr. Larned and Mr. Randall won the greatest outburst of applause seen or heard at the park this season. Lewis Powers was compelled to respond several times with his parodies, which with the work of Dan McCaffrey as Judge Lovelady kept the audience in a continuous uproar of laughter.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN

By A. O. H. Convention and the Ladies' Auxiliary At Last Night's Session

MEN'S CONVENTION

The New Board
President—John H. Dillon, Boston.
Vice President—William L. McLaughlin, Worcester.
Secretary—Jeffrey E. Sullivan, Fall River, (Re-elected).
Treasurer—John J. O'Connor, Holyoke.

The closing session of the A. O. H. convention was held this morning with a large attendance of delegates though many left the city immediately after the election of officers last evening.

The election of officers was formally announced this morning. President-elect Dillon and State Treasurer John H. O'Connor then addressed the convention after which remarks were made by the other state officers, Prof. Hugh Molloy of the State Normal school, Rev. John J. McLaughlin, acting pastor of St. Patrick's church and Rev. James J. Chittick of Holy Park, Norfolk county chaplain.

The following resolutions were read and adopted:

The Resolutions
The committee on resolutions made its report, which was accepted by the convention. It was in part as follows:

Resolved, That the convention urge the national officers to use every effort to effect a peace conference between the representatives of the various Irish societies, the aims and objects of which are distinctly racial and national. It is understood that we are opposed to the interference with the policies and principles of any organization. We favor leaving such societies to follow their own adopted policies and to follow in the field of Irish progress.

Resolved, That we endorse the recommendation of the state president relative to the affiliation of this order with the American federation of Catholic societies and urge the state and division officers to take immediate action toward that end. We endorse the recommendation for the making of St. Patrick's day, March 17, a legal holiday in this state and urge the divisions and membership of the order to participate in the public celebration of the new legal holiday, Columbus day, Oct. 12.

Resolved, That a monument be erected in the cemetery at Cohasset to mark the last resting place of 33 Irish emigrants whose bodies were washed ashore from the wreck of the British brig St. John, which sailed from Galway, Ire., in 1840, and was wrecked off Cohasset Oct. 9 of that year.

State officers were instructed to investigate and report as to the monument plan and also to consider the advisability of recommending a 10 per cent. capita assessment for the purpose.

To Stop Emigration

The committee also presented resolutions as to finding employment for people in Ireland to stop emigration and to promote interest in the revival of the Gaelic language and literature. The thanks of the convention were voted to Dr. Douglas Hyde for his efforts in the teaching of Irish history in the schools and of loyalty to Ireland and home rule.

New Officials

President—Mary A. Cavanaugh, Boston.
Vice-President—Mary A. O'Reilly, Ware.
Secretary—Susan McNamee, Somerville.

Treasurer—Ellen Murphy, Boston.

The delegates assembled at Mathew hall about 9.30 o'clock this morning and the greater part of the forenoon was taken up by addresses by the lady officers of the auxiliary and officers of the A. O. H. The mistress-at-arms and sentinel were elected and a reception was tendered Mrs. Katherine Burke, the retiring president.

The first business of the convention was the reading and acceptance of the minutes of the previous meeting by the secretary.

John H. Dillon, the newly elected president of the A. O. H., was introduced and addressed the ladies. He encouraged the ladies to spread the work of the auxiliary as much as possible and spoke of the loyalty of the Irish to the cause in this country. He also spoke of the part that the Irishmen had taken in the wars in which the United States had participated. He said that the Irishmen in this country who were loyal to their motherland were also loyal to this country.

Edward McCarthy, of Westfield, the retiring state treasurer of the A. O. H., congratulated the members of the auxiliary on the work which they had done and after offering good advice and words of encouragement said that he was retiring from office with the best wishes and success for the men and women of the A. O. H. and the auxiliary.

Brother John Crotty spoke on the insurance for the men and women. He asked the delegates to broach the subject of organizing committees to their respective auxiliaries when they returned to their homes and later communicate with him.

Delegates Overcome By the Heat

The extra long session of today and the poor ventilation in the hall resulted in a number of the delegates being overcome by the heat. They had to be carried out of the hall and in one instance, medical aid was summoned. Several attempts to pass a motion to take a recess at noon were made but defeated and while a number of the delegates left the hall in order to get fresh air and food, the majority remained in their seats, several having to be carried out of the hall after they had fainted away.

Last night a delegate, said to belong in Ashland, had a narrow escape from being seriously injured. She was standing at the top of the stairway when she was overcome by the heat and dropping in a faint rolled down the flight of stairs. Fortunately she did not fall head foremost and escaped with a few bruises. She was unconscious during the time she was rolling down the stairs.

Last Night's Session

Mrs. Mary A. Cavanaugh, of East Boston, state secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H., was elected state president for the ensuing two years at a meeting of the delegates held early last night in Mathew hall in Dutton street. The other state officers were also elected. Several of the elections were well contested but harmony reigned throughout the battle of the ballots.

Mrs. Katherine O'Keefe O'Mahoney, of Lawrence, was Mrs. Cavanaugh's opponent and each candidate had its loyal supporters, but Mrs. Cavanaugh had a sympathetic vote on her side which assured her victory. At the last moment Mrs. O'Mahoney withdrew her name in favor of Mrs. Cavanaugh and the latter received a unanimous vote.

For the office of vice-president, Miss Mary A. O'Reilly of Ware was elected, winning out against Mrs. Martin Silk of Worcester county.

Mrs. Susan McNamee of Somerville was unanimously elected secretary, there being no other nominations.

For treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Hennessey of Weymouth and Mrs. Ellen Murphy of South Boston were nominated. Mrs. Murphy received a majority of votes and was elected.

At the banquet last night Chief Marshal O'Sullivan took occasion to compliment and thank Chief Aide Charles L. Marren for the work he did and the interest he displayed in arranging the details of the parade. Mr. Marren gave generously of his time and attended to many matters connected with the demonstration.

The Knights of Columbus kept their rooms open for the paraders and visiting delegates yesterday. Secretary Green treated them to a fine concert played on the grand organ.

One of the most unique decorative displays in the city was the one that adorned the front of the office of Constable John McManus in the Howe building. The grand framed, festooned, that was presented to Mr. McManus by those who appreciated his work in behalf of the children of Lowell when he arranged outings for them is placed in one of the windows of the office. It contains a picture of Mr. McManus and at night is illuminated by thirty electric bulbs. Included in the decoration are pennants bidding welcome to his visiting Hibernian brothers. The display brought most favorable comment from the visiting as well as the local members of the order.

MUTINY IS CHARGED

Five Young Bay State Men Were Lodged in Jail

BALTIMORE, Aug. 25.—Charged with mutiny on the high seas, five young men of Massachusetts were lodged in jail here yesterday after having been brought 3000 miles to answer for their alleged crime. They give their names as William D. Albert of New Bedford, Charles E. Mitchell, E. W. Lilley of Lowell, Charles Turner of Cambridge, and Coroner B. White of Somerville. Also in custody are John Haddock of Fall River and Jeremiah McCarthy of Boston, two others of the crew, who are held as witnesses.

The men reached this city yesterday afternoon on the revenue cutter Agache, to which they were transferred last night from the vessels of the midshipmen's practice squadron, now at the Patuxent, on which they were brought from the Azores at the request of the U. S. consul stationed there. They had been placed in his custody by Capt. Antonio C. Crovelo of the whaler Pedro Varela of New Bedford.

Were Brutally Treated

The specific allegation against the men is that they disabled the Varela by mutilating the windlass and throwing it overboard, making it necessary to take the vessel into port for repairs. This the five men under arrest acknowledge, adding the allegation that they were brutally treated, and altogether inadequately fed and that their protest to Capt. Crovelo was disregarded.

The prisoners are all young men and seemingly ignorant of the gravity of the crime with which they are charged, the penalty for which is a prison sentence of indefinite length.

The Varela sailed from New Bedford April 27 last, for a two-years' cruise, with a crew of 37. The men claim they were so miserably fed that on July 3 they complained to the captain, who is said to have replied: "If this doesn't suit, go somewhere else and get better."

The men arrested say it was to compel the captain to take them "somewhere else" that they might be able to "get better" that they threw the windlass overboard.

On July 4 the captain and Portuguese mates broke up two games of cards the men were playing. Two days later the windlass was disabled. All the men on watch were put in irons and so kept until Haddock and McCarthy made statements implicating the men under arrest here. The latter are said to have been kept in irons 28 days, until their arrival at Fayal, Azores islands, during which time their fare, they declare, consisted of a piece of hardtack and a pot of water daily.

The men were given a preliminary hearing by U. S. Commissioner Bond on board the Agache before being brought to this city.

What Some of the Men Say

The five accused young men were cheerful and delighted to be in "God's country," as one of them expressed it. "Honestly," said Haddock, "I'd rather serve ten years in jail than to be on that whaler," and he laughed with delight at the idea.

"I have been on a whaler before, but I never had any such experience," said Albert, who is a bright, intelligent fellow. "From the very start, the conditions on the schooner were not pleasant. The afterguard and many of the others of the crew were Portuguese and they made it mighty unpleasant for us."

Albert then told of the alleged bad treatment they received, saying that the food was unfit to eat and that the water was impregnated with oil. "Just think of starting to sea for a two-years' voyage with three hays of soap on board," he said, "for that was all there was on her. Our allowance of water was scant, especially for clothes washing. We got enough to drink, but it wasn't fit to drink."

GRAFT IS CHARGED

Alleged That Salem Employees Were Nulcted of Pay

SALEM, Aug. 25.—Allegations submitted by Mayor Howard to Herbert F. Wilkins, chairman of the municipal committee on public property, that L. T. Bassett has been collecting wages earned by other city employees and retaining some of the money created a sensation in this city when it became known yesterday. The committee on public property will hold a special meeting in the city hall at 7:45 next Monday evening for the purpose of making a thorough investigation.

An interview with Col. John Pollock, superintendent of the public property department, developed the information that L. T. Bassett is employed with others in the installation of machinery for the manual training school to be established in the new high school building on Highland avenue. Arthur R. Newhall, who has been elected instructor in the proposed new school, is employed by the school board at a salary of $11 per month to superintend the placing of the machinery in the building.

Mayor Howard's Charges

Mayor Howard in his letter to Herbert F. Wilkins, says, among other things:

"On Aug. 19 a Mr. J. A. Ritchie called upon me and stated that he had been employed on the installing of the manual training department apparatus in the high school building as a carpenter at a salary of $13 per week, and that he understood that W. M. Royal at a salary of $15 per week, whereas the city pay roll shows that the men are each receiving $24 per week."

The mayor in explanation of his letter says "that Ritchie is in the employ of Bassett and that the superintendent of the work is under the direction of Mr. Newhall, the new manual training teacher."

Probe of Case Promised

It is further stated by the mayor that "Aug. 3, Bassett paid Ritchie $15, telling him that all he was entitled to. The next week, Aug. 12, Ritchie became suspicious and went to Bassett and told him he was getting $24 per week, whereupon Bassett told Ritchie that he did not want him to work any more, and although he was entitled to but $15 for that week, yet he (Bassett) was willing to pay him $24. He would sign off in full for all claims and forget it. Ritchie asked time to think it over, and while he was considering the matter, Mr. Newhall kept following Ritchie urging him to sign, which Ritchie finally did and then went to the mayor and told his story. Ritchie said that he had received in full $24.75 for three weeks' work, while the pay roll at the city hall shows that he has received $72."

Says the mayor: "It will be recalled that when Mr. Newhall was selected for the position it was stated that he was receiving a salary of $2000 in Lynn; that he had been offered $2250 elsewhere, yet was willing to come to Salem for $1800 a year."

that his brother made a contract to do the work and was to charge 50 cents an hour for the service of each man employed. The schedule agreed upon was eight hours per day. Desiring to make weekly payments to the men, it was agreed that they should be listed as city employees.

Frederick E. Bassett of the Bassett Machine Co., in answer to a question as to what he had to say about the charges brought against him by Mayor Howard, said: "I have the contract to install the machinery in the high school building. My business is running a machine shop. I charge 50 cents an hour for each man in my employ. I hire men as cheap as I can, and put them out to work by the day, charging the regulation price of 50 cents an hour."

When asked about the contract and how the names of his men with wages received were entered upon the city's payroll, he replied, "it was a small matter and there was not time for a formal contract and for convenience, agreement was made to have wages entered upon the city payroll. There was no trouble and the men understood it. When Ritchie found that his name was on the city payroll he kicked, and rather than have any trouble I settled up with him and discharged him."

Woman Discovers the Trouble

It was learned last evening that Ritchie had previously been in the service of some other contractor, and being unable to secure his wages had filed a lien against the contractor. The business was done, it was stated, by the wife of Ritchie, and while she was in the city hall attending to filing or entry of the lien papers by some accident learned that her husband was enrolled as a city employee with wages at $24 per week. This information greatly interested Mrs. Ritchie, and she proceeded as early as possible to interrogate her husband.

It is said to have been a startling revelation to him that he was securing so much income per week, and further investigation was made which led up to the conference with Mayor Howard and subsequent public hearing. It is not known for Mrs. Ritchie, it is stated, in all probability the public would never have learned how much her husband was earning in the high school building, and how much profit was being realized on his services.

Among other things, the committee on public property will be interrogated at length to learn why agreement, either formal or tacit, was made to enter employees of any contractor on the city's books, as employees of the city. There is no precedent so far as known, for such action. Attention is called that had custom been followed, the Bassett Machine company would have drawn money on instalments for so many hours' labor per week, and then the public would not have known how much was being paid to employees of the firm.

LOST DIAMOND

BUT INSPECTOR RECOVERED IT IN SHORT TIME

FIVE ISLANDS, Me., Aug. 25.—Charles Ryan of Boston, U. S. inspector of customs, who has been spending his vacation here with H. H. McLaughlin of Boston and Daniel Harrington of Hallowell, Me., was given a severe case of blues early yesterday morning, but recovered during the day, and last night was treating his friends to a choice brand of cigars.

The party started out fishing yesterday morning and when off Mink Island, where the cod seemed to be biting best, Mr. Ryan suddenly felt his diamond ring, valued at $350, slipping from his finger. Before he could save it he saw it slowly working its way to the ocean's bottom.

The party was undecided just how they could rescue the ring, but came to Mink to make arrangements for securing a powerful magnet which would attract the diamond ring to the surface. Instead, however, they were recommended the services of a diver and engaged Scott Tibbets of Woolwich.

Hardly had Mr. Tibbets' feet touched bottom than he saw the glitter of the diamond. He at once signaled to be hauled to the surface and returned the prize to Mr. Ryan, who was the happiest man at this summer colony.

EIGHT WERE KILLED GREAT SUCCESS DR. FORREST MARTIN CLOUDS OF SMOKE

Passenger Trains in Collision Near Durand, Michigan

FLINT, Mich., Aug. 25.—In a rear-end collision between passenger trains Nos. 4 and 14, both east bound, on the Grand Trunk railroad two miles east of Durand last night, eight persons are known to have been killed, three were probably fatally injured and five were seriously hurt. It was reported early today that four passengers are missing. Train No. 14 stopped to repair a defective brake when No. 4 crashed into the sleeper on the standing track. The engine of No. 4 ploughed half way through the sleeper, crushing to death some of the sleeping passengers. The wreck of the sleeper caught fire and others of the passengers were burned or scalded. It is said there were 18 passengers on the ill-fated car.

When the forward train stopped a brakeman was sent back to signal the train behind but the explosion of the torpedo was placed on the track as a warning was heard too late by the engine of the No. 4 train to stop his train. As fast as they were recovered from the ruins of the burned sleeper the bodies of the dead were taken to Durand. Some of the injured were also taken to that village and others were brought to the hospital in this city. The dead bodies recovered during the night are two unidentified women, one about 50 years old and the other about 60, and six persons whose bodies were so badly scalded and burned as to render identification impossible. The probably fatally injured are: Clinton Davis, 27, of Montreal, scalded and cut about the head and body; George Nelson, of Battle Creek, fireman on train No. 4, scalded and cut; and Bert Mitchell, of Port Huron, engineer on train No. 14, who was injured about the head. The body of one of the two dead women may be that of Mrs. Davis, mother of Clinton A. Davis of Montreal, who was injured. Mrs. Davis was an invalid, traveling with her son and a nurse. The other woman's body that was recovered is said to be too large to fit the description of the nurse. Miss Helles, 28 years old, of Chicago, was brought to Huron hospital here injured internally.

HIGH TAX RATE

Is Cause of a Slight Uprising in China

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Oppressive taxation and the greatly increased cost of living in China are the causes of a restless and slight uprising among the natives throughout the whole empire, according to advices received at the headquarters of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society here. The reports came from Dr. Brown, son of Nathan Brown, the famous pioneer missionary of Assam and Japan. Dr. Brown stated that Kuling, a large summer central China resort, was crowded for a time with refugees from the province of Hunan, where life had been made unbearable for them. The uprising is not anti-Christian and is particularly anti-foreign except that the blame for the increasing taxes is laid at the door of new innovations introduced by foreigners. The official classes are more directly blamed than the foreigners for the greatly increased cost of living. There can be no prediction made of the result of the widespread dissatisfaction, states Mr. Brown, but it offers great opportunities for the spread of Christianity.

THE BLUE ARMY THE BRICKLAYERS

Won War Game at Pine Camp

PINE CAMP, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Blue army captured Pine Camp yesterday. Two squadrons of the Tenth cavalry, under command of Maj. Charles H. Greys, cleverly turned the flank of the Red line and established a commanding position from which they could not be dislodged.

The battle was hotly fought and realistic to a degree. Even after the Blue forces had turned the Red flank, fighting continued within camp limits and only ended among the big tents of the quartermaster's department. There a troop of the Tenth cavalry planted two machine guns to cover their hard-won position. Two companies of engineers tried in vain to dislodge them, while all about a hand-to-hand conflict of cavalrymen surged back and forth in the company streets. The Red troops contested every inch of ground, but were beaten.

The militia maneuvers took place yesterday afternoon. Thus far there have been no combined militia maneuvers, but each regiment has worked out its own problems. Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant and Mrs. Lysene S. Grant, and were the guests tonight of Gen. Frederick Grant, who gave a reception to his officers in their honor.

TO MEET PRESIDENT

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Headed by Rev. Heinrich Swoboda, rector of the University of Vienna, the Wiener Akademische Gesangsverein (the chorus of the University of Vienna) which is in the eastern part of the United States for a short sojourn visited this city today and received a hearty welcome. There were over 200 tourists in the party. Shortly after arriving they were taken on a sightseeing trip through the city to Cambridge. While in the latter city the chorus went to Harvard college and was received by President Lowell and President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot. A trip to Beverly by invitation to meet President Taft was taken by the entire party this afternoon.

Fete in Aid of St. Louis' Parish

The members and friends of St. Louis' parish were out in force last night, when the long looked for fete champetre opened in a blaze of glory on the spacious grounds between the church and the parochial school. The grounds were enclosed with canvas, and a temporary fence was erected. The attendance for the first night was all that could be desired.

The grounds were turned into what might be termed an up-to-date, brightly sparkling "white way." The first thing to strike the eye of the visitor was the magnificent arch at the entrance to the grounds, the columns of which were entwined with red, white and blue outlined with incandescent bulbs and the whole surrounded with the word "Bienvenue" spelled out in resplendent electric bulbs.

The staccato music was tried and pleasing. The Garde Frontenac gave a military drill. An operetta, "Les Cordons Bleus," was presented under the big tent by Mrs. Oller J. David. Misses Graziella Dupuis, Regina Caron and Lucie Drouin, Pratie and Elsalion did acrobatic stunts, and Joseph Clement rode a bicycle on a tight wire. A clever vaudeville show was presented also by Hector McDonald, Antonio Trudeau, Ernest Trudeau, Theodore Lussier, Victor Gaudin, Leo Beaulieu, with Arthur J. Drouin at the piano.

Lavigne's orchestra, stationed on the illuminated band stand in the center of the grounds, played selections from Gounod, Debussy, Thomas, Nivin, Bizet, Strauss and Verdi—a delightful program.

The Garde Jacques-Cartier did picket duty during the evening. The auto rides were a source of great fun to many during the evening, as well as an excellent source of income to St. Anne's table. The gentlemen kind enough to lend their autos were Elie Delisle, Marcel Roussel, H. M. Demers, Adolphe Delisle, Dr. George E. Caisse and J. A. Foley.

The young men of the Cercle St. Louis were the organizers of the fete, assisted by all the sodalities of the church. The general committee in charge consisted of Philippe E. Chabou, president; Alphonse Landry, vice president; Joseph A. N. Chretien, secretary and treasurer; Adolphe Leguin, Hector Dupuis and Rev. Abbe R. A. Fortier, chaplain of the circle.

The young ladies of the children of Mary had charge of the candy, flower and ice cream tables, under a general committee composed of Misses Alex. Lambert, vice president; Albina Renaud, secretary; Caroline Fortier, treasurer; Alice Graton, Martha Fortier, Maria Boucher, Eva Caron and Hermeline Ducharme. The attendants on the various tables were as follows:

St. Anne's sodality had charge of the post office, fishing pond and supper table, on which the attendants were as follows: Mrs. Calixte Leguin, president, post office; Mrs. Annas Caron, Mrs. Wm. Collins, Mrs. Alfred Lokselle, Mrs. Bolduc, Mrs. Albert Boucher, Mrs. Adam Guilmette, Mrs. Edmond St. Onge, Mrs. Eugene Ducharme, Mrs. J. Guilmette, Mrs. Pierre A. Brousseau, president, fishing pond; Richard, Mrs. Alfred Clretien, Mrs. E. M. Morin, Mrs. Laurent Favre, president supper table; Mrs. Jos. Thibault, Mrs. Jean Primeau, Mrs. Auguste Desmarais, Mrs. Wm. Cordeau, Mrs. Arthur Leguin, Mrs. Philine Soudard, Mrs. Elie Bevilville, Mrs. Samuel Renaud, Mrs. Henry Chuput, Mrs. Adam Maillet.

The shooting gallery was in charge of Rodolphe Dupuis, Alfred Harve, Edouard Drouin, Jos. Levy, the fortune wheel, in charge of Wm. Gagnon, James Chailoux, Wilfrid Daigle; the African dodger, in charge of Albert Vigant, Philippe Barre, Albert Morin, and the typewriter studio, in charge of George Laurent and Albert Dery. ## Chairman of the Lowell Board of Health

Tells Interesting Story of a Trip Covering 21 States and Three British Provinces — He Was Accompanied by His Wife and Daughter

Dr. G. Forrest Martin, chairman of the Lowell board of health, has returned from a trip in which he covered twenty-one states and three British provinces. Dr. Martin attended the annual meeting of the National Homeopathic society, held at Pasadena, Calif., and after the meeting he continued his interesting travel. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter and the trip was as pleasant as it was interesting. The entertainment provided by the profession and chambers of commerce in different cities was so elaborate as to almost baffle description. It was one continuous round of sight-seeing and other pleasures.

Dr. Martin says that "bonnet" is the keynote in the west and that is why we of the east hear so much about the prosperity and opportunities in the west. A great deal of it is based on "wind" but the doctor says that they keep everlastingly at it and they have talked it so much that they believe it themselves.

Asked if the west seemed prosperous, Dr. Martin replied that it was prosperous in places. "I wish," he said, "that the people in the east would pattern a little after the westerners. You never hear a fellow in the west say that there is anything the matter with his home town. They boast, they don't brook and when a visitor strikes a city in the west he is shown the things that are pleasing to the eye and apparently prosperous. He is not shown the bad places or the sad things."

"What we call our board of trade is known in the western cities as chamber of commerce and you can just bet that the members are all live wires. If you are a prospective investor and seeking for a place to locate a business the chamber of commerce meets you at the depot and takes you to its bosom. You are whirled through the city in an automobile and if there are any plague spots you don't see them only the good things are pointed out to you. You are dined by the chamber of commerce and the members that are looking after you absolutely refuse to let you out of their sight. They seek to fill you with good impressions and they don't want you to go out mooching around and spoiling them. When you are all throaty about you to the train, and what you know about that city is what the chamber of commerce told you and showed you. If there is any one characteristic that is written on the westerner's sleeve it is that of boasting. From the boy at the newsstand to the business and professional man, the motto is "boast." They will tell you that their city has the best government that ever happened; that they are several thousand miles from the debt limit; their banks are overflowing with money, wages are good and everybody is happy. And they don't tell you all this in a half-hearted way, either. They just show their whole heart and soul into their story, and unless you're a confirmed skeptic you'll believe it at least,—for the time being.

Dr. Martin familiarized himself with the modus operandi of the boards of health of cities where the opportunity for investigation was afforded him, and he allows that the Lowell board of health is doing pretty well. At one place in California the doctor and most representative health boards were taken to what was looked upon and classed as an up-to-date dairy, and the conditions there were such as to force the belief that Lowell dairies, as a whole, are first class. The party arrived there at milking time, about six o'clock in the evening. The cows were milked in a barn that was far from clean; there were flies innumerable and the milk was strained through a cheese cloth into cans that stood in the rear of the stable and only a few feet removed from the cows.

The best joke of all was the statement made to Dr. Martin by the bacteriologist of the city. He questioned Dr. Martin asked him as to the standard of the milk for a bacteriologist's standpoint and the bacteriologist replied that it averaged from five to ten thousand bacteria to the cubic centimeter. Dr. Martin allowed that that was pretty good and regretted that here in the east our cows were not equal to the occasion of so splendid a record. It may have been that the bacteriologist believed what he was saying and in that event he wasn't any better than the average spoken by him is beyond reason. Dr. Martin told the would-be-wise bacteriologist that in Boston milk containing 600,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter was passed as safe milk and in very many cases the average is little less than 1,000,000, and after witnessing the milking of the cows in what was called a model dairy, Dr. Martin allowed that the bacteriologist was talking through an aperture in his chapeau.

In Lincoln, Neb., where there is an agricultural college, the party was treated to an interesting story having to do with the breeding and general pedigree of different cows. It was a lecture on cows and the subject of the lecture was in full view of the audience.

Returning to the pleasures of the trip, Dr. Martin said he believed the entertainment to be unprecedented. On more than one occasion more than 30 automobiles were called into requisition and members of the parties were taken on long and interesting trips that included about all that was worth seeing in the different places. It was the first time that the annual meeting had ever been held west of the Rocky Mountains and the doctors and chambers of commerce did themselves proud. In one city the chamber of commerce appropriated $10,000 for the entertainment of the guests and that was only a starter. "There's things right in that country," said Dr. Martin. After leaving Salt Lake City and crossing the desert, the party was met on the California line by doctors and others who had made a 90 mile trip to meet the visitors. Not only was the party banqueted where stops were made, but in several instances fruit of all kinds was distributed at stations where the stop was a short one. At several of the stations, cars were piled high with fruit for the visitors. With the exception of a hotel bill, once in a while, Dr. Martin said it was impossible to pay for anything, until, of course, the party separated and went their different ways.

In Oregon and Washington they are asking fabulous prices per acre for land. In some places $400 and $500 an acre is being asked, and Dr. Martin says that if the easterner would live as the people in these new districts live, they could save more money than the westerner saves. The railroads control everything and almost everybody in these new districts, and if you want to buy a farm you will buy from the railroad. The boats on the rivers are operated by the railroads and the new settlers pay the freight good and plenty. After covering twenty-one states and three British provinces, Dr. Martin allows that Lowell is good enough for him. He thinks there is ample room for improvement here as elsewhere, and what is most required here is a public spirit tonic.

SHOE CO.'S FIGHT

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—There was another legal skirmish between the United Shoe Machinery Co. and the Thomas G. Plant interests in the supreme court today preliminary to the big fight over the right of the Plant company to install its own machinery for that of the shoe company. The court struggle today was over the assignment of a date for a hearing on a motion of the shoe company to strike from the files the plea of the Plant interests.

After an hour's argument, during which Atty. Sherman L. Whipple for the Plant company declared that the shoe company was seeking to avoid raising the direct point whether the plea of his client was sufficient, Judge Rugg set Sept. 2 as a date for hearing.

TRAINMEN REINSTATED

ISLAND POND, Vt., Aug. 25.—As yet few of the trainmen connected with the passenger service on the Grand Trunk railroad who went on strike last month have been reinstated. The former strikers who were in the freight service are being put to work gradually. The old passenger conductors and others who are still idle expressed dissatisfaction with the failure of the company to reinstate them.

James Murdoch of Toronto, first vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was in Island Pond this week and said the members of the local union under their strike pay. He held a conference with the men and assured them that they would be reinstated according to the terms of the settlement agreement with the road. S. N. Berry of Toronto, first vice-president of the order of railroad conductors, is expected here this week.

Coming From Forest Fires Ob-scure the Sky

Dense clouds of smoke from the burning forests of Montana, Oregon and Washington are gradually working their way eastward. Since yesterday the sky has been obscured by smoke, dirt particles and moisture, and last evening the combination was so dark that it had the appearance of storm clouds. Today the murky conditions continued, the sun, unable to penetrate the haze, having the appearance of a copper ball. Forecaster J. W. Smith of the United States weather bureau in Boston attributes the peculiar appearance of the copper atmosphere to the drought and moisture in the air. The drought is responsible for the spread of forest fires in the west and in consequence the easterly currents have carried smoke and dirt particles toward the Atlantic. The moisture in the atmosphere today reached 85 per cent.

$3000 DAMAGE

Freight Train Crashed Into Station

SHARON, Aug. 25.—Twelve heavily-laden freights which had been switched onto a side track got beyond the control of brakemen and crashed through the Sharon Heights station of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad today. No one was injured. The damage to the station and one of the freight cars is estimated at $3000. Considerable freight and express matter in the station was destroyed. The twelve cars after being switched from the main part of the freight train slid down the side track, knocked over the buffer post and ploughed through the end of the station. The roof of the station was partially carried away, the floor was ripped up and other damage caused.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED

QUINCY, Aug. 25.—Paul J. Brown, a local druggist, was held for the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter today for the alleged mistake in filling a prescription which caused the death of Ruth Kelley, the two year old child of John Kelley of this city. A local doctor wrote the prescription which called for sugar of milk. A chemical analysis showed the presence of boracic acid in the child's stomach. Brown furnished $500 bail for his appearance.

CALLED ON TAFT

BEVERLY, Aug. 25.—President Taft was given some information about political conditions in Connecticut today by Senator Brandegee and Colonel Isaac Ullman, one of the republican state leaders. The senator thought things looked good in his state.

RELEASED ON $5000 BAIL

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Julius Vezosol, the Russian fugitive who is awaiting extradition proceedings on the charge that he stole $50,000 from the Russian sub-treasury at Tiflis, was released today on bail of $5000 deposited in cash in the United States court by the socialist labor party of Massachusetts, of which the fugitive is a member. Vezosol is also known as Andrew Rulow.

It is understood that Vezosol's attorneys are preparing to resist extradition on the ground that the treaty provides for extradition on a charge of larceny, not on a charge of receiving stolen property, which the lawyers claim is the only charge that might be proved against Vezosol.

DR. STEWART DEAD

TO KILL WOMAN

It is Alleged That a Compact Was Made

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 25.—A sensational claim, involving an alleged murder compact, was made in the superior court yesterday in explanation of why a promissory note was given. August Fredricks swore that the price he set for killing William Schmitt's wife was $500.

Schmitt sued Fredricks on a promissory note. As a result of the suit the defendant was arrested and was before the court on a motion to be released from arrest and to be discharged from bail.

Fredricks was charged with fraud in connection with the note. The defendant in the suit was $500. After hearing, considerable testimony Judge Lee denied the motion.

Fredricks on the witness stand denied that he owed Schmitt anything. Judge Lee asked him why he gave the promissory note for $500 if such was the case. Fredricks replied he wanted Schmitt to do something to show.

When pressed further for a reason he said that he had undertaken a contract to kill Schmitt's wife.

"Did you kill her?" asked Judge Lee.

"No, I didn't kill her," answered Fredricks.

"Then why did you take the money?" inquired Judge Lee.

"Well, I was thinking over the proposition of killing her," nonchalantly replied the witness.

Judge Lee does not remember when he has heard such a tale before. This one, he says, caps the climax.

In addition to the $500 on the promissory note, the defendant testified that he had received $112 from the plaintiff, which he claimed was used in stocking his store with hardware supplies. He later stated on the stand that the latter sum was also a part of that specified for the killing of the plaintiff's wife.

No testimony was introduced to show why the plaintiff wanted to have his wife killed. But the defendant, Fredricks, insisted that that was the reason he had received the money and that he did not owe the plaintiff anything.

It is said that Fredricks' statement was considered preposterous. The difficulty lies in the fact that it was an oral agreement and proceedings for paying would be difficult of substantiation. The matter is being held for consideration and proceedings may be established in a few days.

Are Having Very Interesting Campaigns

In California, Tennessee and Georgia the voters have most interesting campaign fights scheduled for this fall and the eyes of many people will be turned on the battles. In Georgia the democrats have named a former governor and one time secretary of the interior, Hoke Smith. While he was governor he dismissed Joseph M. Brown from the railroad commission on the ground that Brown was dominated by railroad interests, and when

CARL DEN HOOPER

Mr. Smith sought another term he was defeated by Brown. This time both were again candidates, and Smith "came back" by defeating Brown.

In California the democrats have nominated Theodore A. Bell, former representative in congress, to oppose Hiram Johnson, an avowed insurgent candidate of the republicans and in Tennessee the fight is made interesting by the candidacy of Captain Ben. W. Hooper, who is opposed to almost everything that Governor Patterson has advocated during his incumbency. Independent state wide prohibition democrats who have fought Governor Patterson are expected to support the ticket headed by Captain Hooper in great of the regular democratic nominees.

Mr. McCarty gave bonds to answer to the suit.

The charges and suits came as a climax to the hottest local campaign ever waged in this county.

and was shown, he says, the entry of July 7 of $50 and the one which the republicans claimed to be the only one, Oct. 8, of $55.30.

Mr. McCarty in his speech that "Mechanic Falls stated that the name appearing on Mr. Millett's books was written so unintelligently that it was impossible to say whether it was once under consideration or not though it might possibly be called so. He is quoted, however, as saying that on the first of last month the number "500" was not on the book, and that furthermore the record itself showed that the number had been added recently and that the "ink was hardly dry."

The suit against Mr. Merrill is based on an alleged reference made in a letter recently published. The letter is said to have contained the following:

"I am very much pleased to have the opportunity of speaking in the town of one of the county officers who has been pleased to assail me in the past few days in a letter through the columns of the press in one of the most scurrilous and vindictive letters that ever emanated from a sounder clothed in human garb."

Mr. McCarty gave bonds to answer to the suit.

"I am very much pleased to have the opportunity of speaking in the town of one of the county officers who has been pleased to assail me in the past few days in a letter through the columns of the press in one of the most scurrilous and vindictive letters that ever emanated from a sounder clothed in human garb."

race is scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock and there will be music during the race; are lights will flash out plenty of light so that all may catch glimpses of the runners as they flash by. Extra cars will be run from all points before and after the race.

Most of the runners are well known in Lowell as their past performances entitle them to a great deal of credit and consideration at the hands of the public. The sketches of the men follow:

Al. Raines, considered the most stylish runner of them all. Has many marathons to his credit; among them the invitation race held at Brooklyn, N. Y., last year.

Bill Prouty has been known best as Pat Dineen's running mate in all his big team races. A most consistent plugger and good money getter.

J. Loden, remembered by his great victory over John Caffery at Boston 1903, when the latter was in his prime.

Harry Prime, a sterling runner of note, and one who is likely to surprise the field.

Ernest Berrio, the diminutive French Canadian of whom not much is known as a marathon runner. Has shown good quality as a middle distance runner.

Matt Maloney, whose greatest claim to championship honor was when he ran from Rye into New York city, supposed to be full distance, in 2 hours 36 minutes. He has victories over Crowley and other good men as an amateur and has done fair work as a professional.

Bill Davis, a full-blooded Indian descended from one of the noblest tribes of red men. Mr. Davis is one of the most intelligent of his race, but has characteristics peculiar to Indians. He is the man who first brought out Longboat, and is first remembered by New Englanders when he forced John Caffery to make a new record over the B. A. A. course to beat him. His victories number hundreds and his last appearance here was when he won the marathon at Revere beach in July of last year.

Ted Crooks gained first prominence as a marathoner when he finished third in the great $10,000 derby at New York. Mr. Crooks showed wonderful gameness in this race; not being considered as a prize winner he stuck doggedly to his task, and though the 30,000 people expected to see him drop out every instant, the stocky former short distance champion stuck to finish and received a large slice of the big money. His last appearance was at Rocky Point, R. I., July 22, when he won the big marathon there on Sunday afternoon.

John Swanberg was amateur marathon champion of Europe for three years. He finished second in the Olympic marathon at Athens in 1906, and third at London in 1908. His first professional marathon was the $10,000 derby at New York in 1909, when he finished second. Since then he has won every marathon he has competed in.

Pat Dineen, considered the world's most consistent performer. He has run more races than any other man now appearing before the public. He was a champion six day runner. Last year with Prouty as his team mate in Madison square garden he made a new world's record for the first 12 hours of a 6 day race. As a marathon runner he has victories over Dorando, Hayes, Lee Morrissey, Crowley and others. He is best remembered in this district by finishing second to the renowned Havis Hoyer at Lowell last labor day.

Umberto Biasi, an Italian runner of note competing with great success throughout the country, on the strength of his beating the great Dorando in the presence of the king and queen of Italy at Rome last year.

F. Panzeri, another Italian, who is little less known than his running mate, Biasi. He has never failed to finish inside the money.

Mayor of Lewiston Named as One of Defendants

LEWISTON, Me. Aug. 25.—George S. McCarty, the republican candidate for county attorney of Androscoggin county, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a suit brought by County Treasurer Frank A. Millett, the democratic candidate for re-election, alleging slander and claiming damages in the sum of $5000.

A suit for the same amount was also brought by Mr. Millett against Mayor Irving L. Merrill of Auburn, republican candidate for sheriff, also charging slander. Mr. Merrill's property was attached, but no arrest was made.

The first suit is based on charges made by Mr. McCarty in a speech at Mechanic Falls Tuesday evening in which it is claimed he charged that Treasurer Millett had altered his records by adding a number "600" to the entry of the payment of $50 by Sheriff Hastings on July 8, 1908, or account of a fine in a liquor case.

The republicans have charged that although the fine in this case was $105.30, the treasurer's records only showed that $55.20 had been paid on account of it, and that on Oct. 7, 1908, Mr. Millett wrote a letter to the press, stating that the whole amount had been paid to him and invited anyone interested to call at his office and see for himself.

Mr. McCarty accepted the invitation

This being the case, Archbishop O'Connell urged the Catholic societies of Boston and the immediate vicinity to make this Columbus day a memorable one, by having a great parade, with the result that the members of the Knights of Columbus, the A. THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The law that forbids suicide should be applied to prevent the double parachute jump.

The opposition to the Lee statue and to the playing of Dixie should be regarded as a sort of hysteria indulged by very nervous people with little or no justification. It does no harm to let the people of the south show a proper respect for their heroes and for their provincial airs.

Some young men can do a whole lot of good and incidentally get himself elected to the legislature by taking up the movement for the proper regulation of the sale of firearms. A law for that purpose would lessen the number of murders and suicides.

THE HIBERNIAN PARADE

The state parade of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held in this city yesterday was in every respect a creditable demonstration of the strength and character of the order.

The parade was undoubtedly one of the largest and best ever seen on the streets of Lowell. It demonstrated in a striking manner what a vast amount of good the Ancient Order of Hibernians is capable of doing for any cause to which its efforts are directed. The arrangements for the parade like the business of the convention were carried out with a spirit of harmony that was highly gratifying to all concerned.

The delegates came here to do business, and they transacted their business in a manner that would do credit to any organization in existence. The order throughout the state is to be congratulated upon the success of yesterday's demonstration.

TO BRING THE PEOPLE TO THE PARKS

In the supervision of our public playgrounds of which we have had a good illustration on the North and South commons this year, the people of Lowell have had an object lesson in the possibility of making our parks far more beneficial to the whole people.

We want parks so interesting that the multitudes will go there. We have started this summer to make this condition a permanent reality.

We have not yet succeeded in attracting the attention of all the people, but if we continue on the same lines as we have started, we shall eventually succeed. It takes considerable time to get the whole people educated to a new idea or a new habit. By repetition alone can this be done and therefore it is the best policy to keep on increasing the utilities of our public parks until all the people get the habit of going there daily for amusement and recreation.

How is this to be done? Simply by providing something in our public parks to benefit, interest and amuse every class of people in our city. We must have attractions for the children. It is not from any mere fad or to satisfy curiosity that metropolitan cities establish zoos. That is done to draw the people to the parks. Such attractions appeal to people of all ages, but especially to children.

The public playground is maintained for a like purpose, although it has the additional advantage of affording a means of healthy exercise and physical development.

For the benefit of mothers and children there should be a shelter to which they can repair for shade or protection from rain. Such shelters are a necessity and in well equipped park systems the shelter has public sanitaries so arranged as to be convenient without any of the objectionable features too often found in connection with such utilities in the past. In addition we find in many of the shelters so provided in public parks a system of shower baths available to the people during the summer season. All these developments of the park system may come gradually, but it is well to look forward to them as realities of the future.

The public swimming pool is another of the requisites to a complete system of public parks. That, too, will soon be available here in Lowell. We shall have one in the new Shedd park and playground and we must have more of them. In fine everyone of our public parks is capable of development for the public benefit far beyond anything here attempted thus far.

The city of Lowell may well begin to assume a leading position in regard to her park system since receiving from Mr. Shedd the magnificent gift of natural park land worth $50,000. We shall have to undertake the responsibility of making that park more beneficial to the public than it would be in its present state. It is capable of vast development with slight expense. It is rich in Nature's wealth of sylvan splendors, the beauty of gently sweeping hill and dale, with brook and meadow, field and glade. Parts of it can be easily flooded and turned into an ice field in the winter and thus afford a place on which the young people can skate without the risk of being drowned. Mr. Shedd is so deeply interested in the development of this park, that if it is taken up in the right spirit by the city, he may do even more than he has yet intimated.

That park should not be left solely for the enjoyment of future generations. Let some of its great possibilities be made available to the people of the present day. That, we are sure, is Mr. Shedd's desire and it is but reasonable and right.

In appealing for a system that will make our parks more attractive and cause them to be visited by ten times as many people as at present, we do not suggest any great expenditure, or any radical departure from the present policy. We simply call attention to a fact that is not generally realized, to wit, that a few additional attractions in the line of public utilities, not necessarily very expensive, would draw the people out in the mass to enjoy the fresh air, the recreation and healthful exercise so much needed by vast numbers of our people. To accomplish this at moderate expense and at the earliest possible moment should be the aim of our park commission.

LOSS IS $100,000

Box Shop at Basin Mills, Me., Burned

ORONO, Me., Aug. 25.—After having been in operation 60 years or more, the saw and box factory of James Walker &amp; Co. at Basin Mills, a part of this town, were totally destroyed by fire late yesterday. The loss is estimated at $100,000 and it is fairly well covered by insurance.

The mill, which probably was the largest of its kind in the state, was deserted except by the watchman. When the fire broke out about 3:30 o'clock, most of the 25 employees and their families were in Bangor at the annual eastern Maine fair. It had been closed for the day that they might go.

Just how the blaze started never will be known as the entire plant was burned to the ground. The watchman cannot explain it. He says he passed through the mill less than three minutes before the flames were discovered and everything appeared as usual.

There were practically no means of fighting the fire, although the Bangor fire department sent an engine and company as a protection to surrounding property and the flames simply consumed the buildings, which were of wooden construction.

AT CANOE LAKE

Manager J. W. Gorman has again outdone himself in the vaudeville show that he has provided for the theatre at Canoe Lake the present week. The show is a very well planned one and runs from start to finish with a snap and vigor that caused rounds of applause from the audience that comfortably filled the theatre at both performances yesterday.

McNish and McNish appear to lead in the fun-making with an original grotesque comedy sketch in which the original Frank J. McNish appears to advantage. He is to be remembered for his recently acquired fame with "Silence and Fun." Hearn and Ester show a decidedly new and novel number of dances of the wooden shoe variety and also grotesque soft shoe dances. Leon and Chapman, comedy novelty entertainers, were very amusing in their fun on the horizontal bar. Mr. Lee's donkey antics being especially funny. The act presented by Berry and Berry was received very favorably and was full of bright comedy situations and some clever songs. Darnold, a wonderful juggler, caused many expressions of amusement at the ease with which he manipulated fire-arms.

The show all through is a decidedly good one and should attract large crowds to this sylvan retreat. The attendance at Canoe Lake Park has been exceptionally large all this summer.

WASHING THE HAIR

There is a Right as Well as a Wrong Way to Do It.

The important thing to observe in washing the hair is to avoid using a soap or shampoo containing an excess of alkali. You must have some knowledge of chemistry before you can tell the difference between good soap and harmful soap. The safest plan is to clean your hair and scalp with Birt's Head Wash, which is broadly guaranteed to be neutral and have no free alkali in it. Moreover, it is mildly medicated with glycerine, salicylic acid, white of eggs and coconut oil. Every one of those things are helpful to the scalp and hair, and by using Birt's Head Wash frequently, the loss of hair is stopped, dandruff disappears and itching ceases. All dirt and disease germs are cleared away, the pores leading to the hair roots are opened up, and renewed life and vigor given to the hair. Try Birt's Head Wash and experience the supreme delight of a perfectly clean scalp.

REPORTED DROWNED

Police Await Body of Schultz Who Was Out On Bail

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—All day yesterday the police and Dist. Atty. Pelletier's assistants looked for arrival of the body of Oscar Schultz, of 88 Hemenway street, Back Bay, who, it was reported, was drowned in Rangely lake, Maine.

Schultz with others was arrested in June charged with stealing from the Walworth manufacturing company. Schultz was released on $500 bonds furnished by his mother, who lives at 84 Lexington street, West Everett, and by a Boston attorney. His case has not yet been called for trial.

One other prisoner in the case, Edward L. Strong, was released on bail in a small amount, and when his case was called in the lower court he was defaulted. There are now indictments against Strong in twenty counts of larceny and of receiving stolen property. Schultz was reported to be in the habit of carrying several hundred dollars in his pockets.

When the case of Schultz was continued he left Boston for the Rangelys on a vacation. A report reached this city Aug. 13 that Schultz had been drowned by the overturning of a boat on the lake. The police and the district attorney's office did not seek to verify Schultz's death. Nothing official was heard from his bondsmen and the matter was permitted to rest.

Some days later another report that Schultz was drowned while out in a launch with a New Jersey life saver and his wife reached this city.

A private detective named Sherman, who happened to be near Rangely lake on a vacation trip, made an investigation. He found that Schultz had been visiting in the vicinity, but he was unable to ascertain anything tangible concerning his being drowned.

Subsequently a man called on the authorities and offered for $500 to locate Schultz's body. He said Schultz was alive and well and living comfortably. A bulletin was posted in the vicinity of Rangely lake announcing a reward of $50 for the recovery of the body of Schultz. The bulletin was unsigned.

The fact that the Maine authorities did not investigate the reported drowning of Schultz appeared significant to the Boston police.

Mrs. Schultz was in Boston at the time it was reported her husband had been drowned.

It is not the business of the police here to interest themselves in the report of the death of Schultz, as he was permitted while on bail to go where he pleased until required to be present in court for arraignment and trial.

Yesterday a report reached this city that the body of Schultz had been recovered and was being brought to the home of his mother at 84 Lexington street, Everett.

THE DEMOCRATS

BELIEVE THAT VICTORY IS POSSIBLE IN MAINE

(New York Evening Post)

There is a wide impression that Maine may be carried this year by the democrats. The party has the best candidate for governor that it has had for a generation, and is nominating better men for all state and county offices than for a long time; while the "insurgent" uprising among republicans, the increasing sentiment against the prohibitory law, and especially against the Shugart enforcement law, and certain specifications of extrajudicial and unpopular appointments against the present republican administration are additional factors. But in spite of all these things and the optimism shown by the democrats, a change in political control in Maine would surprise democrats who know conditions as much as it would republicans. The situation, however, is one that will call forth the most active campaign that the Pine Tree state has seen for many years, and a fine line of spellbinders is on the card. Among the names are those of Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Borah of Idaho, and Representative McCall. Ex-President Roosevelt is being urged to come, but he has not yet consented. The democrats also have many good speakers engaged.

"He talked too much and that annoyed me."

Coon, who is a marine engineer, was taken to a hospital, weak from loss of blood. His wife was held in $4500 bail. She is 57 years old.

THE HARVESTER

Driven by Geers Made a Mile in 2:03 Yesterday

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The grand circuit racing yesterday afternoon was interesting from a New England point of view, because it furnished some idea of what may be expected when the crack harness horses of the country get to Readville next week.

Geers, to sharpen his prize pupil, The Harvester, up for his effort against the watch over Boston's famous two-minute track sent the stallion king a mile in 2:03. This was in the second heat of the free-for-all trot and over a track which is fully a second slower than the best of the big line courses, with an additional handicap of a stiff breeze which swept the hillside oval with much force.

The Harvester was not out of record hunting. It was just a nice workout with a place of it at a two-minute clip. To show the sort of trotter the son of Walnut Hall is right now, Geers moved him the third quarter, the slowest in the track and the one where the wind caught him fair in the face, in 30 seconds.

Three candidates for first money in the $10,000 Massachusetts purse at Readville appeared in the 2:15 trot and with the Indiana peacock, Gamar, they provided a contest that brought the crowd to its feet.

Hallworthy got away with the decision in two rounds, but he had to show that he is not far from a 2:05 trotter and one who likes the racing game.

Billy Burke and Maj. Strong let Gamar snatch second money, but the pony had a bit of luck, or Burke would have landed it and very likely have headed the summary. Denyon had the great 4-year-old in a pocket both heats and in the first had to pull him off his stride to keep from trotting over Hallworthy, when in the second he could not get out soon enough to use his terrific brush to advantage.

The first mile was in 2:08, which was counted a capital performance, but the second in 2:06, was a sureamer with the four contenders horses lapped. Billy Burke had to be satisfied with a division of third and fourth money, but last night the Orange county admiral was around trying to place a lot of money that he wins at Readville next week.

Willy, the European stallion, had no difficulty in winning the second division of the qualifying contest in the wagon race for amateur drivers away from Direct Tone in slow time. The Harvester and Jack Leyburn loafed the first heat of the free-for-all in 2:08, with the chestnut gelding from Philadelphia some little distance back the next trip in 2:05, which is the fastest second heat ever trotted by a stallion. ## ALABAMA COON

Won the Play Out at Fall River

FALL RIVER, Aug. 25.—The Alabama Coon, a Stoughton handout, won the $200 capital prize and the trophy at the 20th annual muster of the New England States Veteran Firemen's league held here yesterday. She threw a stream 24 feet 7 inches, while her nearest competitor, Hancock of Brockton, made 22 feet 3 inches, winning $150, second money. The Hingham veterans won third place and Enterprise of Campbell fourth, winning $100 and $50 respectively. Thirty-three tubs competed.

Previous to the playoff, which was held at South park, there was a parade about the city in which the majority of the competing handouts took part. John A. Connelly was elder marshal.

SAM CRAWFORD, DROVE IN MORE RUNS THAN ANY OTHER PLAYER

DETROIT, Aug. 25.—If an automobile had been offered for the major league player who drove in the most runs instead of the man having the highest batting average at the end of the season, the ball tosser who would have the best chance of getting the car would be "Wahoo Sam" Crawford, the heavy hitting Detroit outfielder. Sam's big stick has been responsible for more runs than any other player in the country. In fact, he is about the hardest hitter in the big leagues today. That's what many of the ball players around the circuit will tell you. Maybe Sam's batting average is not as high as a good many of the other sphere

CROWD OF 3000 FANS

Saw Lowell Give the Haverhill Team a Beating

As soon as the parade was over yesterday the fans made a mad rush for Spalding park for the game with Haverhill, which was held back until 4 o'clock. The game couldn't have been played earlier unless the players and fans all walked out for there were no cars running.

A crowd of 3000 was in attendance and the green was everywhere in evidence. Both teams wore the color of the day and the first ball pitched was a green one, while the first batter used a green bat.

It was expected that Humphrey O'Sullivan would pitch the first ball but he was detained down town and could not attend. On account of the late hour at which the game was started only seven innings were played by agreement and seven were enough for Lowell ran away from the visitors in the first inning and pounded Haverhill for 13 hits in the seven innings.

During the preliminary practice Riley, the Lowell utility man, was struck over the heart by a swift ball and was knocked senseless for a moment. In the fourth inning Tom Dannon became ill and left the game. In the third inning Haverhill got the bases full but failed to score, while in the fourth they got a man as far as third but again failed to send him home. Only four hits were made off Parsons and he walked only one.

On the other hand Lowell got four runs in the first inning. Blakely opened with a base on balls and went to second on a sacrifice by Fitz. Cooney secured him with a single. Magee walked and Tenney got a short hit that filled the bases. Fluharty hit a Texas leaguer to left and the ball taking a bad bound flew made second while Cooney and Magee scored. Tenney going to third. Then Tenney and Boulton worked a pretty "squeeze" play, Tenney scoring while Jack went out on a hunt to O'Toole. Sullivan hit to Cain and died at first.

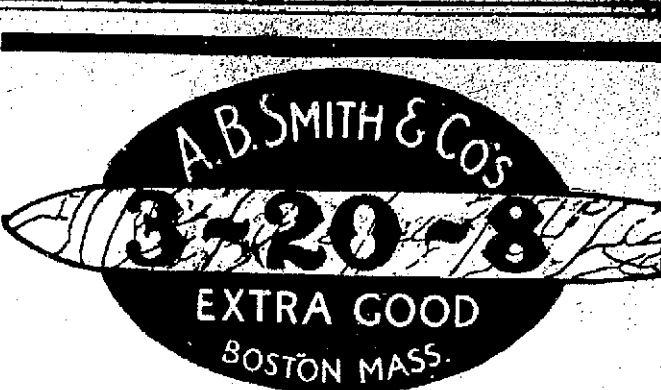

Lowell got two more in third. Magee fanned out for a starter and then Tenney came along with a single, Fluharty to Cain, Boulton hit a fly to Bannon and Tenney got a short hit that filled the bases. BIG CITIES
TAKE BIG INTEREST IN CONSERVATION MOVEMENT

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 25.—The attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor of New York is believed at the offices of the national conservation congress in St. Paul to have delayed the reply to the letter requesting that delegates be sent to the convention Sept. 5 to 9.

It was hoped until word came that Mayor Gaynor planned a trip to Europe that he would lead the New York city delegation to the conservation congress. The New York mayor has not visited St. Paul in years and he would have been assured a warm welcome in this city, where, despite political affiliations, he is regarded as one of the country's big men. Then came the news that he had been shot down and those who foresaw that he would not visit St. Paul were keenly disappointed. Herbert P. Keller, mayor of St. Paul, was among those who regretted that the Gotham mayor would not visit this city.

This year has been received from Chicago and other large cities that they will be represented in the congress. Mayor Fred A. Busse will head the delegation from Chicago and the commercial club and conservation committee of that city will send delegates.

"The big cities have just as much interest in conservation as the country districts," said Thomas E. Shipps, secretary of the congress. "They are interested in the forests, for it is from them that they get their lumber; they are interested in the coal mines, for these supply their fuel; they are interested in the waterpower, for it is being employed more day after day in producing the electric current so material to illumination and locomotion; they favor conservation of the soil, for it produces the great quantities of food they require to supply their thousands; they want the minerals carefully guarded, for the skyscrapers that are going higher and higher each year in cities like New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis, will require tons and tons of steel and iron. In fact the cities are interested in every phase of conservation and they will send delegates to this congress to present their views."

"At the congress in Seattle last year one of the interesting addresses was on 'The Conservation of Manhood.' This subject alone probably is of more interest in the large cities than in the country, where there is less tendency towards crime."

106 MEN MISSING

The Bodies of 22 Settlers Have Been Found

SPOKANE, Aug. 25.—The mystery of the bodies that are being found in the St. Joe cemetery of Idaho probably will be cleared up today when the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound road runs its first passenger train to Avery. One hundred and six men, living in the St. Joe valley, are missing. Twenty-two bodies, supposed to be of settlers, were found yesterday. Several days ago 20 bodies were found scattered over an area of over a mile and it was assumed they were forest employees. Supervisor Weigl including them in his list of dead employees. Last night, however, he declared they were not rangers. Add the number of dead rangers, 74, the 14 bodies found near Avery, the Japanese who perished near Avery, the various known dead in Washington, Idaho and Montana, and the total is 142. This is without taking into account the 135 rangers imprisoned on the head waters of the St. Joe. The appalling loss of life among the forest employees has taken the heart out of the surviving foresters, and an order has been issued not to risk life to save timber. The little fires are being extinguished, but the great fires, to fight which might result in more loss of life, will be allowed to burn themselves out or until the rains extinguish them. In the Coeur d'Alene mining country the fires have exhausted their fuel. Also they have done in the Pend Oreille valley. In the Clearwater country and the thickest timber of the Coeur d'Alene national forest, however, the flames are active as ever. No lumberman or forester will give an estimate of the timber losses. It is believed, however, that the present fires are the most expensive the United States has ever known. An expert railroad builder estimates the loss of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railroad at $2,500,000. The Spokane chamber of commerce has begun the raising of a large relief fund. There are 180 men surrounded in the mountains between Lolo pass and St. Mary's and Major Fenn has sent three guides to pilot them out. Conditions in the Clearwater reserve are hopeless, and Major Fenn has received instructions from the forestry headquarters at Missoula to recall all the fire fighters from the interior of the stricken region and set to work on the outskirts of the fire zone. The message said: "Save the lives of the men and let the timber burn."

TWO LIVES LOST

Excursion Boat Ran Down a Launch

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Two lives were lost early today when the excursion boat Majestic, returning to Newark, N. J., from Coney Island, ran down and sank a launch containing a party of merry-makers in Newark bay. The work of rescue was made difficult by the fast running tide and darkness. Mary Kops and David Sumes were drowned.

SQUATTERS TO GO HAVE BEEN ORDERED TO LEAVE STATE LANDS

ALBANY, Aug. 25.—Adirondack squatters, rich and poor alike, are to be bodily evicted from state land this fall and their camps and dwellings torn down. State Forest, Fish and Game Commissioner James S. Whipple said yesterday during the inquiry into Adirondack land affairs by commissioners appointed by Gov. Hughes. Chief Counsel John K. Ward of Mr. Whipple's department was on the stand all day. He stated that the main object of the department was to protect forests and that the poor squatters had not been put off for the reason that the rich camp squatters could fight the state and stave off action for years, as the attorneys' fees would not amount to any more than camp rental. He declared that some of the squatters had been there legally before the constitutional amendment of 1895 and had no other place to go. A number of them had threatened that if they were put off they would set fire to the forests. It was pointed out that Joseph L. Ladd and David C. Ball of New York city and Forest Inman of Amsterdam were among the squatters on Rackett lake and that Col. W. D. Mann of Town Topics was one of the squatters on a Lake George island. "You should know," said Commissioner Whipple, "that the representatives of the associations formed to protect the forests have agreed that the constitution should be amended to permit the state to lease camp sites on state lands. Such an amendment would permit leases to existing squatters under proper restrictions."

the officers of the order, to Archbishop O'Connell, to Mayor McManis and the city council of Lowell, the Lowell board of trade, the local committee of arrangements, Chief Marshal Humphrey O'Sullivan and James O'Sullivan.

A congratulatory telegram was received from National President James J. Regan of St. Paul at yesterday's session of the convention. Addresses were made by Joseph McLaughlin of Philadelphia and Matthew Cummings, former national president.

Military Per Capita Tax
The greater part of the morning was devoted to a discussion of the proposition to create a three cent per capita tax for the support of the military features of the organization. The motion to adopt a three cent per capita tax was passed shortly after noon.

The last business of the session was the installation of the newly elected officers by State Chaplain Philip J. O'Donnell after which the convention adjourned sine die.

Yesterday Afternoon's Meeting

After the parade yesterday afternoon the delegates to the A. O. H. convention met for the purpose of electing officers. The meeting was held in the society hall and was called to order by State President John J. Rogers. There were over 800 delegates in attendance. There was a big fight for the offices of state president and state vice president and it was well after 8 o'clock before the meeting adjourned.

The first business of the meeting was the reading of the reports of the state secretary and treasurer for the past term.

The report of Secretary Jeffrey E. Sullivan of Fall River was read first, and that of Treasurer Edward J. McCarthy of Westfield immediately followed. Both showed the state divisions to be in flourishing condition both as to finances and membership. The reports were unanimously accepted by the convention, and rising votes of thanks were given to the secretary and treasurer. The report of the latter showed the total expenditure for the past term to be $15,491.51 and the balance on hand as $968.95.

Present as special guests of the convention were Matthew Cummings of Boston, ex-national president; Right Rev. Mr. Arthur J. Teeling of Lynn, and National Vice President Joseph McLaughlin of Philadelphia.

Then came the election of officers. Vice president and secretary were elected by unanimous acclamation. William L. McLaughlin of Worcester was chosen for the first office, having been nominated without competition the evening previous.

For the office of secretary, Jeffrey E. Sullivan of Fall River was reelected. There was a deal of balloting for state president and the last analysis showed that John H. Dillon of Boston had been elected by the majority of 90 votes.

The defeated candidate was John P. Donnelly of Cambridge, president of the Middlesex county divisions. Mr. Dillon has been state vice president during the past term.

In the race for the office of state treasurer were J. J. O'Connor of Holyoke and Edward Long of Randolph. This office was also warmly contested by the two opposing factions. J. J. O'Connor was elected by a small number of votes. Mr. O'Connor is the superintendent of poor relief in Holyoke and is president of the divisions of Hampden county.

The voting was by the Australian ballot system, a committee of nine counted the returns being appointed by President Rogers and the candidates, F. J. Horrigan was the chairman of this committee.

Capt. John H. Dillon of Roxbury was elected state president at yesterday afternoon's session of the biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, in Associate hall, and John H. O'Connor of Holyoke, president of Hampden county, chosen state treasurer. Capt. Dillon defeated John P. Donnelly of Cambridge, president of a big feature of yesterday's parade was the grand showing made by the O. M. U. Cadets. The boys turned out 233 strong, and all along the route were cheered by the thousands of spectators. Headed by Col. Haggerty and his staff, all mounted, they presented the largest number of any organization in line. Included in their numbers were a cavalry, field band, infantrymen, artillery force and ambulance corps. All over the city and especially in Belvidere the cadets were given a hearty reception, and despite the fact that the route was rather a lengthy one the young soldiers held out well and were among the freshest in line when the parade swung into Central street for the final stretch of the march.

Presiding Humphrey O'Sullivan, chief marshal of the parade, when he reviewed the marchers, the cadets gave the regular military salute, and after the review Mr. O'Sullivan expressed himself as extremely pleased at their appearance and said he wished there were thousands, instead of hundreds, of cadets in Lowell. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston also spoke in complimentary terms of the appearance of the boys, and said they reflected great credit on their instruct-the Middlesex county divisions, and Mr. O'Connor won over Edward Long of Randolph.

HIBERNIAN NOTES

Hose 7, Central street, was the only fire house to decorate, and the entire front of the building was neatly adorned. The doors were thrown wide open as the parade passed and the entire company dressed in uniform and armed with huge clappers greeted the paraders as they marched by.

There was some class to that Eighth Regiment Drum and Pipe corps from Lawrence. They could play in a manner that would make any old marcher keep step. They were a husky lot of men and they all had their sleeves rolled up as though they liked their work. Among the drummers was Supt. of Buildings Patsy Hennessy of Lawrence, who in his younger days was a dandy scrapper and went two 12 round draws with Martin Flaherty of this city.

The Arlington Hibernians looked very natty in their white and green uniforms.

Henry Carr entertained the customers at his pool room last evening with a concert of Irish music played on a genuine Irish bagpipe by Samuel Mack of this city.

The crowd was immense and they spent some money while in town.

The glad hand was out for Humphrey O'Sullivan wherever he appeared.

One of the most soldierly appearing bodies in line in the parade yesterday today were the Wolf Tone Guards.

JOHN H. DILLON, Boston, Chosen State President.

JOHN J. O'CONNOR, of Holyoke, State Treasurer.

commanded by Capt. Patrick Fitzgerald. The men preserved a grand alignment throughout the entire parade and won the plaudits of those gathered to witness the demonstration. The company presented full ranks and appeared in dress uniform. General Sullivan of the New Hampshire national guard who was one of the judges of the parade, said that the Wolf Tones are one of the finest military appearing bodies of men he has ever reviewed. Had it not been for the fact that the competition for trophies was limited, Hibernian organizations, undoubtedly the Wolf Tones would have carried off the prize.

Capt. Fitzgerald was presented a beautiful bouquet by the Colonial club.

The reviewing stand that accommodated more than 1000 sightseers during the parade yesterday was taken down, this forenoon and Worthen street, in front of city hall, is again open to travel.

B. J. Dunn of Danvers was the proudest man in Lowell when he was informed that the judges had ordered a ribbon for his beautiful stallion "Success" as the handsomest horse in line. The animal's mane was covered with ribbons and medals secured at the different county fairs of the past few years.

The Central council was fortunate in having for its secretary a hustler like Daniel E. Hogan, the well known insurance and real-estate dealer. For weeks past Mr. Hogan has given his entire time to the plans of the Hibernian week, and he worked indefatigably and with complete success. Mr. Hogan is a native of Lowell and a graduate of the Mann and High schools. For several years he was employed at the library and as an evening school teacher and for a time was bookkeeper for Farrell & Conaton. At present he is a member of the well known firm of Collins & Hogan. Mr. Hogan is a member of Division 1 of this city. He is married and resides at 35 Fort Hill avenue.

Nearly a week ago Patrick Connolly president of Div. 11 and treasurer of the Central council predicted that Division 11 would get the prize for turning out the largest number of men. He knew whereof he spoke, for that division won the prize for numbers. It was a great credit for the division and its president.

All the stores in Little Canada were closed yesterday afternoon in order that the employees and the owners could enjoy the parade, and general celebration. The closing of yesterday will not at all interfere with the regular Thursday half holiday.

A big feature of yesterday's parade was the grand showing made by the O. M. U. Cadets. The boys turned out 233 strong, and all along the route were cheered by the thousands of spectators. Headed by Col. Haggerty and his staff, all mounted, they presented the largest number of any organization in line. the unprecedented record for any play in equal time. Five companies appeared in it simultaneously all last season, more than ever before had acted one play, and the same companies are doing it again this season. The profits to the producers up to the close of last season were more than a quarter of a million dollars. So far this season it has verified the opinion that its popularity would increase yearly. At the end of the season it will have piled up a total of performances and patronage and profits that will be the theatrical wonder of the age. And it deserves to do so. It is one of the greatest, most popular and most entertaining plays of the time. You know this if you've seen it; if not, go to Lakeview theatre, any matinee or evening this week, and be convinced. Matinees are given every day at 2.30. Evenings at 8.15, and seats in advance can be secured at Carter & Sherburne's drug store.

BAND CONCERT
The band concert by the Lowell Military band at city hall, last evening formed another distinct feature of the day and was enjoyed by thousands of people. Conductor William Regan had prepared an excellent program, one fully in accord with the spirit of the day and all of the better known Irish melodies were splendidly played. All of the numbers proved very pleasing to the crowd.

GRANITEVILLE

Saturday, August 27th, will certainly be a big day in this town, for on that day the firemen's field day will be held, and there are all kinds of sports and good things promised for the entertainment of the general public.

The program will commence with the horse races at 2 p.m., during which the following companies will compete for the silver trophy: Edward M. Abbot hose No. 1 of Westford; A. R. Choate hose No. 2 of Graniteville; and the John Edwards hose No. 3 of Forge Village. After the horse contest a fine list of sports will be run off including the matched one mile race between York of Graniteville and Elliott of Forge Village. All of the events will be run off on the main street and be free for everybody. The entries are limited to residents of Westford. After the sports have been run off a banquet will be held in Hogan's hall for the firemen and invited guests. The banquet will be followed by a social dance in the same hall with music by the Colonial orchestra of Lowell. Weather permitting, it will surely be the greatest day of the year, and as the whole affair is in the nature of an "Old Home Day," many of out-of-town people and former residents are expected to attend.

Owing to necessary repairs to be made at the plant the mills of the Abbot Worsted Co. here will be closed from Aug. 27th to Sept. 6th. This will not in any way affect the mill at Forge Village.

W. E. Taylor, the well known tennis player, has recently returned from a very enjoyable vacation spent at York beach.

Miss Eva Monroe Lawton of Lake Shore farm, North Westford, has gone for a few weeks' vacation as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waite of Merrimack. Mr. Waite is a friend of the family and will return to her home in the early fall.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Next spring, or at the end of the current theatrical season, the Vagabonds & Kemper Co., if so minded, can give out some highly interesting statistics. They will bear upon Eugene O'Neill's far famed play, "Told in Pull," and they will indicate how near truth is the prediction that this celebrated American drama will steadily grow in favor and outline in popularity any other on the stage. Such a future is widely prophesied for "Told in Pull," and it seems certain of fulfillment. Judging from the figures it produces. These figures show that during its first two years, up to the end of last season, "Told in Pull" made a record eclipsing that of any other play known to the American stage. More than three million persons had paid to see it, which is

OMAHA WILL INITIATE ROOSEVELT INTO MYSTERIES OF "KNIGHTS OF AK-SAR-BEN"

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 25.—When Col. Roosevelt visits Omaha on Sept. 2 he will be entertained in a manner not mentioned in his itinerary. Several hundred of the loyal citizens of Nebraska have turned the name of their state backward for the purpose of finding a title for a sort of secret society which is known as the "Ak-Sar-Ben." To this society most of the representative men of the Antelope State belong, and each Monday evening they gather in a special auditorium to discuss the civic needs and conditions of the populace. When President Taft was in Omaha the last time he was made a life member of the "Ak-Sar-Ben," and now it is proposed to make the only living ex-president a full fledged member of the society by initiating him according to the ritual of the order. The "Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben" have prepared special oaths for Colonel Roosevelt and arranged scenic and mechanical contrivances for his benefit that are said to frighten the most intrepid hunter, even though not in the wilds of Africa.

CASE IS HEARD A CHILD KILLED

Court Thinks Assault While He Was Chasing a Cigaret Card

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—After a lengthy private hearing before Judge Perkins of the Brookline court yesterday, the case of Mrs. Marie Burt, wife of Capt. W. H. Burt, a paymaster in the U. S. army, who is charged by her former employer, Miss Della Dooley of Jamaica Plain, with assault and battery, was put over until tomorrow.

Miss Dooley, who charges that Mrs. Burt struck her on the shoulder with a chopping knife, causing the blood to flow freely, refused to bare her shoulder when an attorney asked her to. She declared that she had shown her shoulder once previously and she thought that sufficient.

Judge Perkins, at this point, said he had seen the bruise at a previous hearing, and at that time it had nearly healed.

According to the testimony, trouble between Mrs. Burt and Miss Dooley began Saturday evening, Aug. 13, when Capt. and Mrs. Burt left their home to make a call, and asked the servant to sleep upstairs in order to be near their little daughter. When Capt. and Mrs. Burt returned Miss Dooley was sitting up and words between the women followed.

The next morning the servant was discharged. Later she went to the kitchen, Miss Dooley testified. She said Mrs. Burt, after further words, struck her on the shoulder with a chopping knife.

Mrs. Burt testified that Miss Dooley stood in the doorway with the door partly closed when she walked across the room and started to close the door, carrying the knife in her right hand. She placed her left hand on the panel and her right hand, containing the knife, on the key. Mrs. Burt declared, and the servant went out, shaking her hand in a threatening manner.

Mrs. Burt said she did not know whether the door struck the girl or not. Chief Clerk of the Brookline police testified that at a previous hearing Miss Dooley complained that her left arm was painful as a result of a blow, but readily opened the door of the clerk's office with her left hand when she wished to leave the room, in spite of the fact that a strong wind was blowing against the door.

In summing up Judge Perkins said some sort of a technical assault was committed, but that he did not think Mrs. Burt intentionally struck the girl. He said he believed Mrs. Burt must have been upset by trouble with the girl and that she forgot she had the knife in her hand when she started to eject her.

Judge Perkins added that Mrs. Burt had a right to order the girl from the house, and that she was justified in using a certain amount of force. He said that he wished to further consult the statutes before rendering a decision.

UTICA, Aug. 25.—Vice President James S. Woodcock Sherman is to take the stump for the republican party in the middle west, commencing at Clinton, Ill., Aug. 27. The recent connection of his name with the alleged bribery of Senator Gore has evidently not deterred the vice president from going into the heart of the Indian country as will be seen from his itinerary as announced by the republican congressional committee. He will speak at least four times in Oklahoma, and it is thought likely that he will have something to say about graft charges. He will also speak in the same general territory as Colonel Roosevelt, who is selected as temporary chairman of the New York state republican convention.

THE little fellow slipped and fell between the wheels. Polissacovich jumped from the wagon and went to the child's assistance. Dr. Jones of West Broadway was called, but the child was dead before he arrived. The medical examiner found there was a dislocation of the spinal column and a possible fracture of the skull.

The boy's five brothers and their parents were in the house when the body was brought in. Witnesses said Polissacovich was entirely blameless, as he thought he had thrown the picture for enough for the boy to get it.

THE explosion occurred at 10:20 last night, starting, as did most of the many in the past 15 years, in the wheel mill. The first crash was followed at slight intervals by two more heavy explosions as the contents of two other mills standing near blew up. The dead man is Charles Rogers, a night watchman, who lived in Maynard.

James Ray, single, aged 30, was near mill No. 7, and upon hearing the explosion he jumped into the stream which runs through the plant. He was cut in the face by flying debris as he swam about the pool.

The three mills contain valuable machinery, which handles the powder in the second stage in its manufacture, and the loss is estimated at $20,000. The three explosions were heard distinctly in Waltham, Watertown and Wellesley. In Acton and Needham and the towns nearby the residents were for a time greatly alarmed. Windows were broken and dishes thrown from shelves and walls, while the houses shook as if passing through a severe earthquake.

In the houses nearest the powder mill, however, although it is almost a mile from the nearest dwellings, residents were jarred in their beds, while the houses threatened for a second or two to fall to pieces.

The cause of the accident will probably never be known. So highly explosive are some of the powders manufactured, that the presence of any foreign substance or the slightest jar is enough to set off an explosion.

No one was injured, although the task of fighting the flames was exceedingly perilous on account of the dangerous explosives in large quantity on every hand.

In 1908 there were three explosions in the month of December, the last, on Dec. 24, resulting in the loss of one life and the destruction of 10,000 pounds of powder, valued at $20,000.

INQUEST SOUGHT ON DEATH THAT OCCURRED IN 1902 BOSTON, Aug. 25.—A petition was filed yesterday with Dist. Atty. Barker of the southeastern district of Massachusetts asking for an inquest on the death of Daniel Murphy, who was found dead in a wooded area on the estate of Eben W. Reed in Brookline, Sunday morning Feb. 23, 1902.

The petition bears the signatures of several residents of Needham who knew Murphy and of a number of Boston lawyers. They are: Thomas Sutton of Needham, Mrs. Hans Johnson, J. Joseph Warren, Thos. Maher of Boston, George W. Southward of Needham, Charles H. Sutton, Frederick D. Sutton, George L. Kingsbury, Patrick Gaudin, Francis S. Gay, Thos. J. Crossman, Edgar H. Powers, Hans Johnson, George K. Clark, Howard A. Crossman, Chester E. Deving, Albert A. Miller, H. M. Burton, H. J. Hussey, Albert Garreau and Albert E. Miller.

The petition is said to be a forerunner of suits by the heirs-at-law of Murphy to recover property that it is believed he possessed at the time of death.

Daniel Murphy had lived in Needham and was a professional nurse who had been employed by Eben W. Reed of 1 Reserve lane, Brookline, up to the time of his death. He was last seen alive several hours before his body was found with the skull fractured.

MILLS BLOWN UP

One Man Killed and Several Other Persons Injured

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—With a detonation so heavy that windows were broken and houses shaken as far as 20 miles away and resident alarmed, three of the powder mills of the American Powder Mill company in Maynard, near the Acton line blew last night, killing one man and injuring several others, though not fatally.

The explosion occurred at 10:20 last night, starting, as did most of the many in the past 15 years, in the wheel mill. The first crash was followed at slight intervals by two more heavy explosions as the contents of two other mills standing near blew up. The dead man is Charles Rogers, a night watchman, who lived in Maynard.

FELL OVER LEDGE

Pastor of Church Was Killed
Instantly

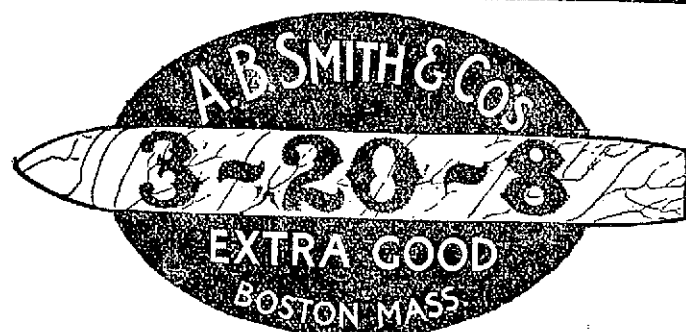

PITTSFIELD, Aug. 25.—Rev. Dr. Vall Wilson Davis, pastor of the First Congregational church of Pittsfield, was instantly killed by falling over a ledge at Bash Blah Falls in the town of Mount Washington, about a mile from the New York state line, today. Dr. Davis, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Fannie Stearns Davis, fell twenty feet to the bottom, striking on his head and breaking his neck.

FOUR UNDER ARREST

They are Suspected of Being Pickpockets

Inspector Martin Maher, Patrolman Jeremiah Dooley, assisted by ticket agent John Corcoran of the Northern depot, made what may prove to be an exceedingly important capture of four alleged pickpockets at the Northern station this afternoon. The four were brought to the station, and when they were searched one of them had in his pocket 9 railroad tickets for various cities and towns in New Hampshire, Maine and lower Canada. He also had programs and advertisements of the Sherbrook fair and various agricultural fairs in New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont, and clippings from various newspapers giving information about church reunions and outings which are to take place in the near future in and near Boston. Among these were the annual outing and reunion of the parish of the Sacred Heart of Boston, and the church of the Holy Redeemer. The other three were armed in about the same style, but absolutely denied any notion of wrong doing.

Spalding Park Today

LOWELL	-	-	1	0	1	0	2	0	0	5	X --- 9
HAVERHILL	-	-	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	--- 1

There were about 600 fans at Spalding park this afternoon to witness the second game between Lowell and Haverhill. The lineup of the teams was practically the same as yesterday. The only change being in the batteries. Yount was on the mound for Lowell while Morgan did the twirling for the Haverhill aggregation and Jackley was on the receiving end of the battery.

The single umpire system was used and Connolly was the decision maker. When he called the game at three o'clock the batting order of the teams was given out as follows:

Lowell: Blakely, cf; Fitzpatrick, 2b; Cooney, ss; Magee, lf; Tenney, 1b; Fluharty, rf; Boultie, 3b; Sullivan, c; Yount, p.

Haverhill: 2b, Hagan; cf, Bannan; rf, Moore; 1b, Poulke; lf, Merrill; 3b, Cain; ss, Anderson; c, Jackley; p, Morgan.

First Inning

Lowell broke the ice in the first inning by sending one man over the plate while the down-river players failed to make good. Hagan was the first man up and he reached first on a single to right garden, but when he tried to steal second Sullivan by a perfect throw palled him. Bannan hit to Yount and failed to reach first. Moore singled to left field but was caught while trying to steal second. In the latter half of the inning Blakely opened with a free pass. Fitz sent a fly in Morgan's territory but the latter fumbled and the runner was safe at first while Blakely meandered to second. Cooney sacrificed and advanced the men on base. Magee sent a sacrifice fly to Moore and Blakely scored. Tenney hit Morgan and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Second Inning

Nothing doing in the second. Foulke singled and went to second on Merrill's sacrifice, but he died there, for Cain all pleaded innocence and maintained that they are purveyors of novelties, and one of them said he was engaged in selling "films" and "nickelodeons."

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Third Inning

In the third inning Jackley hit to Cooney and was out at first and Morgan hit to Yount and was retired at the initial bag. Hagan reached first on an error by Poulke and stole second. A free pass gave Bannan first base. Moore made a hit and Hagan scored. Bannan and Moore then worked a double steal, but a few minutes afterwards Foulke was called out on strikes. Fitz fled to Cain and Cooney followed with a single to left and Magee was second out on a fly to Cain. Tenney fled to Hagan but the latter dropped the ball. Fluharty singled to centre field, scoring Cooney while Tenney went to third. Boultie struck out.

Score—Lowell 2, Haverhill 1.

Fourth Inning

The fourth was short and sweet. Merrill and Cain were retired on strikes while Anderson hit to Cooney and retired at first. Sullivan hit to Cain and died at first and Yount hit to left field for a two-bagger. Blakely fled to Bannan who made a pretty catch and the latter threw the ball to second for a double play on Yount.

Score—Lowell 2, Haverhill 1.

Fifth Inning

In the fifth inning Jackley fled to Fluharty and Morgan was out on strikes. Hagan singled to centre field but Bannan hit to Boultie and was out at first.

Two more for Lowell in the latter half of the inning. Fitz opened with a three-bagger to the centre field fence and scored on Cooney's sacrifice fly to Moore. Magee singled to left field but was caught while trying to steal second. Tenney bunted along the third base line and beat the ball to first for a hit. Cain threw hard to first and Tenney was out at first. Blakely singled to centre field scoring Tenney. Fluharty started to go to second on the throw home but Morgan intercepted the ball and threw him out.

Score—Lowell 4, Haverhill 1.

Sixth Inning

In the sixth inning Moore fled to Cooney and Poulke hit to Cooney and was out at first. Merrill singled and Cain hit to Boultie who threw Merrill out at second.

Boultie fled to Cain. Sullivan drew a base on balls but was thrown out while trying to steal second. Yount went out on strikes.

Score—Lowell 4, Haverhill 1.

Seventh Inning

In the seventh inning Anderson was robbed of a hit by Fluharty who made a pretty running catch of a ball off the former's bat. Jackley singled to centre field and Morgan struck out, while Hagan, who followed, hit to Fitz and died at first.

In Lowell's half Blakely struck out and Fitz hit to Anderson and was out at first. Cooney hit over second base and Hagan made a one hand stop and threw him out at first.

Score—Lowell 4, Haverhill 1.

Eighth Inning

Bannan fled to Cooney. Moore hit to Cooney and died at first while Poulke was retired on strikes. Magee hit one too hot for Hagan to handle and he reached first. Tenney bunted down the first base line and beat the ball to first for a hit. Fluharty advanced both men with a sacrifice. Boultie singled to right field scoring Magee. The ball was thrown home but Jackley allowed it to go by him and Tenney also scored. Sullivan singled to left field scoring Boultie. Yount knocked the ball to the farthest end of the field for a three-bagger, scoring Sullivan. If Yount had traveled a little faster he could have made a home run. Blakely hit to Morgan and the latter knocked the ball down and Hagan fled to first in time to get the runner but Yount scored. Fitz singled to left field. Cooney fled to Jackley.

Score—Lowell 9, Haverhill 1.

Ninth Inning

In the ninth inning Merrill struck out. Cain struck out. Anderson fled to Boultie.

Score—Lowell 9, Haverhill 1.

Hits—Lowell 15, Haverhill 4.

Errors—Lowell 1, Haverhill 4.

Mr. William Mahoney of Pleasant street is enjoying a hunting and fishing trip in Maine. Mr. Mahoney has located his camp close to the boundary line and is enjoying himself immensely. The fishing, he reports, is grand, and he is making large catches. ## WRIT OF MANDAMUS

Lawrence City Council to Meet to Elect a Mayor

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Attorney General Dana Malone today affixed his signature to a petition to the Massachusetts supreme court, asking for a writ of mandamus to compel acting Mayor Thomas M. Jordan of Lawrence to call a meeting of the common council of that city in order that it may take action on going into joint convention with the board of aldermen for the purpose of electing a mayor to succeed former Mayor White, who is serving a three-year sentence in jail for bribery. It was expected that the petition would be filed in the supreme court this afternoon by City Solicitor Murphy of Lawrence.

The attorney general did not sign the petition for a writ of mandamus until acting Mayor Jordan had repeatedly declined to call a meeting of the common council at his own volition. The acting mayor explained that he is, and always has been ready to call the common council into session whenever they ask him to do so, but as the members of the council are now taking their summer vacation he did not think he ought to disturb them except upon their own request.

After hearing the evidence in the matter Attorney General Malone said that in his opinion acting Mayor Jordan ought to call a meeting of the common council, and he suggested Sept. 6 as the date, this being the day on which the next meeting of the board of aldermen will be held. Acting Mayor Jordan, however, said that he wished to be consistent in his own position, and declined to issue the call. The attorney general then affixed his signature to the petition.

WM. A. LARNED

Again Won the Tennis Championship

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25.—For the fourth consecutive time and for the sixth time in his career as a tennis player, William A. Larned of Summit, N. J., today won the challenge match of the singles championship of the United States, defeating Thomas C. Bundy of Los Angeles, Cal., on the Casino courts today, 6-1, 5-7, 6-0, 6-8, 6-1. The brilliant tennis displayed by the California youth threatened for a time the laurels of Larned, the 40 year old veteran, but the champion's reserve power enabled him to win the fifth and deciding set, 6-1, when Bundy was apparently so greatly exhausted by his earlier efforts as to be no match whatever for the older player. Those who jammed the grandstand and the lawns at the Casino to the overflow point today saw the best brand of tennis displayed. Larned's superiority at every department of the game was well shown in the opening set, but Bundy's work was of the first class, even though he was plainly outclassed.

In the second set the challenger steadied down somewhat and by taking long chances on drives at the side and base lines just out of Larned's reach won a hard fought 12 game set. These tactics were tried by Bundy in the third set, but his shots were not accurate and most of the champion's points were made on errors of the challenger.

Splendid generosity at critical times, aided by lobbying of the brilliant order, gave Bundy the fourth set, 3-6, but the exertion had weakened him and he was so exhausted when the fifth set was begun that Larned won both the set and the match, Bundy taking only one game in the set. Summary: National singles championship—Challenge round—William A. Larned, Summit, N. J., defeated Thomas C. Bundy, Los Angeles, Cal., 6-1, 5-7, 6-0, 6-8, 6-1.

"DAN" McCAFFREY

PRESENTED GOLD HEADED CANE BY LAWRENCE FRIENDS

During the second act of "The Pride of the Ranch," Joseph J. Flynn's sparkling musical comedy at Glen Forest theatre Monday night, Dan McCaffrey, the well known and popular comedian, was presented with a gold-headed, ebony cane by a number of his Lawrence friends and admirers. The presentation was made by Lewis S. Powers, a member of the company.

Mr. McCaffrey responded in a choked voice, and thanked the donors.

The cane bears the following inscription: "Presented to Mr. Daniel McCaffrey, by his Lawrence, Mass., friends August 22, 1910."

"The Pride of the Ranch" is a musical comedy of the western style, and one can imagine himself in the Golden West during the two acts of the play which are interspersed with bright comedy and musical numbers and songs. The company is an exceptionally clever one, and well merits the approval shown by the audience.

The slugging of Miss Powers, Mr. Lasee and Mr. Randall won the greatest outburst of applause seen or heard at the park this season. Lewis Powers was compelled to respond several times with his parodies, which with the work of Dan McCaffrey as Judge Lovetoddy kept the audience in a continuous uproar of laughter.

Lively Fight in Lewis Street
This Afternoon

Peter Kanokios is confined to his home in Lewis street with two severe and painful wounds in his left hand and another in his right shoulder, caused by a knife used, it is said, by one Peter Demosky, and said Demosky is now occupying a cell in the police station.

Special Officer Regis and Patrolman George Abbott were quickly on the scene, and upon a thorough investigation with the officers found that there had been a fight in the house occupied by the injured man. The defendant and he got into a quarrel about some matter pertaining to the government of the Greek colony, and came to blows. It is alleged, whereupon the defendant took out a knife and made four

MUTINY IS CHARGED

Five Young Bay State Men Were Lodged in Jail

BALTIMORE, Aug. 25.—Charged with mutiny on the high seas, five young men of Massachusetts were lodged in jail here yesterday after having been brought 3000 miles to answer for their alleged crime. They give their names as William D. Albert of New Bedford, Charles E. Mitchell, E. W. Lilley of Lowell, Charles Turner of Cambridge, and Coroner E. White of Somerville. Also in custody are John Haddock of Fall River and Jeremiah McCarthy of Boston, two others of the crew, who are held as witnesses.

The men reached this city yesterday afternoon on the revenue cutter Appache, to which they were transferred last night from the vessels of the midshipmen's practice squadron, now at the Patuxent, on which they were brought from the Azores at the request of the U. S. consul stationed there. They had been placed in his custody by Capt. Antonio C. Crovelo of the whaler Pedro Varela of New Bedford.

Were Brutally Treated

The specific allegation against the men is that they disabled the Varella by mutilating the windlass and throwing it overboard, making it necessary to take the vessel into port for repairs. This the five men under arrest acknowledge, adding the allegation that they were brutally treated, and altogether inadequately fed, and that their protest to Capt. Crovelo was disregarded.

The prisoners are all young men and seemingly ignorant of the gravity of the crime with which they are charged, the penalty for which is a prison sentence of indefinite length.

The Varella sailed from New Bedford April 27 last, for a two-years' cruise, with a crew of 37. The men claim they were so miserably fed that on July 3 they complained to the captain, who is said to have replied: "If this doesn't suit, go somewhere else and get better."

The men arrested say it was to compel the captain to take them "somewhere else" that they might be able to "get better" that they threw the windlass overboard.

On July 4 the captain and Portuguese mates broke up two games of cards the men were playing. Two days later the windlass was disabled. All the men on watch were put in irons and so kept until Haddock and McCarthy made statements implicating the men under arrest here. The latter are said to have been kept in irons 28 days, until their arrival at Fayal, Azore islands, during which time their fare, they declare, consisted of a piece of hardtack and a pot of water daily.

The men were given a preliminary hearing by U. S. Commissioner Bond on board the Appache before being brought to this city.

What Some of the Men Say

The five accused young men were cheerful and delighted to be in "God's country," as one of them expressed it. "Honestly," said Haddock, "I'd rather serve ten years in jail than to be on that whaler," and he laughed with delight at the idea.

"I have been on a whaler before, but I never had any such experience," said Albert, who is a bright, intelligent fellow. "From the very start, the conditions on the schooner were not pleasant. The afterguard and many of the others of the crew were Portuguese and they made it mighty unpleasant for us."

Albert then told of the alleged bad treatment they received, saying that the food was unfit to eat and that the water was impregnated with oil. "Just think of starting to sea for a two-years' voyage with three hars of soap on board," he said, "for that was all there was on her. Our allowance of water was scant, especially for clothes washing. We got enough to drink, but it wasn't fit to drink."

LOST DIAMOND

BUT INSPECTOR RECOVERED IT IN SHORT TIME

FIVE ISLANDS, Me., Aug. 25.—Charles Ryan of Boston, U. S. inspector of customs, who has been spending his vacation here with H. H. McLaughlin of Boston and Daniel Harrington of Hallowell, Me., was given a severe case of blues early yesterday morning, but recovered during the day, and last night was treating his friends to a choice brand of cigars.

The party started out fishing yesterday morning and when off Mink Island, where the cod seemed to be biting best, Mr. Ryan suddenly felt his diamond ring, valued at $350, slipping from his finger. Before he could save it he saw it slowly working its way to the ocean's bottom.

The party was undecided just how they could rescue the ring, but came to Bath to make arrangements for securing a powerful magnet which would attract the diamond ring to the surface. Instead, however, they were recommended the services of a diver and engaged Scott Tibbets of Woolwich.

Hardly had Mr. Tibbets' feet touched bottom than he saw the glitter of the diamond. He at once signaled to be hauled to the surface and returned the prize to Mr. Ryan, who was the happiest man at this summer colony.

GRAFT IS CHARGED

Alleged That Salem Employees Were Nulcted of Pay

SALFEM, Aug. 25.—Allegations submitted by Mayor Howard to Herbert F. Wilkins, chairman of the municipal committee on public property, that L. T. Bassett has been collecting wages earned by other city employees and retaining some of the money created a sensation in this city when it became known yesterday. The committee on public property will hold a special meeting in the city hall at 7:45 next Monday evening for the purpose of making a thorough investigation.

An interview with Col. John Pollock, superintendent of the public property department, developed the information that L. T. Bassett is employed with others in the installation of machinery for the manual training school to be established in the new high school building on Highland avenue, Arthur B. Newhall, who has been elected instructor in the proposed new school, is employed by the school board at a salary of $11 per month to superintendent the placing of the machinery in the building.

It is further stated by Col. Pollock that Bassett and others were originally in the service of the high school commission, and that when the building was transferred to the custody of the public property committee that the men in the service of the commission were retained by the public property department and all were listed as city employees with the amount of wages they were to receive.

Mayor Howard's Charges

Mayor Howard in his letter to Herbert F. Wilkins, says, among other things: "On Aug. 19 a Mr. J. A. Ritchie called upon me and stated that he had been employed on the installing of the manual training department apparatus in the high school building as a carpenter at a salary of $18 per week, and that he understood that W. M. Royal at city pay roll shows that the men are each receiving $24 per week."

The mayor in explanation of his letter says "that Ritchie is in the employ of Bassett and that the supervision of the work is under the direction of Mr. Newhall, the new manual training teacher."

Probe of Case Promised

It is further stated by the mayor that on "Aug. 5, Bassett paid Ritchie $15, telling him that was all he was entitled to. The next week, Aug. 12, Ritchie became suspicious and went to the service of the high school commission, and that when the building was transferred to the custody of the public property committee that the men in the service of the commission were retained by the public property department and all were listed as city employees with the amount of wages they were to receive."

Says the mayor: "It will be recalled that when Mr. Newhall was selected for the position it was stated that he was receiving a salary of $2000 in Lynn; that he had been offered $2200 elsewhere, yet was willing to come to Salem for $1800 a year."

It is claimed by the mayor that he called on W. M. Royal Tuesday evening and learned from him that he had received but $42 from Bassett, while the payroll in the city hall shows that he had received $72."

The mayor further says that the paper submitted by Bassett to Ritchie for signature was presented to be a receipt for money received. It was subsequently learned that Ritchie signed an order authorizing Bassett to draw Ritchie's wages at the city hall. Ritchie has endeavored to regain possession of the paper signed by him, but so far as known has not been able to do so.

Mr. Wilkins of the public property department says "the matter will be probed to the bottom." City Solicitor Coolidge says that "in case the allegations made by the mayor against Bassett are maintained the latter is guilty of larceny." It is not known whether court proceedings will be instituted against Bassett or not.

By Agreement Says Bassett

Linton P. Bassett, who lives at 38 Federal street, when seen last night concerning Mayor Howard's charges, said: "Mayor Howard is in error regarding my accountability, as it is my brother who made the contract to do the machinery work at the new high school building."

Linton P. Bassett is one of the number employed by his brother at the high school house, however. He says

EIGHT WERE KILLED

Passenger Trains in Collision Near Durand, Michigan

FLINT, Mich., Aug. 25.—In a rear-end collision between passenger trains Nos. 4 and 14, both east bound, on the Grand Trunk railroad two miles east of Durand last night, eight persons are known to have been killed, three were probably fatally injured and five were seriously hurt. It was reported early today that four passengers are missing. Train No. 14 stopped to repair a defective brake when No. 4 crashed into the sleeper on the standing track. The engine of No. 4 ploughed half way through the sleeper, crushing to death some of the sleeping passengers. The wreck of the sleeper caught fire and others of the passengers were burned or scalded. It is said there were 18 passengers on the ill-fated car.

When the forward train stopped a brakeman went back to signal the train behind but the explosion of the torpedo was placed on the track as a warning was heard too late by the engineer of the No. 4 train to stop his train. As fast as they were recovered from the ruins of the burned sleeper the bodies of the dead were taken to Durand. Some of the injured were also taken to that village and others were brought to the hospital in this city.

The dead bodies recovered during the night are two unidentified women, one about 50 years old and the other about 60, and six persons whose bodies were so badly scalded and burned as to render identification impossible.

The probably fatally injured are: Clinton Davis, 37, of Montreal, scalded and cut about the head and body; George Nelson, of Battle Creek, fireman on train No. 4, scalded and cut; and Bert Mitchell, of Fort Huron, engineer on train No. 14, who was injured about the head.

The body of one of the two dead women may be that of Mrs. Davis, mother of Clinton A. Davis of Montreal, who was injured. Mrs. Davis was an invalid traveling with her son and a nurse. The other woman's body that was recovered is said to be too large to fit the description of the nurse. Miss Helms, 28 years old, of Chicago, was brought to Hurly hospital here injured internally.

Ince of Hunan, where life had been made unbearable for them. The unreasonableness is not anti-Christian and not particularly anti-foreign except that the blame for the increasing taxes is laid at the door of new innovations introduced by foreigners. The official classes are more directly blamed than the foreigners for the greatly increased cost of living. There can be no precise reason made of the result of the widespread dissatisfaction, states Mr. Brown, but it offers great opportunities for the spread of Christianity.

PARIS, Thursday, Aug. 18.—The aeroplane industry has developed in France with as much rapidity as did the manufacture of automobiles in the infancy of that machine and now there are in France a number of well equipped aeroplane factories turning out machines to their full capacity. A little over a year ago there were less than 100 aeroplanes in all Europe, principally in France, but statistics of constructors show that since the first cross channel flight, Bleriot has built 250 duplicates of the monoplane with which he crossed from Calais to Dover, and Farman has manufactured at his works over a hundred airplanes. Other types bring the French production up to about 500, which have sold for something over $2,500,000. The small Bleriot sold at first for $2000, but after its success in crossing the channel the price was raised, and the latest type now cost from $3100 to $5100. The outlying prices of other important makes are: for the Farman $5600, for the Voisin $4600, for the Antinette $5000, for the Wright, which is manufactured here under an arrangement with the inventor, $5000, and for the Sommer machine $5000.

TO MEET PRESIDENT
BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Headed by Rev. Heinrich Swenda, rector of the University of Vienna, the Wiener Akademische Gesangsverein (the chorus of the University of Vienna) which is in the eastern part of the United States for a short sojourn visited this city today and received a hearty welcome. There were over 200 tourists in the party. Shortly after arriving they were taken on a sightseeing trip through the city to Cambridge. While in the latter city the chorus went to Harvard college and was received by President Lowell and President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot. A trip to Beverly by invitation to meet President Taft was taken by the entire party this afternoon.

THE BLUE ARMY
PINE CAMP, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Blue army captured Pine Camp yesterday. Two squadrons of the Tenth cavalry, under command of Maj. Charles H. Greers, cleverly turned the flank of the Red line and established a commanding position from which they could not be dislodged.

THE BRICKLAYERS
NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 25.—Few bricklayers went to work at the various mills this morning, showing their sympathy for the strike of the laborers in this way. At the H. P. Converse company's plant there was not a bricklayer at work, while but eight reported for work at the Sharp mill.

GREAT SUCCESS

Fete in Aid of St. Louis' Parish

The members and friends of St. Louis' parish were out in force last night, when the long looked for fete champetre opened in a blaze of glory on the spacious grounds between the church and the parochial school. The grounds were enclosed with canvas, and a temporary fence was erected. The attendance for the first night was all that could be desired.

The grounds were turned into what might be termed an up-to-date, brightly sparkling "white way." The first thing to strike the eye of the visitor was the magnificent arch at the entrance to the grounds, the columns of which were entwined with red, white and blue outlined with incandescent bulbs and the whole surrounded with the word "Blenvenue" spelled out in resplendent electric bulbs.

The attractions were varied and pleasing. The Garde Frontenac gave a military drill. An operetta, "Les Cordons Bleus," was presented under the big tent by Mrs. Ollivier. David, Misses Gratielle Dupuis, Regina Caron and Lucie Drouin. Pratie and Elsie did acrobatic stunts, and Joseph Clément rode a bicycle on a tight wire. A clever vaudeville show was presented also by Hector McDonald, Antonio Trudeau, Ernest Trudeau, Theodore Lussier, Victor Cordeau, Leo Baillou, with Arthur J. Drouin at the piano.

The young men of the Cercle St. Louis were the organizers of the fete, assisted by all the sodalities of the parish. The general committee in charge consisted of: Philippe E. Chabot, president; Alphonse Landry, vice president; Joseph A. N. Chretien, secretary and treasurer; Adelard Lequin, Hector Dupuis and Rev. Abbe R. A. Fortier, chaplain of the circle.

The young ladies of the children of Mary had charge of the candy, flower and ice cream tables, under a general committee composed of: Misses Alex. Lambert, vice president; Albina Renaud, secretary; Caroline Fortier, treasurer; Marie Graton, Marthe Favreau, Marie Boucher, Eva Caron and Hermeline Ducharme. ## Tells Interesting Story of a Trip Covering 21 States and Three British Provinces — He Was Accompanied by His Wife and Daughter

Dr. G. Forrest Martin, chairman of the Lowell board of health, has returned from a trip in which he covered twenty-one states and three British provinces. Dr. Martin attended the annual meeting of the National Homeopathic society, held at Pasadena, Calif., and after the meeting he continued his interesting travel. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter and the trip was as pleasant as it was interesting. The entertainment provided by the profession and chambers of commerce in different cities was so elaborate as to almost baffle description. It was one continuous round of sight-seeing and other pleasures.

Dr. Martin says that "boost" is the keynote in the west and that is why we of the east hear so much about the prosperity and opportunities in the west. A great deal of it is based on "twing," but the doctor says that they keep everything at "it" and they have talked it so much that they believe it themselves.

Asked if the west seemed prosperous, Dr. Martin replied that it was prosperous in places. "I wish," he said, "that the people in the east would pattern a little after the westerners. You never hear a fellow in the west say that there is anything the matter with his home town. They boast, they don't knock and when a visitor strikes a city in the west he is shown the things that are pleasing to the eye and apparently prosperous. He is not shown the bad places or the sad things."

Dr. Martin attended the annual meeting of the National Homeopathic society, held at Pasadena, Calif., and after the meeting he continued his interesting travel. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter and the trip was as pleasant as it was interesting. The entertainment provided by the profession and chambers of commerce in different cities was so elaborate as to almost baffle description. It was one continuous round of sight-seeing and other pleasures.

Dr. Martin says that "boost" is the keynote in the west and that is why we of the east hear so much about the prosperity and opportunities in the west. A great deal of it is based on "twing," but the doctor says that they keep everything at "it" and they have talked it so much that they believe it themselves.

Asked if the west seemed prosperous, Dr. Martin replied that it was prosperous in places. "I wish," he said, "that the people in the east would pattern a little after the westerners. You never hear a fellow in the west say that there is anything the matter with his home town. They boast, they don't knock and when a visitor strikes a city in the west he is shown the things that are pleasing to the eye and apparently prosperous. He is not shown the bad places or the sad things."

Dr. G. Forrest Martin, chairman of the Lowell board of health, has returned from a trip in which he covered twenty-one states and three British provinces. ## HIGH TAX RATE

Is Cause of a Slight Uprising in China

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Oppressive taxation and the greatly increased cost of living in China are the causes of a restless and slight uprising among the natives throughout the whole empire, according to advices received at headquarters of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society here. The reports came from Dr. Brown, son of Nathan Brown, the famous pioneer missionary of Assam and Japan. Dr. Brown stated that Kullung, a large summer central China resort, was crowded for a time with refugees from the provinces of Hunan, where life had been made unbearable for them. The unreasonableness is not anti-Christian and not particularly anti-foreign except that the blame for the increasing taxes is laid at the door of new innovations introduced by foreigners. The official classes are more directly blamed than the foreigners for the greatly increased cost of living. There can be no precise reason made of the result of the widespread dissatisfaction, states Mr. Brown, but it offers great opportunities for the spread of Christianity.

Won War Game at Pine Camp

PINE CAMP, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Blue army captured Pine Camp yesterday. Two squadrons of the Tenth cavalry, under command of Maj. Charles H. Greers, cleverly turned the flank of the Red line and established a commanding position from which they could not be dislodged.

The battle was hotly fought and realistic to a degree. Even after the Blue forces had turned the Red flank, fighting continued within camp limits, and only ended among the big tents of the quartermaster's department. There, a troop of the Tenth cavalry planted two machine guns to cover their hard-won position. Two companies of engineers tried in vain to dislodge them, while all about a hand-to-hand conflict of cavalrymen surged back and forth in the company streets. The Red troopers contested every inch of ground, but were beaten.

The militia manoeuvres took place yesterday afternoon. Thus far there have been no combined militia manoeuvres, but each regiment has worked out its own problems.

Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant and Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant, 3rd, were the guests tonight of Gen. Frederick Grant, who gave a reception to his officers in their honor.

While in the latter city the chorus went to Harvard college and was received by President Lowell and President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot. A trip to Beverly by invitation to meet President Taft was taken by the entire party this afternoon.

AEROPLANES

PARIS, Thursday, Aug. 18.—The aeroplane industry has developed in France with as much rapidity as did the manufacture of automobiles in the infancy of that machine and now there are in France a number of well equipped aeroplane factories turning out machines to their full capacity. A little over a year ago there were less than 100 aeroplanes in all Europe, principally in France, but statistics of constructors show that since the first cross channel flight, Bleriot has built 250 duplicates of the monoplane with which he crossed from Calais to Dover, and Farman has manufactured at his works over a hundred airplanes. Other types bring the French production up to about 500, which have sold for something over $2,500,000. The small Bleriot sold at first for $2000, but after its success in crossing the channel the price was raised, and the latest type now cost from $3100 to $5100. The outlying prices of other important makes are: for the Farman $5600, for the Voisin $4600, for the Antinette $5000, for the Wright, which is manufactured here under an arrangement with the inventor, $5000, and for the Sommer machine $5000.

It is Alleged That a Compact Was Made

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 25.—A sensational claim involving an alleged murder compact, was made in the superior court yesterday in explanation of why a promissory note was given. August Freidricks swore that the price he set for killing William Schmitt's wife was $512.

Schmitt sued Freidricks on a promissory note. As a result of the suit the defendant was arrested and was before the court on a motion to be released from arrest and to be discharged from bail.

Freidricks was charged with fraud in connection with the note. The ad damnum in the suit was $500. After hearing considerable testimony Judge Lee denied the motion.

Freidricks on the witness stand denied that he owed Schmitt anything. Judge Lee asked him why he gave the promissory note for $500 if such was the case. Freidricks replied he wanted Schmitt to have something to show. When pressed further for a reason he said that he had undertaken a contract to kill Schmitt's wife.

"Did you kill her?" asked Judge Lee. "No, I didn't kill her," answered Freidricks.

SLANDER CHARGED

Mayor of Lewiston Named as One of Defendants

LEWISTON, Me., Aug. 25.—George S. McCarty, the republican candidate for county attorney of Androscoggon county, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a suit brought by County Treasurer Frank A. Millett, the democratic candidate for re-election, alleging slander and claiming damages in the sum of $5000.

A suit for the same amount was also brought by Mr. Millett against Mayor Irving L. Merrill of Auburn, republican candidate for sheriff, also charging slander. Mr. Merrill's property was attached, out on arrest was made.

The first suit based on charges made by Mr. McCarty in a speech at Mechanic Falls Tuesday evening, in which it is claimed he charged that Treasurer Millett had altered his records by adding a number "666" to the entry of the payment of $50 by Sheriff Hastings on July 8, 1908, or account of a time in a liquor case.

The republicans have charged that although the fine in this case was $105.30, the treasurer's records only showed that $55.20 had been paid on account of it, and that on Oct. 7, 1908, Mr. Millett wrote a letter to the press, stating that the whole amount had been paid to him and invited anyone interested to call at his office and see for himself.

Mr. McCarty accepted the invitation

This being the case, Archbishop O'Connor urged the Catholic societies of Boston and the immediate vicinity to make this Columbus day a memorable one, by having a great parade, with the result that the members of the Knights of Columbus, the A. ## Are Having Very Interesting Campaigns

In California, Tennessee and Georgia the voters have most interesting campaigns scheduled for this fall, and the eyes of many people will be turned on the battles. In Georgia the democrats have named a former governor and one time secretary of the interior, Hoke Smith. While he was governor, he dismissed Joseph M. Brown from the railroad commission on the ground that Brown was dominated by railroad interests, and when

CAPT. BEN HOOPER

Mr. Smith sought another term he was defeated by Brown. This time both were again candidates, and Smith "came back" by defeating Brown. In California the democrats have nominated Theodore A. Bell, former representative in congress, to oppose Hiram Johnson, an avowed insurgent candidate of the republicans and in Tennessee the fight is made interesting by the candidacy of Captain Ben W. Hooper, who is opposed to "almost everything that Governor Patterson has advocated during his incumbency. Independent state wide prohibitionists who have fought Governor Patterson are expected to support the ticket headed by Captain Hooper instead of the regular democratic nominees.

The charges and suits came as a climax to the hottest local campaign ever waged in this county.

race is scheduled to start at 11 o'clock and there will be music during the race; are lights will flash out plenty of light, so that all may catch glimpses of the runners as they flash by. Extra cars will be run from all points before and after the race.

Most of the runners are well-known in Lowell as their past performances entitle them to a great deal of credit and consideration at the hands of the public. The sketches of the men follow:

Al Raines, considered the most stylish runner of them all. Has many marathons to his credit; among them the invitation race held at Brooklyn, N. Y., last year.

Bill Prouty has been known best as Pat Dineen's running mate in all his big team races. A most consistent plunger and good money getter.

J. Loden, remembered by his great victory over John Caffery at Boston 1902, when the latter was in his prime. Harry Prime, a sterling runner of note, and one who is likely to surprise the field.

Ernest Berrio, the diminutive French Canadian of whom not much is known as a marathon runner. Has shown good quality as a middle distance runner.

Matt Maloney, whose greatest claim to championship honor was when he ran from Rye into New York city, supposed to be full distance, in 2 hours 36 minutes. He has victories over Crowley and other good men as an amateur and has done fair work as a professional.

Bill Davis, a full-blooded Indian descended from one of the noblest tribes of red men. Mr. Davis is one of the most intelligent of his race, but has characteristics peculiar to Indians. He is the man who first brought out Tom Longboat, and is first remembered by New Englanders when he forced John Caffery to make a new record over the B. A. A. course to beat him. His victories number hundreds and his last appearance here was when he won the marathon at Revere beach in July of last year.

Ted Crooks gained first prominence as a marathoner when he finished third in the great $10,000 derby at New York. Mr. Crooks showed wonderful gameness in this race; not being considered as a prize winner he stuck doggedly to his task, and though the 35,000 people expected to see him drop out every instant, the stocky former short distance champion stuck to finish and received a large slice of the big money. His last appearance was at Rocky Point, R. I., July 22, when he won the big marathon there on Sunday afternoon.

John Swanberg was amateur marathon champion of Europe for three years. He finished second in the Olympic marathon at Athens in 1906, and third at London in 1908. His first professional marathon was the $10,000 derby at New York in 1909, when he finished second. Since then he has won every marathon he has competed in.

Fat Dineen, considered the world's most consistent performer. He has run more races than any other man now appearing before the public. He was a champion six day runner. Last year with Prouty as his team mate in Madison square garden he made a new world's record for the first 12 hours of a 6 day race. As a marathon runner he has victories over Dorando, Hayes, Lee Morrissey, Crowley and others. He is best remembered in this district by finishing second to the renowned Havis Holmer at Lowell last labor day.

Umberto Biasi, an Italian runner of note competing with great success throughout the country, on the strength of his beating the great Dorando in the presence of the king and queen of Italy at Rome last year.

F. Panzerl, another Italian, little less known than his mate, Biasi. He has never finished inside the money.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The law that forbids suicide should be applied to prevent the double parachute jump.

The opposition to the Lee statue and to the playing of Dixie should be regarded as a sort of hysteria indulged by very nervous people with little or no justification. It does no harm to let the people of the south show a proper respect for their heroes and for their provincial airs.

Some young man can do a whole lot of good and incidentally get himself elected to the legislature by taking up the movement for the proper regulation of the sale of firearms. A law for that purpose would lessen the number of murders and suicides.

THE HIBERNIAN PARADE

The state parade of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held in this city yesterday was in every respect a creditable demonstration of the strength and character of the order.

The parade was undoubtedly one of the largest and best ever seen on the streets of Lowell. It demonstrated in a striking manner what a vast amount of good the Ancient Order of Hibernians is capable of doing for any cause to which its efforts are directed. The arrangements for the parade like the business of the convention were carried out with a spirit of harmony that was highly gratifying to all concerned.

The delegates came here to do business, and they transacted their business in a manner that would do credit to any organization in existence. The order throughout the state is to be congratulated upon the success of yesterday's demonstration.

TO BRING THE PEOPLE TO THE PARKS

In the supervision of our public playgrounds of which we have had a good illustration on the North and South commons this year, the people of Lowell have had an object lesson in the possibility of making our parks far more beneficial to the whole people.

We want parks so interesting that the multitudes will go there. We have started this summer to make this condition a permanent reality.

We have not yet succeeded in attracting the attention of all the people, but if we continue on the same lines as we have started, we shall eventually succeed. It takes considerable time to get the whole people educated to a new idea or a new habit. By repetition alone can this be done and therefore it is the best policy to keep on increasing the utilities of our public parks until all the people get the habit of going there daily for amusement and recreation.

How is this to be done? Simply by providing something in our public parks to benefit, interest and amuse every class of people in our city. We must have attractions for the children. It is not from any mere fond or to satisfy curiosity that metropolitan cities establish zoos. That is done to draw the people to the parks. Such attractions appeal to people of all ages, but especially to children.

The public playground is maintained for a like purpose, although it has the additional advantage of affording a means of healthy exercise and physical development.

For the benefit of mothers and children there should be a shelter to which they can repair for shade or protection from rain. Such shelters are a necessity and in well equipped park systems the shelter has public sanitaries so arranged as to be convenient without any of the objectionable features too often found in connection with such utilities in the past. In addition we find in many of the shelters so provided in public parks a system of shower baths available to the people during the summer season. All these developments of the park system may come gradually, but it is well to look forward to them as realities of the future.

The public swimming pool is another of the requisites to a complete system of public parks. That, too, will soon be available here in Lowell. We shall have one in the new Shedd park and playground and we must have more of them. In fine everyone of our public parks is capable of development for the public benefit far beyond anything here attempted thus far.

The city of Lowell may well begin to assume a leading position in regard to her park system since receiving from Mr. Shedd the magnificent gift of natural park land worth $50,000. We shall have to undertake the responsibility of making that park more beneficial to the public than it would be in its present state. It is capable of vast development with slight expense. It is rich in Nature's wealth of sylvan splendor, the beauty of gently sweeping hill and dale, with brook and meadow, field and glade. Parts of it can be easily flooded and turned into an ice field in the winter and thus afford a place on which the young people can skate without the risk of being drowned. Mr. Shedd is so deeply interested in the development of this park, that if it is taken up in the right spirit by the city, he may do even more than he has yet intimated.

That park should not be left solely for the enjoyment of future generations. Let some of its great possibilities be made available to the people of the present day. That, we are sure, is Mr. Shedd's desire and it is but reasonable and right.

In appealing for a system that will make our parks more attractive and cause them to be visited by ten times as many people as at present, we do not suggest any great expenditure, or any radical departure from the present policy. We simply call attention to a fact that is not generally realized, to wit, that a few additional attractions in the line of public utilities, not necessarily very expensive, would draw the people out in the mass to enjoy the fresh air, the recreation and healthful exercise so much needed by vast numbers of our people. To accomplish this at moderate expense and at the earliest possible moment should be the aim of our park commission.

LOSS IS $100,000

Box Shop at Basin Mills, Me., Burned

ORONO, Me., Aug. 25.—After having been in operation 80 years or more, the saw and box factory of James Walker & Co. at Basin Mills, a part of this town, were totally destroyed by fire late yesterday. The loss is estimated at $100,000 and it is fairly well covered by insurance.

The mill, which probably was the largest of its kind in the state, was deserted except by the watchman. When the fire broke out about 3.30 o'clock, most of the 250 employees and their families were in Bangor at the annual eastern Maine fair. It had been closed for the day that they might go.

Just how the blaze started never will be known as the entire plant was burned to the ground. The watchman cannot explain it. He says he passed through the mill less than three minutes before the flames were discovered and everything appeared as usual. There were practically no means of fighting the fire, although the Bangor fire department sent an engine and company as a protection to surrounding property and the flames simply consumed the buildings, which were of wooden construction.

AT CANOBIE LAKE

Manager J. W. Gorman has again outdone himself in the vaudeville show that he has provided for the theatre at Canobie lake the present week. The show is a very well balanced one and runs from start to finish with a snap and vigor that caused rounds of applause from the audiences that comfortably filled the theatre at both performances yesterday.

McNish and McNish appear to lead in the fun-making with an original grotesque comedy sketch in which the original Frank J. McNish appears to advantage. He is to be remembered for his recently acquired fame with "Silence and Fun." He and Utter show a decidedly new and novel number of dances of the wooden shoe variety and also grotesque soft shoe dancing. Leo and Chapman, comedy novelty entertainers, were very amusing in their fun on the horizontal bars. Mr. Leo's donkey antics being especially funny. The act presented by Berry and Berry was received very favorably and was full of bright comedy situations and some clever songs. Zarnody, a wonderful juggler, caused many expressions of amazement at the ease with which he manipulated fire-arms.

The show all through is a decidedly good one and should attract large crowds to this sylvan retreat. The attendance at Canobie Lake Park has been exceptionally large all this summer.

WASHING THE HAIR

There Is a Right as Well as a Wrong Way to Do It.

The important thing to observe in washing the hair is to avoid using a soap or shampoo containing an excess of alkali. You must have some knowledge of chemistry before you can tell the difference between good soap and harmful soap. The safest plan is to wash your hair and scalp with Birt's Head Wash, which is broadly guaranteed to be neutral and to have no free alkali in it. Moreover, it is mildly medicated with glycerine, salicylic acid, white of eggs and coconut oil. Every one of these things are helpful to the scalp and hair, and by using Birt's Head Wash frequently, the loss of hair is stopped, dandruff disappears and itching ceases. All dirt, dust and disease germs are cleared away, the pores leading to the hair roots are opened up, and renewed life and vigor given to the hair. Try Birt's Head Wash and experience the supreme delight of a perfectly clean scalp.

REPORTED DROWNED

Police Await Body of Schultz Who Was Out On Bail

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—All day yesterday the police and Dist. Atty. Pelletier's assistants looked for arrival of the body of Oscar Schultz, of 95 Homeway street, Back Bay, who, it was reported, was drowned in Rangely lake, Maine.

Schultz with others was arrested in June charged with stealing from the Walworth manufacturing company. Schultz was released on $2500 bonds furnished by his mother, who lives at 64 Lexington street, West Everett, and by a Boston attorney. His case has not yet been called for trial.

One other prisoner in the case, Edward L. Strong, was released on bail in a small amount, and when his case was called in the lower court he was defaulted. There are now indictments against Strong in twenty counts of larceny and of receiving stolen property.

Schultz was reported to be in the habit of carrying several hundred dollars in his pockets.

When the case of Schultz was continued he left Boston for the Rangelys on a vacation. A report reached this city Aug. 13 that Schultz had been drowned by the overturning of a boat on the lake. The police and the district attorney's office did not seek to verify Schultz's death. Nothing official was heard from his bondsmen and the matter was permitted to rest.

Some days later another report that Schultz was drowned while out in a launch with a New Jersey life saver and his wife reached this city.

A private detective named Sherman, who happened to be near Rangely lake on a vacation trip, made an investigation. He found that Schultz had been visiting in the vicinity, but he was unable to ascertain anything tangible concerning his death.

Subsequently a man called on the authorities and offered for $500 to lead detectives to the place where he said Schultz is alive and well and living comfortably. A bulletin was posted in the vicinity of Rangely lake announcing a reward of $50 for the recovery of the body of Schultz. The bulletin was unsigned.

The fact that the Maine authorities did not investigate the reported drowning of Schultz appeared significant to the Boston police.

Mrs. Schultz was in Boston at the time it was reported her husband had been drowned.

It is not the business of the police here to interest themselves in the report of the death of Schultz, as he was permitted while on bail to go where he pleased until required to be present in court for arraignment and trial.

Yesterday a report reached this city that the body of Schultz had been recovered and was being brought to the home of his mother at 64 Lexington street, Everett.

Atty. J. M. Levenson, counsel for Schultz, said last evening that the body of Schultz had been recovered at the Rangely Spring lake house at Rangely and that it will be brought to Everett for burial. He said Mrs. Schultz left Boston last night for Rangely to take charge of the body.

When the body arrives it is expected Dist. Atty. Pelletier will ask Inspectors Rooney and McCauley, the arresting officers in the case, to view the remains and certify that the body is that of Schultz.

change in political control in Maine would surprise democrats who know conditions as much as it would republicans. The situation, however, is one that will call forth the most active campaign that the Pine Tree state has seen for many years, and a fine line of spellbinders is on the card. Among the names are those of Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Borah of Idaho, and Representative McCall.

President Roosevelt is being urged to come, but he has not yet consented. The democrats also have many good speakers engaged.

TALKED TOO MUCH
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Because her husband talked too much, as she put it, Mrs. Martin Coon sliced off his right ear yesterday with a razor.

"Yes, I cut off his ear and I'm glad of it," said the woman, when arrested. "He talked too much and that annoyed me."

Coon, who is a marine engineer, was taken to a hospital, weak from loss of blood. His wife was held in $4500 bail. She is 50 years old.

THE HARVESTER NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN

Driven by Geers Made a Mile in 2:03 Yesterday

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The grand circuit racing yesterday afternoon was interesting from a New England point of view, because it furnished some idea of what may be expected when the crack harness horses of the country get to Readville next week.

Geers, to sharpen his prize pupil, The Harvester, up for his effort against the watch over Boston's famous two-minute track sent the stallion king a mile in 2:03. This was in the second heat of the free-for-all trot and over a track which is fully a second slower than the best of the big line courses, with an additional handicap of a stiff breeze which swept the hillside oval with much force.

The Harvester was not out record hunting. It was just a nice workout with a piece of it at a two-minute clip. To show the sort of trotter the son of Walnut Hall is right now, Geers moved him the third quarter, the slowest in the track and the one where the wind caught him fair in the face, in 30 seconds.

Three candidates for first money in the $10,000 Massachusetts purse at Readville appeared in the 2:13 trot and with the Indiana peacock, Gamar, they provided a contest that brought the crowd to its feet.

Hailworthy got away with the decision in two rounds, but he had in show that he is not far from a 2:05 trotter and one who likes the racing game.

Billy Burke and Maj. Strong let Gamar snatch second money, but the pony had a bit of luck, or Burke would have landed it and very likely have headed the summary. Benyon had the great 4-year-old in a pocket both heats and in the first had to pull him off his stride to keep from trotting over Hailworthy, when in the second he could not get out soon enough to use his terrific brush to advantage.

The first mile was in 2:08, which was counted a capital performance, but the second in 2:08½, was a screamer with the four contending horses lapped. Billy Burke had to be satisfied with a division of third and fourth money, but last night the Orange county admirers were around trying to place a lot of money that he wins at Readville next week.

Willy, the European stallion, had no difficulty in winning the second division of the qualifying contest in the wagon race for amateur drivers away from Direct Tone in slow time.

The Harvester and Jack Leyburn loaded the first heat of the free-for-all in 2:08½, with the chestnut gelding from Philadelphia some little distance back the next trip in 2:03, which is the fastest second heat ever trotted by a stallion. The summary:

LIVELY GOING FOR PLACE
BANGOR, Me., Aug. 25.—The favorites won in all three races at the Eastern Maine fair yesterday, and interest centered in the exciting drives for second and third positions, which marked the finishes in nearly every heat.

The 2:18 trot or 2:20 pace was easily taken by Dimple K, entered and driven by G. W. Gerow of Fort Fairfield. She was sent to a new mark of 2:18½ and won every heat handily.

Cabel, the entry of the Pine Tree stables of Lewiston, who took the green-horse race Tuesday, was an easy winner in the class for horses without records, after he dropped the first heat. In the second heat Hayden drove him entirely around the field from a rear position, but the next two heats were won in a fog.

There were 12 starters in the 2:24 pace, but American Chimes, entered and driven by J. H. Johnson of Portland, kept clear of the bunch and was never threatened.

There were some hard drives for place, making the race the most interesting of the day.

There were no accidents, and the starts were good excepting some trouble in getting off the big field in the 2:24 pace. The summary:

By A. O. H. Convention and the Ladies' Auxiliary At Last Night's Session

MEN'S CONVENTION

LADIES' AUXILIARY, A. O. H.

The New Board

President—John H. Dillon, Boston.
Vice President—William I. McLaughlin, Worcester.
Secretary—John E. Sullivan, Fall River. (Re-elected).
Treasurer—John J. O'Connor, Holyoke.

The closing session of the A. O. H. convention was held this morning with a large attendance of delegates though many left the city immediately after the election of officers last evening.

The election of officers was formally announced this morning. President-elect Dillon and State Treasurer John H. O'Connor then addressed the convention after which remarks were made by the other state officers, Prof. Hugh Mallory of the State Normal school, Rev. John J. McHugh, acting pastor of St. Patrick's church and Rev. James J. Chittick of Hyde Park, Norfolk county chaplain.

The following resolutions were read and adopted:

The Resolutions
The committee on resolutions made its report, which was accepted by the convention. It was in part as follows:

Resolved, That the convention urge the national officers to use every effort to effect a peace conference between the representatives of the various Irish societies, the aims and objects of which are distinctly racial and national. It is understood that we are opposed to the interference with the policies and principles of any organization. We favor leaving such societies to follow their own adopted policies and to follow in the field of Irish progress.

Resolved, That we indorse the recommendation of the state president relative to the affiliation of this order with the American federation of Catholic societies and urge the state and division officers to take immediate action toward that end.

We indorse the recommendation for the making of St. Patrick's day, March 17, a legal holiday in this state and urge the divisions and membership of the order to participate in the public celebration of the new legal holiday, Columbus day, Oct. 12.

Resolved, That a monument be erected to the cemetery at Cohasset to mark the last resting place of 39 Irish emigrants whose bodies were washed ashore from the wreck of the British brig St. John, which sailed from Galway, Ire., in 1849, and was wrecked off Cohasset Oct. 9 of that year.

State officers were instructed to investigate and report as to the monument plan and also to consider the advisability of recommending a 10 per cent. capita assessment for the purpose.

To Stop Emigration

The committee also presented resolutions as to finding employment for people in Ireland to stop emigration and to promote interest in the revival of the Gaelic language and literature. The thanks of the convention were voted to Dr. Douglas Hyde for his efforts in that direction. Other resolutions related to the teaching of Irish history in the schools and of loyalty to Ireland and home rule.

New Officials

President—Mary A. Cavanaugh, Boston.
Vice-President—Mary A. O'Reilly, Ware.
Secretary—Susan McNamara, Somerville.

Treasurer—Ellen Murphy, Boston.

The delegates assembled at Mathew hall about 8:30 o'clock this morning and the greater part of the forenoon was taken up by addresses by the lady officers of the auxiliary and officers of the A. O. H. The mistress-at-arms and sentinel were elected and a reception was tendered Mrs. Katherine Burke, the retiring president.

The first business of the convention was the reading and acceptance of the minutes of the previous meeting by the secretary.

John H. Dillon, the newly elected president of the A. O. H., was introduced and addressed the ladies. He encouraged the ladies to spread the work of the auxiliary as much as possible and spoke of the loyalty of the Irish to the cause in this country. He also spoke of the part that the Irishmen had taken in the wars in which the United States had participated in this country who were loyal to their mother land and were loyal to this country.

Edward McCarthy, of Westfield, the retiring state treasurer of the A. O. H., congratulated the members of the auxiliary on the work which they had done and after offering good advice and words of encouragement said that he was retiring from office with the best wishes and success for the men and women of the A. O. H. and the auxiliary.

Brother John Crotty spoke on the insurance for the men and women. He asked the delegates to branch the subject of organizing committees to their respective auxiliaries when they returned to their homes and later communicate with him.

Delegates Overcome By the Heat

The extra long session of to#### day and the poor ventilation in the hall resulted in a number of the delegates being overcome by the heat. They had to be carried out of the hall and in one instance, medical aid was summoned. Several attempts to pass a motion to take a recess at noon were made but defeated and while a number of the delegates left the hall in order to get fresh air and food, the majority remained in their seats, several having to be carried out of the hall after they had fainted away.

Last night a delegate, said to belong in Ashland, had a narrow escape from being seriously injured. She was standing at the top of the stairway when she was overcome by the heat and dropping in a faint rolled down the flight of stairs. Fortunately she did not fall head foremost and escaped with a few bruises. She was unconscious during the time she was rolling down the stairs.

Last Night's Session

Mrs. Mary A. Cavanaugh, of East Boston, state secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H., was elected state president for the ensuing two years at a meeting of the delegates held early last night in Mathew hall in Dutton street. The other state officers were also elected. Several of the elections were well contested but harmony reigned throughout the battle of dynothe ball.

Mrs. Katherine O'Keefe O'Mahoney, of Lawrence, was Mrs. Cavanaugh's opponent and each candidate had 348 loyal supporters, but Mrs. Cavanaugh had a sympathetic vote on her side which assured her victory. At the last moment Mrs. O'Mahoney withdrew her name in favor of Mrs. Cavanaugh and the latter received a unanimous vote.

For the office of vice-president, Miss Mary A. O'Reilly of Ware was elected, winning out against Mrs. Martin Silk of Worcester county.

Mrs. Susan McNamara of Somerville was unanimously elected secretary, there being no other nominations.

For treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Hennessy of Weymouth and Mrs. Ellen Murphy of South Boston were nominated. Mrs. Murphy received a majority of votes and was elected.

At the banquet last night Chief Marshal O'Sullivan took occasion to compliment and thank Chief Aide Charles L. Marren for the work he did and the interest he displayed in arranging the details of the parade. Mr. Marren gave generously of his time and attended to many matters connected with the demonstration.

The Knights of Columbus kept their rooms open for the paraders and visiting delegates yesterday. Secretary Breen treated them to a fine concert played on the grand organ.

One of the most unique decorative displays in the city was the one that adorned the front of the office of Constable John McNamara in the Howe building. The grand framed testimonial that was presented to Mr. McNamara by those who appreciated his work in behalf of the children of Lowell when he arranged outings for them is placed in one of the windows of the office. It contains a picture of Mr. McNamara and at night is illuminated by thirty electric bulbs. Included in the decoration are pennants bidding welcome to his visiting Hibernian brothers. The display brought most favorable comment from the visiting as well as the local members of the order.

DIAMOND NOTES

The double umpire system is the thing.

Jake Morse's schedule calls for a game between Lowell and Lynn at Spalding park Saturday, and as a special attraction the North and South Commons will clash again through the Lowell Americans and the Sanctuary Choir, whose last game wound up in a fight. The first game will be called at 1:30.

Anderson, the clever little shortstop of the Haverhill team, broke up a squeeze play by the slickest kind of fielding.

Jake Boules has developed into a first class third baseman.

Riley was hit over the heart while in practice yesterday. He took the count but in a few minutes came about all right.

Billy McCusky of Panama has signed with Lowell and should anything happen to Sullivan while Huston is out of the game McCusky will do the catching. He caught for the Cristobal team with Jimmie Magee and Fluharty and holds a responsible government position. He is a native of Waverly, Mass., and is a member of Panama County, Knights of Columbus.

In honor of the day all players wore green decorations. The first ball pitched was a green one and Hagan struck at it with a green bat. There were two Hibernians in the lineup—both catchers, Sullivan of Lowell and Boyle of Haverhill. Boyle has it over them all as an Irishman as he can talk Gaelic and likewise Pennsylvania Dutch, already yet.

Tom Bannon became ill during the game and put himself out of the game, Jackie taking his place.

We're still on the verge of the first division.

106 MEN MISSING

The Bodies of 22 Settlers Have Been Found

SPOKANE, Aug. 25.—The mystery of the bodies that are being found in the St. Joe cemetery of Idaho probably will be cleared up today when the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound road runs its first passenger train to Avery. One hundred and six men, living in the St. Joe valley, are missing. Twenty-two bodies, supposed to be of settlers, were found yesterday. Several days ago 20 bodies were found scattered over an area of over a mile and it was assumed they were forest employees. Supervisor Weigl including them in his list of dead employees. Last night, however, he declared they were not rangers. Add the number of dead rangers, 74, the 41 bodies found near Avery, the Japanese who perished near Avery, and the various known dead in Washington, Idaho and Montana, and the total is 142. This is without taking into account the 183 rangers imprisoned on the head waters of the St. Joe. The appalling loss of life among the forest employees has taken the heart out of the surviving foresters, and an order has been issued not to risk life to save timber. The little fires are being extinguished, but the great fires, to fight which might result in more loss of life, will be allowed to burn themselves out or until the rains extinguish them.

In the Coeur d'Alene mining country the fires have exhausted their fuel as they have done in the Pend Oreille valley. In the Clearwater country and the thickest timber of the Coeur d'Alene national forest, however, the flames are active as ever. No lumberman or forester will give an estimate of the timber losses. It is believed, however, that the present fires are the most expensive the United States has ever known. An expert railroad builder estimates the loss of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railroad at $2,500,000. The Spokane chamber of commerce has begun the raising of a large relief fund. There are 180 men surrounded in the mountains between Lolo pass and St. Mary's and Major Penn has sent three guides to pilot them out.

Conditions in the Clearwater reserve are hopeless, and Major Penn has received instructions from the forestry headquarters at Missoula to recall all the fire fighters from the interior of the stricken region and set to work on the outskirts of the fire zone. The message said: "Save the lives of the men and let the timber burn."

TWO LIVES LOST

Excursion Boat Ran Down a Launch

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Two lives were lost early today when the excursion boat Majestic, returning to Newark, N. J., from Coney Island, ran down and sank a launch containing a party of merry-makers in Newark bay. The work of rescue was made difficult by the fast running tide and darkness. Mary Kops and David Sines were drowned.

SQUATTERS TO GO HAVE BEEN ORDERED TO LEAVE STATE LANDS

ALBANY, Aug. 25.—Adirondack squatters, rich and poor alike, are to be bodily evicted from state land this fall and their camps and dwellings torn down. State Forest, Fish and Game Commissioner James S. Whipple said yesterday during the inquiry into Adirondack land affairs by commissioners appointed by Gov. Hughes. Chief Counsel John K. Ward of Mr. Whipple's department was on the stand all day. He stated that the main object of the department was to protect forests and that the poor squatters had not been put off for the reason that the rich camp squatters could fight the state and state officials for years, as the attorneys' fees would not amount to any more than camp rental. He declared that some of the squatters had been there legally before the constitutional amendment of 1895, and had no other place to go. A number of them had threatened that if they were put off they would set fire to the forests.

It was pointed out that Joseph Ladd and David C. Ball of New York city and Forest Inman of Amsterdam were among the squatters on Rackett lake and that Col. W. D. Mann of Town Topics was one of the squatters on a Lake George island.

"You should know," said Commissioner Whipple, "that the representatives of the associations formed to protect the forests have agreed that the constitution should be amended to permit the state to lease camp sites would permit leases to existing squatters under proper restrictions."

Military Per Capita Tax

The last business of the session was the installation of the newly elected officers by State Chaplain Philip J. O'Donnell after which the convention adjourned sine die.

Yesterday Afternoon's Meeting

After the parade yesterday afternoon the delegates to the A. O. H. convention met for the purpose of electing officers. The meeting was held in the Aspic hall and was called to order by State President John J. Rogers. There were over 800 delegates in attendance. There was a big fight on for the offices of state president and state vice president and it was well

HIBERNIAN NOTES

Hose 7, Central street, was the only fire house to decorate and the entire front of the building was neatly adorned. The doors were thrown wide open as the parade passed and the entire company dressed in uniform and armed with huge clappers greeted the paraders as they marched by.

There was some class to that Eighth Regiment Drum and Pipe corps from Lawrence. They could play in a manner that would make any old marcher keep step. They were a husky lot of men and they all had their sleeves rolled up as though they liked their work. Among the drummers was Supt. of Buildings Percy Hennessey of Lawrence, who in his younger days was a dandy scrapper and went two 12 round draws with Martin Flaherty of this city.

JOHN H. DILLON, Boston, Chosen State President.

JOHN J. O'CONNOR, of Holyoke, State Treasurer.

after 8 o'clock before the meeting adjourned.

The first business of the meeting was the reading of the reports of the state secretary and treasurer for the past term.

The report of Secretary Jeffrey E. Sullivan of Fall River was read first, and that of Treasurer Edward J. McCarthy of Westfield immediately followed. Both showed the state divisions to be in flourishing condition both as to finances and membership. The reports were unanimously accepted by the convention, and rising votes of thanks were given to the secretary and treasurer. The report of the latter showed the total expenditure for the past term to be $18,491.54 and the balance on hand as $868.98.

Present as special guests of the convention were Matthew Cummings of Boston, ex-national president; Right Rev. Mr. Arthur J. Teeling of Lynn, and National Vice President Joseph McLaughlin of Philadelphia.

Then came the election of officers. Vice president and secretary were elected by unanimous acclamation. William I. McLaughlin of Worcester was chosen for the first office, having been nominated without competition the evening previous.

For the office of secretary, Jeffrey E. Sullivan of Fall River was re-elected. There was a deal of balloting for state president and the last analysis showed that John H. Dillon of Boston had been elected by the majority of 90 votes.

The defeated candidate was John F. Donnelly of Cambridge, president of the Middlesex county divisions. Mr. Dillon has been state vice president during the past term.

In the race for the office of state treasurer were J. J. O'Connor of Holyoke and Edward Long of Randolph. This office was also warmly contested for by the two opposing factions. J. J. O'Connor was elected by a small number of votes. Mr. O'Connor is the superintendent of poor relief in Holyoke and is president of the divisions of Hampden county.

The voting was by the Australian ballot system, a committee of nine to count the returns being appointed by President Rogers and the candidates. F. J. Horikawa was the chairman of this committee.

Capt. John H. Dillon of Roxbury was elected state president at yesterday afternoon's session of the biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Aspic hall, and John H. O'Connor of Holyoke, president of the Hampden county, chosen state treasurer. Capt. Dillon defeated John F. Donnelly of Cambridge, president of commanded by Capt. Patrick Fitzgerald. The men preserved a grand alignment throughout the entire parade and won the plaudits of those gathered to witness the demonstration. The company presented full ranks and appeared in dress uniform. General Sullivan of the New Hampshire national guard who was one of the judges of the parade, said that the Wolf Tones are one of the finest military appearing bodies of the finest military appearing bodies of men he has ever reviewed. Had it not been for the fact that the competition for trophies was limited to Hibernian organizations, undoubtedly the Wolf Tones would have carried off the prize.

The reviewing stand that accommodated more than 1000 sightseers during the parade yesterday was taken down, this forenoon and Worthen street, in front of city hall, is again open to travel.

B. J. Dunn of Dunstable was the proudest man in Lowell when he was informed that the judges had ordered a ribbon for his beautiful stallion "Success" as the handsomest horse in line. The animal's mane was covered with ribbons and medals secured at the different county fairs of the past few years.

The Central council was fortunate in having for its secretary a hustler like Daniel E. Hogan, the well known insurance and real estate dealer. For weeks past Mr. Hogan has given his entire time to the plans of the Hibernian week and he worked indefatigably with complete success. Mr. Hogan is a native of Lowell and a graduate of the Mann and High schools. For several years he was employed at the library and as an evening school teacher and for a time was bookkeeper for Farrell &amp; Conaton. At present he is a member of the well known firm of Collins &amp; Hogan. Mr. Hogan is a member of Division 1 of this city. He is married and resides at 33 Fort Hill avenue.

Nearly a week ago Patrick Connolly president of Div. 11 and treasurer of the Central council predicted that Division 11 would get the prize for turning out the largest number of men. He knew whereof he spoke, for that division won the prize for numbers. It was a great card for the division and its president.

All the stores in Little Canada were closed yesterday afternoon in order that the employees and the owners enjoy the parade, and general celebration. The closing of yesterday will not at all interfere with the regular Thursday half holiday.

A big feature of yesterday's parade was the grand showing made by the O. M. I. Cadets. The boys turned out 325 strong, and all along the route were cheered by the thousands of spectators. Headed by Col. Haggerty and his staff, all mounted, they presented the largest number of any organization in line. Included in their numbers were a cavalry, field band, infantrymen, artillery force and ambulance corps. All over the city and especially in Belvidere the cadets were given a hearty reception, and despite the fact that the route was rather a lengthy one the young soldiers held out well and were among the freshest in line when the parade swung into Central street for the final stretch of the march. Passing Humphrey O'Sullivan, chief marshal of the parade, when he reviewed the marchers, the cadets gave the regular military salute, and after the review Mr. O'Sullivan expressed himself as extremely pleased at their appearance and said that there were thousands of them. Instead of hundreds, of cadets in Lowell, Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston also spoke in complimentary terms of the appearance of the boys, and said they reflected great credit on their instructors. Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., accompanied the boys over the entire route of parade, and at the conclusion addressed them at their armory in immaculate conception hall and congratulated them on the work of the day. Tomorrow night the boys will meet at 7:30 o'clock to make arrangements for the next sham battle and also to transact considerable other business of importance.

Ovation to Mayor Fitzgerald

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston was surely a "feature" in the parade, for he received a reception from one end of the line to the other. When the parade was dismissed at Tower's corner an immense throng surrounded him and demanded a speech. He smilingly declined to speak, whereupon the crowd yelled at him to sing "Sweet Adeline." Immediately the crowd started singing the mayor's pet song and removing his tail hat his honor joined in the chorus.

GRANITEVILLE

Saturday, August 27th, will certainly be a big day in this town, for on that day the firemen's field day will be held, and there are all kinds of sports and good things promised for the entertainment of the general public.

The program will commence with the horse races at 2 p.m., during which the following companies will compete for the silver trophy: Edward M. Abbott hose No. 2 of Westford; A. R. Choate hose No. 2 of Graniteville; and the John Edwards hose No. 3 of Forge Village. After the horse contest a fine list of sports will be run off including the matched one mile race between York of Graniteville and Elliott of Forge Village. All of the events will be run off on the main street and be free for everybody. The entries are limited to residents of Westford. After the sports have been run off a banquet will be held in Healy's hall for the firemen and invited guests. The banquet will be followed by a social dance in the same hall with music by the Colonial orchestra of Lowell. Weather permitting, it will surely be the greatest day of the year, and as the whole affair is in the nature of an "Old Home Day" many of out-of-town people and former residents are expected to attend.

Owing to necessary repairs to be made at the plant the mills of the Abbott Worsted Co. here will be closed from Aug. 27th to Sept. 6th. This will not in any way affect the mill at Forge Village.

W. R. Taylor, the well known tennis player, has recently returned from a very enjoyable vacation spent at York beach.

Miss Eva Monroe Lawton of Lake Shore farm, North Westford, has gone for a few weeks' vacation as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walte of Methuen, R. I. After visiting friends in Providence and Newport she will return to her home in the early fall.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Next spring, or at the end of the current theatrical season, the Wagenhals &amp; Kemper Co., if so minded, can give out some highly interesting statistics. They will bear upon Eugene Walter's far famed play, "Paid in Full," and they will indicate how near truth is the prediction that this celebrated American drama will steadily grow in favor and outlive in popularity any other on the stage. Such a future is widely prophesied for "Paid in Full," and it seems certain of fulfillment, judging from the figures it produces. These figures show that during its first two years, up to the end of last season, "Paid in Full" made a record eclipsing that of any other play known to the American stage. More than three million persons had paid to see it, which is the unprecedented record for any play in equal time. Five companies appeared in it simultaneously all last season, more than ever before had acted one play, and the same companies are doing it again this season. The profits to the producers up to the close of last season were more than a quarter of a million dollars. So far this season it has verified the opinion that its popularity would increase yearly. At the end of the season it will have piled up a total of performances and patronage and profits that will be the theatrical wonder of the age. And it deserves to do so. It is one of the greatest, most popular and most entertaining plays of the time. You know this if you've seen it, if not, go to Lakeview theatre, any matinee or evening this week, and be convinced. Matinees are given every day at 2.30. Evenings at 8.15, and seats in advance can be secured at Carter &amp; Eberburne's drug store.

Every care has been used that no old picture, no pictures that offend good taste and no tiresome pictures be shown and throughout the state this theatre has a reputation second to none. Its programs have always been equal to those shown in the largest houses in Boston and the expense has never been questioned, only the best being good enough. Every picture shown is first approved by the national censorship board in New York City, then it must pass the official inspection of the expert sent to Boston every day by the Theatre Voyons and even then if there is any doubt as to its suitability it is not shown. Today the feature subject is "Nora Thorn," an adaptation from the famous novel and will be lectured by Herbert LeRoy.

RAND CONCERT

The band concert by the Lowell Military band at city hall, last evening formed another distinct feature of the day and was enjoyed by thousands of people. Conductor William Regan had prepared an excellent program, one fully in accord with the spirit of the day and all of the better known Irish melodies were splendidly played. All of the numbers proved very pleasing to the crowd.

OMAHA WILL INITIATE ROOSEVELT INTO MYSTERIES OF "KNIGHTS OF AK-SAR-BEN"

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 25.—When Col. Roosevelt visits Omaha on Sept. 2 he will be entertained in a manner not mentioned in his itinerary. Several hundred of the loyal citizens of Nebraska have turned the name of their state backward for the purpose of finding a title for a sort of secret society which is known as the "Ak-Sar-Ben." To this society most of the representative men of the Antelope State belong, and each Monday evening they gather in a special auditorium to discuss the civic needs and conditions of the populace. When President Taft was in Omaha the last time he was made a life member of the "Ak-Sar-Ben," and now it is proposed to make the only living ex-president a full fledged member of the society by initiating him according to the ritual of the order. The "Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben" have prepared special oaths for Colonel Roosevelt and arranged scenic and mechanical contrivances for his benefit that are said would frighten the most intrepid hunter, even though not in the wilds of Africa.

CASE IS HEARD A CHILD KILLED

Court Thinks Assault While He Was Chasing a Cigaret Card

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—After a lengthy private hearing before Judge Perkins of the Brookline court yesterday, the case of Mrs. Marie Durt, wife of Capt. W. H. Durt, a paymaster in the U. S. army, who is charged by her former employer, Miss Della Dooley of Jamieson Plain, with assault and battery, was put over until tomorrow.

Miss Dooley, who charges that Mrs. Durt struck her on the shoulder with a chopping knife, causing the blood to flow freely, refused to bare her shoulder when an attorney asked her to. She declared that she had shown her shoulder once previously and she thought that sufficient.

Judge Perkins, at this point, said he had seen the bruise at a previous hearing, and at that time it had nearly healed.

According to the testimony, trouble between Mrs. Durt and Miss Dooley began Saturday evening, Aug. 13, when Capt. and Mrs. Durt left their home to make a call, and asked the servant to sleep upstairs in order to be near their little daughter. When Capt. and Mrs. Durt returned Miss Dooley was sitting up and words between the women followed.

The next morning the servant was discharged. Later she went to the kitchen, Miss Dooley testified. She said Mrs. Durt, after further words, struck her on the shoulder with a chopping knife.

Mrs. Durt testified that Miss Dooley stood in the doorway with the door partly closed when she walked across the room and started to close the door, carrying the knife in her right hand. She placed her left hand on the panel and her right hand, containing the knife, on the key. Mrs. Durt declared, and the servant went out, shaking her hand in a threatening manner.

Mrs. Durt said she did not know whether the door struck the girl or not. Chief Corey of the Brookline police testified that at a previous hearing Miss Dooley complained that her left arm was painful as a result of a blow, but readily opened the door of the clerk's office with her left hand when she wished to leave the room, in spite of the fact that a strong wind was blowing against the door.

In summing up Judge Perkins said some sort of a technical assault was committed, but that he did not think Mrs. Durt intentionally struck the girl. He said he believed Mrs. Durt must have been upset by trouble with this girl and that she forgot she had the knife in her hand when she started to close the door.

Judge Perkins added that Mrs. Durt had a right to order the girl from the house, and that she was justified in using a certain amount of force. He said that he wished to further consult the statutes before rendering a decision.

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN TO SPEAK AMONG INDIANS

UTICA, Aug. 25.—Vice President James S. Sherman is to take the stump for the republican party in the middle west, commencing at Clinton, Ill., Aug. 27. The recent connection of his name with the alleged bribery of Senator Gore has evidently not deterred the vice president from going into the heart of the Indian country as will be seen from his itinerary as announced by the republican congressional committee. He will speak at least four times in Oklahoma, and it is thought likely that he will have something to say about graft charges. He will also speak in the same general territory as Colonel Roosevelt, who is responsible for the most of the latest

MILLS BLOWN UP

One Man Killed and Several Other Persons Injured

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—With a detonation so heavy that windows were broken and houses shaken as far as 20 miles away and residents alarmed, three of the powder mills of the American Powder Mill company in Maynard, near the Acton line, blew last night, killing one man and injuring several others, though not fatally.

The explosion occurred at 10.30 last night, starting, as did most of the many in the past 15 years, in the wheel mill. The first crash was followed at slight intervals by two more heavy explosions as the contents of two other mills standing near blew up. The dead man is Charles Rogers, a night watchman, who lived in Maynard.

James Ray, single, aged 38, was near mill No. 7, and upon hearing the explosion, he jumped into the stream which runs through the plant. He was cut in the face by flying debris as he swam about the pool.

The three mills contain valuable machinery, which handles the powder in the second stage in its manufacture, and the loss is estimated at $20,000.

The three explosions were heard distinctly in Waltham, Watertown and Wellesley. In Acton and Maynard and the towns nearby the residents were for a time greatly alarmed. Windows were broken and dishes thrown from shelves and walls, while the houses shook as if passing through a severe earthquake.

In the houses nearest the powder mill reservation, although it is almost a mile from the nearest dwellings, residents were jarred in their beds, while the houses threatened for a second or two to fall to pieces.

The cause of the accident will probably never be known. So highly explosive are some of the powders manufactured, that the presence of any foreign substance or the slightest jar is enough to set the whole mass off.

The company was founded in 1837, and during its history has experienced many explosions. The most serious was in 1855, when five workmen were killed. The next explosion was in 1903, when early in the morning of June 7 one of the mills, the wheel mill, where the explosion of last night started, caught fire, which communicated with another mill.

No one was injured, although the task of fighting the flames was exceedingly perilous on account of the dangerous explosives in large quantity on every hand.

In 1868 there were three explosions in the month of December, the last, on Dec. 24, resulting in the loss of one life and the destruction of 10,000 pounds of powder, valued at $20,000.

INQUEST SOUGHT ON DEATH THAT OCCURRED IN 1902

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—A petition was filed yesterday with Dist. Atty. Barker of the southeastern district of Massachusetts asking for an inquest on the death of Daniel Murphy, who was found dead in a woodshed on the estate of Eben W. Reed in Brookline, Sunday morning Feb. 23, 1902.

The petition bears the signatures of several residents of Needham who knew Murphy and of a number of Boston lawyers. They are:

Thomas Sutton of Needham, Mrs. Elias Johnson, J. Joseph Warren, Thos. Mulder of Boston, George W. Southward of Needham, Charles H. Sutton, Frederick L. Sutton, George L. Kingsbury, Patrick Goughan, Francis S. Gay, Thos. J. Crossman, Edgar H. Powers, Elias Johnson, George C. Clark, Howard A. Crossman, Chester F. Dowling, Albert M. Miller, H. M. Burton, R. J. Harsany, Albert Garsen and Albert E. Miller.

The petition is said to be a forerunner of suits by the heirs-at-law of Murphy to recover property that it is believed he possessed at the time of death.

Daniel Murphy had lived in Needham and was a professional nurse who had been employed by Eben W. Reed of 1 Reservoir lane, Brookline, up to the time of his death. He was last seen alive several hours before his body was found with the skull fractured.
